C. I. O. President Comes Out Flatly Against Labor Control

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt informed a press conference today that no decision had been reached yet on the issue of national service legislation but he added that the possibility of compulsory registration of women was under consideration.

The Chief Executive said such a registration would not mean that women would be ordered, by compulsion, to go here, there, or the other place to work. It would be aimed, he said, at trying to find out where the available supply of women workers exists and something of their fitness for war industry jobs.

This registration idea, Mr. Roosevelt said, was a major topic of discussion when he met yesterday with the C.I.O.-A.F.L. Labor War Board. The board members talked, he said, of registering women of 18 to 65. Legislation would be required to authorize this canvass of women power.

Probably that would mean, the President said, that the survey could not be made before the end of the year. But, replying to a question, he said he did not think it should be implied that national service legislation necessarily would be delayed also until that time.

He emphasized that there had been no decision whatever on such legislation up to this point, remarking that it still was in the study stage.

Murray Opposes Control

On Capitol Hill today, C.I.O. President Philip Murray voiced "flat opposition" to pending congressional proposals for manpower control and urged that the President speedily convene a "conference committee of the nation" to plan the unification of all federal production, procurement and manpower agencies and resources.

Such a committee, Murray told a senate labor subcommittee on manpower, should include members of congress and representatives of the government, management, labor and agriculture.

Without recognition of the close relationship between manpower and production, Murray declared, "a discussion of a labor freeze or a labor draft is not merely futile nonsense, it is dangerous nonsense."

"If our manpower distribution today is planless and chaotic, a job freeze simply freezes chaos," he said.

Julius Luhrsen, executive secretary of the railway labor executive's association, also opposed compulsory drafting of workers.

Expressing the view that both organized labor and management are opposed to compulsory national service legislation, Luhrsen proposed instead that the President and congress establish "a unified manpower agency, civilian in character, and clean up the present mess which exists in the employment service and in the present operations of the selective service administration."

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference he thought a report dealing with national service legislation would reach him soon from the labor-management committee of the war manpower commission.

Murray and A.F.L. President William Green were among those talking over the manpower problem with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday. They indicated later that no action for compulsory service in war industries would be taken until

Court of Appeals Reaffirms Death Conviction for Industrial Gangster

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—New York's highest court decreed today Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, onetime New York city industrial racketeer, must die in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison for a 1936 slaying he is accused of ordering.

The 45-year-old Lepke, now serving a 44-year-to-life federal sentence for various crimes, was convicted last December in Brooklyn with two henchmen, Emanuel (Mendy) Weiss and Louis Capone, of the murder of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn candy store owner. The state charged Lepke ordered Rosen's death when he feared the storekeeper would turn informant for Thomas E. Dewey, then Manhattan prosecutor investigating the trucking racket.

The Court of Appeals also, by a 4 to 3 vote, affirmed the first degree murder convictions of Weiss and Capone.

Boards of Assessment Review Are Promised

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—"Real estate taxpayers may expect definite action on the establishment of boards of assesment review" at the next legislative session, the president of the State Association of Real Estate Boards believes.

George L. Long bases his prediction on replies received from a questionnaire on real estate problems circulated by the association. sentiment was "virtually unanimous," he said, for a statutory interpretation of "full value" of real estate, and for basing county and municipal tax and debt limits on a five-year average of "corrected" assessment rolls.

Answering the questionnaire, Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., Democratic gubernatorial candidate, endorsed creation of local boards to review real estate assessments.

While his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, did not reply to the questionnaire, last week he attacked Albany county Democrats for what he called a "cynical abuse of the power to tax," accusing them of using the assessment to institute an "Albany poll tax."

Pay Roll Purchase Meeting for Bond Campaign Is Held

Alonzo P. Adams, Deputy Administrator, Declares Treasury Would Increase Buying

A meeting under auspices of representatives of the U. S. Treasury Department, to which leading firms in Ulster county had been invited to send representatives, was held in the ballroom of the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, Thursday afternoon.

Object of the meeting was to promote further participation on the part of Ulster county firms in the Treasury's pay-roll plan for purchase of war bonds, under which deductions or contributions are made regularly for the purchase of bonds by employes.

Alonzo P. Adams of Albany, a deputy administrator for the Treasury Department's war savings staff, in charge of the 21 counties in this district, told the audience that Ulster county had "a fine record," but that the department desired to raise the amount firms and their employes are contributing to the purchase of bonds, to 10 per cent of the total pay roll. He said that some 4,000 volunteer workers were busy in the eastern New York territory promoting the sale of bonds through the pay roll plan and noted the part the women are taking in Ulster county under the leadership of Mrs. Howard A. Lewis.

G. B. Schramm, who with Alex Walker, Jr., from the New York office of the Treasury Department, pay roll savings plan, spoke briefly before presenting a film and talk which went more fully into particulars. He said that the government through this plan hoped to get some idea of the portion of American income which was going into war savings.

It was emphasized that the Treasury plan for regular pay roll deductions for purchase of bonds, rather than the buying of stamps, was desired, inasmuch as in some places it had been found that savings stamps were being redeemed faster than they were being sold, with the result that the aim of the plan was being thwarted. Where the firm keeps the stamp books and sees that ultimately they are exchanged for bonds, that is all right, he said.

Mr. Schramm brought out that general 10 per cent savings would represent something like 12 billions of dollars a year put into war bonds, providing a cushion for the inevitable post-war depression and acting as an anti-inflation move at the present time.

In answer to a question he said that the idea was to get an average contribution of 10 per cent from each plant. Thus those who could invest larger amounts would make up for some who were not in a position to do as much.

He asked that employe committees be organized in each plant and suggested that the film which had been shown be secured and shown in every plant.

Harold Brigham, Ulster county war savings chairman, gave a review of the work he and his committee had done during the past six months. He said that he believed they had contacted about every firm in the county, having contacted 461, with 11,692 employes up to June 30. Of this number he said that 271 had four or more employes and of the 271 certificates of merit for 90 per cent participation had been awarded to about one-third of them.

There has been a grand response to our appeals and a fine response on the part of the business men of the county, said Mr. Brigham.

The following companies were represented at the meeting: Bar-

United Nations Troops Push Deeper Into Axis Line on 35-Mile Front

Squeeze Predicted

Allies May Launch Pincers Movement Against Rommel

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Britain's desert armies were officially reported to have scored new gains in their seven-day-old offensive in Egypt today, and at the same time it was disclosed that American troops have been established in Liberia on the west coast of Africa.

While British and Allied troops lunged deeper into the Axis line on a 35-mile front, U. S. Army fighter pilots alone were reported to have shot down 22 enemy planes in five days with a loss of only two.

Dispatches from the battlefront said German fliers were attempting to escape battle with the American airmen and avoided them altogether yesterday.

Raising the possibility of an Allied "squeeze" against Axis forces in North Africa, U. S. Army troops were said to have been quietly gathering in Liberia since July and have already built two airports.

Liberia, constituted as a republic in 1847 and modelled after the United States, lies on the great bulge of the African continent, between the British colony of Sierra Leone and the French Ivory Coast colony. Its capital, Monrovia, is less than 800 miles airline from Vichy France's key naval base at Dakar.

The size of the American contingent was not revealed but was said to include crack negro troops.

Coincidentally, Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of Vichy's armed forces, returned to Vichy from an inspection of Dakar's defenses and a high French Government official intimated that France stood ready not only to defend her colonies but to "counter-attack."

"To the egoism of England, France must respond by egoism just as complete," said Paul Marion, French secretary of state for information.

"She must above all defend her empire and even aim at a triumphant counterattack."

Germany has long exerted pressure on the Vichy regime to declare war on Britain, obviously hoping to gain the assistance of

Arkansas Tornado Kills 27, Injures 200; Station Collapses

More Than Half of Mountain Town Falls, Including Only Drug Store; Fires Add to Suffering

Berryville, Ark., Oct. 30 (AP).—At least 27 persons were killed and more than 200 injured, many critically, when a tornado leveled more than half of this Ozark Mountain town late last night.

Several of the injured were so badly hurt that physicians advised against transporting to hospitals.

Fires broke out immediately after the tornado, forcing the survivors to drop their rescue operations for a time to prevent spread of the flames through the splintered wreckage.

Approximately 25 persons were trapped and injured in the collapse of the Missouri and Arkansis railroad station. Most of them were waiting to board a northbound train.

Without hospital facilities, the stricken town of 1,485 population had only three physicians to care for the scores of injured.

The only drug store was demolished and most of the drugs and medical supplies were destroyed, making it impossible for the three doctors to do more than give first aid until supplies arrived from nearby towns. Doctors and nurses were sent from Harrison and Eureka Spring and several loads of injured were taken to hospitals in other communities.

A passenger bus came through the stricken town 30 minutes after the disaster. Its passengers alighted or stood up to make room for some of the worst injured being taken to the Harrison Hospital.

The power plant was destroyed, forcing rescue workers to work by torch light, flashlight, lanterns, candles, or even matches.

The telephone system remained in operation through use of an emengency battery system.

An eight-man medical detachment from Camp Robinson was ordered to Berryville, with medical supplies. An appeal for assistance was sent to the Red Cross at Little Rock.

The city hall and court house, two of the few buildings remaining intact in the business district, were converted into emergency hospitals, but in the early hours there was little the workers could do for the sufferers—no medical supplies, no nurses, and only three doctors to care for the scores of injured. Fallen trees and other debris delayed out of town relief crews.

Rea Nelson, undertaker, said 22 bodies had been brought to the funeral parlor in the early morning hours, and he expected there were many more dead buried in the ruins.

Some of the escapes were amazing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fanning were uninjured when the tornado wrecked their bedroom, but the featherbed on which they were sleeping and the comfort which they had over them vanished.

Berryville, one of the oldest communities in the Ozark region, is an important wholesale and jobbing center, servicing the northwest portion of Arkansas, and adjacent areas in Missouri.

The prosperous wholesale houses and canneries, the life source for the community, were virtually all destroyed.

Board to Relieve Property Owners On Andrew Street

Retaining Wall and Gutter Will Be Erected at Lower End of Play Area at M.J.M.

At the meeting of the Board of Education Thursday evening steps were taken to give permanent relief to the property owners on Andrew street where the M.J.M. playground area joins the private properties. A concrete retaining wall and gutter will be erected along the lower end of the playground area to prevent future floods from permitting waste water to flow down over the householders' premises.

A plan was submitted some time ago by the city engineer for the erection of a retaining wall which it is expected will relieve the condition. The board on motion of Trustee Feeney awarded the contract to Thomas J. Kennedy and son and it was stated that the work would be completed this fall before cold weather so that benefits of the job would be had during the winter flood season. The contract was for $1,700. A wall will be erected with a gutter to lead off surface water and the present wire fence will be reerected on top of the wall.

A communication was received from the Kingston College Women's Club thanking the board for the use of the high school auditorium for the Cornelia Otis Skinner recital.

The board also received a communication from the Vocational Division, Albany, submitting a check for $2,000 for reimbursement of the city for money advanced on the National Defense Training program.

Power Boat Lectures

The Kingston Power Boat Association was granted use of a room in the high school for eight lectures to be held on Wednesday evenings beginning November 18 on small boat handling. The course of lectures will be open to men and women and all high school students interested. At the close of the lecture period an examination will be held. Since the request was for use of a room on the regular night school evening and no additional heating of the building will be required the request was granted.

On the conservation of oil in the high school building Superintendent Laidlaw reported that thus far every effort had been made to save oil and the plan had worked out very successfully. In order to conserve oil the fans which bring outside air into the ventilating ducts have not been turned on. When this is done it is necessary to heat the air from outside temperature to 85 degrees in order that it may be discharged into the rooms at a 70 degree temperature. Mr. Laidlaw said fresh air was being admitted by open windows and this plan would be followed as much as possible with the health of the students being considered. By taking advantage of long holiday week-ends through the winter and turning down the heat on Friday afternoons until early Monday morning several thousand gallons of fuel oil would be saved.

Ohio Politicans Say They Cannot Stir Up Any Interest in Campaign

Columbus, O., Oct. 30 (AP)—Unable to divert voters' minds from war to politics, Ohio political leaders and candidates experienced perhaps the most listless campaign in the state's history with prospects of a record low vote being cast next Tuesday.

Official estimates of the probable total vote were 1,750,000 — slightly more than one-half the vote two years ago and about 700,000 under the 1938 total.

Chief interest centered in the contest for governor between the incumbent Republican John W. Bricker, who seeks a third term, and former Congressman John McSweeney, the Democratic candidate.

Other state officers to be chosen are lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general and three Supreme Court members. Voters also will choose 23 congressmen, complete membership of both houses of the state legislature, Appellate Court judges and some county officials.

Gubernatorial issues were limited mainly to a state treasury surplus of over $20,000,000 and the state's war effort. Congressional issues, particularly where incumbent Republicans were seeking reelection, were isolationism and prosecution of the war. Such issues were ineffectual in the primary as only one incumbent congressional candidate, Democrat Martin L. Sweeney in the 21st (Cleveland) District, was defeated.

Personalities crept into the gubernatorial fight with respect to records of the two candidates in the first World War. Old age pensions were injected as an issue late in the campaign by Democratic State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who charged Governor Bricker with "political manipulation" of

Viscount Cecil Is Of Belief League Could Prevent War

New International Authority Could Be Barrier, He Says; Reforms Are Needed

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 30—Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, chief draftsman of the covenant of the now sick League of Nations, believes that the erection of a new international authority—a real barrier against war—must be the immediate concern of the Allies as soon as this conflict is ended.

"My friends of the left want great economic and social reforms," he told me during a conversation in his London home. "They hold that there will be no more war if there is enough reform under way.

"However, this seems to me to be putting the cart before the horse. They cannot convince large numbers of nations to launch out on great reforms forthwith, for reforms must depend on peace.

"We must make the people feel that further war will be prevented. Then the prestige acquired will help get social reforms carried through.

"This is the great thing nations must consider. We must have supremacy over war in order to get reforms. Unless you can create a secure base for your reforms they will be swept aside in the next convulsion."

Cecil believes that what is left of the League of Nations provides a fine nucleus for a new international organization. At the same time, no one has been more outspoken than this world figure in criticism of the short-comings of the League which he helped to create.

Back at the commencement of the Chinese-Japanese war, Cecil told me in New York in no uncertain terms that unless members of the League "pulled up their sock" it would come a cropper. Well, they didn't pull up their socks and the League came a terrific cropper as he had foreseen.

Now he is anxious to help create an organization which shall lack the faults of the last. He would use the great marble palace on the shores of Lake Geneva to house a new and better order rather than a mausoleum for dead hopes.

Has Fire and Vision

Cecil has all the fire and vision which he displayed when I first knew him back at the time of Versailles. Indeed, I believe that he has more because the passing years have given him new ideas on international problems. The winner of the Nobel Peace Prize has not been content to settle down in a rose-covered cottage of the past.

Just in passing, and apropos of nothing, it may be said that in one thing this scion of one of England's oldest nobilities does not change. He still sits on the middle of his back close to his shoulderblades and stretches his long legs straight out in front of him. When you know that he is something like six feet, five inches tall you get the idea of the picture which is familiar to England.

That is the way he was as he talked to me. The voice from the depths of the great armchair continued:

"Some central international control must be created. I would use such parts of the League of Nations as exist now—like the economic and labor sections—as the nucleus of a new organization.

"There must be a two-fold organization. First, you must have in the League all the nations, big and little, which you can trust. Then there must be a standing committee, probably comprising

The November quota for the Kerhonkson draft board is 204 men, according to Chief Clerk Walter E. Dutcher of the board. The first contingent will leave for an army induction center for physical examination on November 13, and the second contingent on November 16. This is the largest quota the Kerhonkson board has been called upon to fill.

Guadalcanal's Land Fighting Is Confined to Small Skirmishes in Last Two Days

Drive Is Expected

Jap Naval Attack Is Expected Against Small U. S. Fleet

Washington, Oct. 30—The Navy announced today that American troops on Guadalcanal had destroyed 12 Japanese light tanks in the last week and that in the last two days torpedo boats had scored a torpedo hit on a Japanese destroyer which was engaged in reinforcing enemy troops on the island.

A communique on the Solomon Islands activity said that land fighting on Guadalcanal Island on the last two days had been confined to small skirmishes, but American aircraft were continuing to bomb and strafe enemy positions west of the airfield. In the late afternoon of October 28 planes destroyed two enemy seaplanes at Rekata Bay. On the morning of October 29, enemy bombers attacked the American positions on Guadalcanal, but all their bombs dropped in the water, the Navy said, and no damage resulted.

The text of Navy Communique No. 174:

"South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude)

"During the day of October 28, activity ashore on Guadalcanal island was confined to small skirmishes between U. S. and enemy patrols. U. S. Aircraft from Guadalcanal continued to bomb and strafe enemy positions to the westward of the airfield. In the late afternoon, U. S. fighters destroyed two enemy seaplanes at Rekata Bay. A total of 12 Japanese light tanks were destroyed in action during the past week.

"During the early morning of October 29th, enemy bombers attacked our positions on Guadalcanal. All bombs dropped in the water and no damage was suffered.

"During the night of October 29-30, U. S. motor torpedo boats attacked an enemy destroyer, believed to have been engaged in reinforcing or supplying enemy troops on Guadalcanal. One torpedo hit was scored or the destroyer, which was stopped when last seen."

Jap Drive Expected

A terrific Nipponese naval onslaught in the Solomons area was expected to break shortly against admittedly inferior numbers of United States warships but, meanwhile, Allied airpower lashed out at enemy vessels, planes, troops and installations over the wide battle front.

The navy reported yesterday that the American marines and army troops on Guadalcanal broke up three additional Japanese assaults on Oct. 27 (Solomon Islands time). The airfield defenders were thrown back by one heavy attack but countered quickly and regained their positions.

Importance of the airfield, captured by the U. S. marines early in August and desperately sought by the Japanese since, has been evidenced by the almost daily American attacks on nearby enemy bases.

The latest air bombardment announced by the navy struck Japanese gun emplacements on western Guadalcanal, destroying an anti-aircraft battery and an ammunition dump.

At the Japanese base in Rekata Bay in the Central Solomons, the American planes set shore instal-

Winter Break Through to Be Attempted West of Moscow, Is Report

Bern, Switzerland, Oct. 30 (AP)—German news agency reports reaching here today from Berlin said the Russians are massing "powerful shock armies" for a winter attempt to break through the Germans' vitebsk-Smolensk line some 275 miles west of Moscow.

These reports said signs are increasing daily that the Russians, despite the continuing heavy German pressure on the Stalingrad and Caucasus fronts, are assembling troops with full aviation and armored support in the Rzhev-Toropets region.

The Russian plan, it was said, apparently was to send one of these armies westward from Rzhev toward Velikie Luki with strong armored and motorized support and then make a southward encircling sweep in an effort to reach the Dvina river near Vitebsk.

Alonzo P. Adams of Albany, a deputy administrator for the Treasury Department's war savings staff, in charge of the 21 counties in this district, told the audience that Ulster county had "a fine record," but that the department desired to raise the amount firms and their employes are contributing to the purchase of bonds, to 10 per cent of the total pay roll. He said that some 4,000 volunteer workers were busy in the eastern New York territory promoting the sale of bonds through the pay roll plan and noted the part the women are taking in Ulster county under the leadership of Mrs. Howard A. Lewis.

G. B. Schramm, who with Alex Walker, Jr., from the New York office of the Treasury Department, pay roll savings plan, spoke briefly before presenting a film and talk which went more fully into particulars. He said that the government through this plan hoped to get some idea of the portion of American income which was going into war savings.

It was emphasized that the Treasury plan for regular pay roll deductions for purchase of bonds, rather than the buying of stamps, was desired, inasmuch as in some places it had been found that savings stamps were being redeemed faster than they were being sold, with the result that the aim of the plan was being thwarted. Where the firm keeps the stamp books and sees that ultimately they are exchanged for bonds, that is all right, he said.

Mr. Schramm brought out that general 10 per cent savings would represent something like 12 billions of dollars a year put into war bonds, providing a cushion for the inevitable post-war depression and acting as an anti-inflation move at the present time.

In answer to a question he said that the idea was to get an average contribution of 10 per cent from each plant. Thus those who could invest larger amounts would make up for some who were not in a position to do as much.

He asked that employe committees be organized in each plant and suggested that the film which had been shown be secured and shown in every plant.

Harold Brigham, Ulster county war savings chairman, gave a review of the work he and his committee had done during the past six months. He said that he believed they had contacted about every firm in the county, having contacted 461, with 11,692 employes up to June 30. Of this number he said that 271 had four or more employes and of the 271 certificates of merit for 90 per cent participation had been awarded to about one-third of them.

"There has been a grand response to our appeals and a fine response on the part of the business men of the county," said Mr. Brigham.

The following companies were represented at the meeting: Bar-

United Nations Troops Push Deeper Into Axis Line on 35-Mile Front

Squeeze Predicted

Allies May Launch Pincers Movement Against Rommel

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Britain's desert armies were officially reported to have scored new gains in their seven-day-old offensive in Egypt today, and at the same time it was disclosed that American troops have been established in Liberia on the west coast of Africa.

While British and Allied troops lunged deeper into the Axis line on a 35-mile front, U. S. Army fighter pilots alone were reported to have shot down 22 enemy planes in five days with a loss of only two.

Dispatches from the battlefront said German fliers were attempting to escape battle with the American airmen and avoided them altogether yesterday.

Raising the possibility of an Allied "squeeze" against Axis forces in North Africa, U. S. Army troops were said to have been quietly gathering in Liberia since July and have already built two airports.

Liberia, constituted as a republic in 1847 and modelled after the United States, lies on the great bulge of the African continent, between the British colony of Sierra Leone and the French Ivory Coast colony. Its capital, Monrovia, is less than 800 miles airline from Vichy France's key naval base at Dakar.

The size of the American contingent was not revealed but was said to include crack negro troops.

Coincidentally, Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of Vichy's armed forces, returned to Vichy from an inspection of Dakar's defenses and a high French Government official intimated that France stood ready not only to defend her colonies but to "counter-attack."

"To the egoism of England, France must respond by egoism just as complete," said Paul Marion, French secretary of state for information.

"She must above all defend her empire and even aim at a triumphant counterattack."

Germany has long exerted pressure on the Vichy regime to declare war on Britain, obviously hoping to gain the assistance of

Three Arrested After Plant Row

Trouble at Saugerties Factory; Eggs and Rock Reported Thrown

Trouble again flared up Wednesday at the Kellburn Manufacturing Company plant on Livingston street in Saugerties where labor difficulties have been responsible for several clashes between workers. It is alleged that eggs were thrown and a rock was tossed through one of the factory windows during the trouble.

As a result three people were arrested and are now on bail awaiting a hearing before Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer. They are Rose Mickle Scarcelli of Glasco, Luther Mickle of Sauger-

Ohio Politicans Say They Cannot Stir Up Any Interest in Campaign

Columbus, O., Oct. 30 (AP)—Unable to divert voters' minds from war to politics, Ohio political leaders and candidates experienced perhaps the most listless campaign in the state's history with prospects of a record low vote being cast next Tuesday.

Official estimates of the probable total vote were 1,750,000 — slightly more than one-half the vote two years ago and about 700,000 under the 1938 total.

Chief interest centered in the contest for governor between the incumbent Republican John W. Bricker, who seeks a third term, and former Congressman John McSweeney, the Democratic candidate.

Other state officers to be chosen are lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, attorney general and three Supreme Court members. Voters also will choose 23 congressmen, complete membership of both houses of the state legislature. Appellate Court judges and some county officials.

Gubernatorial issues were limited mainly to a state treasury surplus of over $20,000,000 and the state's war effort. Congressional issues, particularly where incumbent Republicans were seeking reelection, were isolationism and prosecution of the war. Such issues were ineffectual in the primary as only one incumbent congressional candidate, Democrat Martin L. Sweeney in the 21st (Cleveland) District, was defeated.

Personalities crept into the gubernatorial fight with respect to records of the two candidates in the first World War. Old age pensions were injected as an issue late in the campaign by Democratic State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, who charged Governor Bricker with "political manipulation" of

Retaining Wall and Gutter Will Be Erected at Lower End of Play Area at M.J.M.

At the meeting of the Board of Education Thursday evening steps were taken to give permanent relief to the property owners on Andrew street where the M.J.M. playground area joins the private properties. A concrete retaining wall and gutter will be erected along the lower end of the playground area to prevent future floods from permitting waste water to flow down over the householders' premises.

A plan was submitted some time ago by the city engineer for the erection of a retaining wall which it is expected will relieve the condition. The board on motion of Trustee Feeney awarded the contract to Thomas J. Kennedy and son and it was stated that the work would be completed this fall before cold weather so that benefits of the job would be had during the winter flood season. The contract was for $1,700. A wall will be erected with a gutter to lead off surface water and the present wire fence will be re-erected on top of the wall.

A communication was received from the Kingston College Women's Club thanking the board for the use of the high school auditorium for the Cornelia Otis Skinner recital.

The board also received a communication from the Vocational Division, Albany, submitting a check for $2,000 for reimbursement of the city for money advanced on the National Defense Training program.

Power Boat Lectures

The Kingston Power Boat Association was granted use of a room in the high school for eight lectures to be held on Wednesday evenings beginning November 18 on small boat handling. The course of lectures will be open to men and women and all high school students interested. At the close of the lecture period an examination will be held. Since the request was for use of a room on the regular night school evening and no additional heating of the building will be required the request was granted.

On the conservation of oil in the high school building Superintendent Laidlaw reported that thus far every effort had been made to save oil and the plan had worked out very successfully. In order to conserve oil the fans which bring outside air into the ventilating ducts have not been turned on. When this is done it is necessary to heat the air from outside temperature to 55 degrees in order that it may be discharged into the rooms at a 70 degree temperature. Mr. Laidlaw said fresh air was being admitted by open windows and this plan would be followed as much as possible with the health of the students being considered. By taking advantage of long holiday week-ends through the winter and turning down the heat on Friday afternoons until early Monday morning several thousand gallons of fuel oil would be saved.

More Than Half of Mountain Town Falls, Including Only Drug Store; Fires Add to Suffering

Berryville, Ark., Oct. 30 (AP).—At least 27 persons were killed and more than 200 injured, many critically, when a tornado leveled more than half of this Ozark Mountain town late last night.

Several of the injured were so badly hurt that physicians advised against transporting to hospitals.

Fires broke out immediately after the tornado, forcing the survivors to drop their rescue operations for a time to prevent spread of the flames through the splintered wreckage.

Approximately 25 persons were trapped and injured in the collapse of the Missouri and Arkansis railroad station. Most of them were waiting to board a northbound train.

Without hospital facilities, the stricken town of 1,485 population had only three physicians to care for the scores of injured.

The only drug store was demolished and most of the drugs and medical supplies were destroyed, making it impossible for the three doctors to do more than give first aid until supplies arrived from nearby towns. Doctors and nurses were sent from Harrison and Eureka Spring and several loads of injured were taken to hospitals in other communities.

A passenger bus came through the stricken town 30 minutes after the disaster. Its passengers alighted or stood up to make room for some of the worst injured being taken to the Harrison Hospital.

The power plant was destroyed, forcing rescue workers to work by torch light, flashlight, lanterns, candles, or even matches.

The telephone system remained in operation through use of an emergency battery system.

An eight-man medical detachment from Camp Robinson was ordered to Berryville, with medical supplies. An appeal for assistance was sent to the Red Cross at Little Rock.

The city hall and court house, two of the few buildings remaining intact in the business district, were converted into emergency hospitals, but in the early hours there was little the workers could do for the sufferers—no medical supplies, no nurses, and only three doctors to care for the scores of injured. Fallen trees and other debris delayed out of town relief crews.

Rea Nelson, undertaker, said 22 bodies had been brought to the funeral parlor in the early morning hours, and he expected there were many more dead buried in the ruins.

Some of the escapes were amazing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Fanning were uninjured when the tornado wrecked their bedroom, but the featherbed on which they were sleeping and the comfort which they had over them vanished.

Berryville, one of the oldest communities in the Ozark region, is an important wholesale and jobbing center, servicing the northwest portion of Arkansas, and adjacent areas in Missouri.

The prosperous wholesale houses and canneries, the life source for the community, were virtually all destroyed.

Viscount Cecil Is Of Belief League Could Prevent War

New International Authority Could Be Barrier, He Says; Reforms Are Needed

By DeWITT MACKENZIE

London, Oct. 30—Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, chief draftsman of the covenant of the now sick League of Nations, believes that the erection of a new international authority—a real barrier against war—must be the immediate concern of the Allies as soon as this conflict is ended.

"My friends of the left want great economic and social reforms," he told me during a conversation in his London home. "They hold that there will be no more war if there is enough reform under way.

"However, this seems to me to be putting the cart before the horse. They cannot convince large numbers of nations to launch out on great reforms forthwith, for reforms must depend on peace.

"We must make the people feel that further war will be prevented. Then the prestige acquired will help get social reforms carried through.

"This is the great thing nations must consider. We must have supremacy over war in order to get reforms. Unless you can create a secure base for your reforms they will be swept aside in the next convulsion."

Cecil believes that what is left of the League of Nations provides a fine nucleus for a new international organization. At the same time, no one has been more outspoken than this world figure in criticism of the short-comings of the League which he helped to create.

Back at the commencement of the Chinese-Japanese war, Cecil told me in New York in no uncertain terms that unless members of the League "pulled up their sock" it would come a cropper. Well, they didn't pull up their socks and the League came a terrific cropper as he had foreseen.

Now he is anxious to help create an organization which shall lack the faults of the last. He would use the great marble palace on the shores of Lake Geneva to house a new and better order rather than a mausoleum for dead hopes.

Has Fire and Vision

Cecil has all the fire and vision which he displayed when I first knew him back at the time of Versailles. Indeed, I believe that he has more because the passing years have given him new ideas on international problems. The winner of the Nobel Peace Prize has not been content to settle down in a rose-covered cottage of the past.

Just in passing, and apropos of nothing, it may be said that in one thing this scion of one of England's oldest nobilities does not change. He still sits on the middle of his back close to his shoulderblades and stretches his long legs straight out in front of him. When you know that he is something like six feet, five inches tall you get the idea of the picture which is familiar to England.

That is the way he was as he talked to me. The voice from the depths of the great armchair continued:

"Some central international control must be created. I would use such parts of the League of Nations as exist now—like the economic and labor sections—as the nucleus of a new organization.

"There must be a two-fold organization. First, you must have in the League all the nations, big and little, which you can trust. Then there must be a standing committee, probably comprising

Saugerties Man Receives Award

Capt. Stoddart Is Given Purple Heart; Serves With MacArthur

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Oct. 30 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters announced today the award of silver stars and oak leaf clusters in lieu of second silver stars to three U. S. Army Air Force sergeants and purple hearts to 11 Army Air Force officers and men and one medical officer.

Among those awarded purple hearts was Captain Percy C. Stoddart, Junior, Parade Rest, Saugerties.

Capt. Stoddart is a brother-in-law of Major Ducal S. McEntee of Saugerties, who is now busy training parachute troops in the south.

Quota Is 204 Men

The November quota for the Kerhonkson draft board is 204 men, according to Chief Clerk Walter E. Dutcher of the board. The first contingent will leave for an army induction center for physical examination on November 13, and the second contingent on November 16. This is the largest quota the Kerhonkson board has been called upon to fill.

Guadalcanal's Land Fighting Is Confined to Small Skirmishes in Last Two Days

Drive Is Expected

Jap Naval Attack Is Expected Against Small U. S. Fleet

Washington, Oct. 30—The Navy announced today that American troops on Guadalcanal had destroyed 12 Japanese light tanks in the last week and that in the last two days torpedo boats had scored a torpedo hit on a Japanese destroyer which was engaged in reinforcing enemy troops on the island.

A communique on the Solomon Islands activity said that land fighting on Guadalcanal Island on the last two days had been confined to small skirmishes, but American aircraft were continuing to bomb and strafe enemy positions west of the airfield. In the late afternoon of October 28 planes destroyed two enemy seaplanes at Rekata Bay. On the morning of October 29, enemy bombers attacked the American positions on Guadalcanal, but all their bombs dropped in the water, the Navy said, and no damage resulted.

The text of Navy Communique No. 174:

"South Pacific: (All dates are east longitude)

"During the day of October 28, activity ashore on Guadalcanal island was confined to small skirmishes between U. S. and enemy patrols. U. S. Aircraft from Guadalcanal continued to bomb and strafe enemy positions to the westward of the airfield. In the late afternoon, U. S. fighters destroyed two enemy seaplanes at Rekata Bay. A total of 12 Japanese light tanks were destroyed in action during the past week.

"During the early morning of October 29th, enemy bombers attacked our positions on Guadalcanal. All bombs dropped in the water and no damage was suffered.

"During the night of October 29-30, U. S. motor torpedo boats attacked an enemy destroyer, believed to have been engaged in reinforcing or supplying enemy troops on Guadalcanal. One torpedo hit was scored on the destroyer, which was stopped when last seen."

Jap Drive Expected

A terrific Nipponese naval onslaught in the Solomons area was expected to break shortly against admittedly inferior numbers of United States warships but, meanwhile, Allied airpower lashed out at enemy vessels, planes, troops and installations over the wide battle front.

The navy reported yesterday that the American marines and army troops on Guadalcanal broke up three additional Japanese assaults on Oct. 27 (Solomon Islands time). The airfield defenders were thrown back by one heavy attack but countered quickly and regained their positions.

Importance of the airfield, captured by the U. S. marines early in August and desperately sought by the Japanese since, has been evidenced by the almost daily American attacks on nearby enemy bases.

The latest air bombardment announced by the navy struck Japanese gun emplacements on western Guadalcanal, destroying an anti-aircraft battery and an ammunition dump.

At the Japanese base in Rekata Bay in the Central Solomons, the American planes set shore instal-

Winter Break Through to Be Attempted West of Moscow, Is Report

Bern, Switzerland, Oct. 30 (AP)—German news agency reports reaching here today from Berlin said the Russians are massing "powerful shock armies" for a winter attempt to break through the Germans' Vitebsk-Smolensk line some 275 miles west of Moscow.

These reports said signs are increasing daily that the Russians, despite the continuing heavy German pressure on the Stalingrad and Caucasus fronts, are assembling troops with full aviation and armored support in the Rzhev-Toropets region.

The Russian plan, it was said, apparently was to send one of these armies westward from Rzhev toward Velikie Luki with strong armored and motorized support and then make a southward encircling sweep in an effort to reach the Dvina river near Vitebsk.

Alabama Medico Attacks Lack of Care for Mothers

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

St. Louis, Oct. 30—Medical supervision has not been set up to space child birth among the married of America's 4,500,000 women war workers.

That was the charge made today by Eva Dodge, M. D., of the state health department at Mongomery, Ala. Speaking to the American Public Health Association, she declared that only in a few areas is child spacing service under medical supervision available. She further insisted that as a rule the medical staff in industry lacks the training to give child spacing service.

"We must keep in mind," she said, "that even though women are being called upon to carry out industrial tasks, they still have the function of bearing children, children they want and the country needs.

"One of the dangers to babies and to mothers is pregnancies occuring at too short intervals, coupled with fatigue due to employment in industry while trying to carry on home duties at the same time."

She maintained that abortions will increase unless there is reliable spacing information made available to women in war work. In normal years, she pointed out, 90 per cent of the illegal abortions are among married women.

She said that the total number of abortions annually is estimated at 750,000.

"The results of this possible increase in abortions," she went on, "will have distinct bearing on birth rates of the future. It has been conservatively estimated that there are about eight women made sterile for every one killed outright by an illegal operation."

Bert I. Berverly, of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago, predicted serious illness, physically and mentally, for children of war working mothers unless better care is speedily provided for the youngsters.

He said that in a Chicago plant employing 1,400 women, half of them are mothers having from one to seven children. These women come from all sections of the city, and not many of them have adequate facilities for caring for the children during their absence.

REBUFFS DRAFT EVADERS

Papeete, Tahiti (AP)—Three small cutters bearing Americans which have arrived here since the United States went to war are viewed with suspicion by authorities as possibly containing draft evaders. Regardless of this, French officials warn that advance official permission is necessary to land on Tahiti, and the arrivals were allowed only a limited time in port. Lieut. Lyman Middleditch, of Highlands, N. J., a member of the U. S. Army Air Force crack "Black Scorpion" squadron, is credited with shooting down four Nazi planes in dog fights over the North African desert. He bagged three Messerschmitt 109's near Daba in one day.

Tannenbaum Is Held For Further Testimony

Monticello, N. Y. Oct. 30 (AP)—Albert Tannenbaum, given a 7 to 10-year suspended sentence on a second degree manslaughter charge because he turned informer on Murder, Inc., Brooklyn-based killing syndicate, remains in custoday to testify in "many more cases."

Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell allowed Tannenbaum to plead guilty yesterday on this charge, in connection with the slaying of Irving Ashkenas, taxi driver, at Loch Sheldrake in 1936. Justice Russell imposed sentence and then suspended it. Tannenbaum originally had been indicted on a first degree murder charge.

At the same arraignment, the court dismissed an indictment accusing Tannenbaum of participating in the 1938 slaying of Hyman Yuran, New York city dress manufacturer described by police as a front man for Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, leader of Murder, Inc.

Justice Russell said the suspended sentence and indictment dismissal were recommended by District Attorney William Deckelman, Sullivan county, in exchange for testimony regarding syndicate murders in Brooklyn, the Bronx, Newark, N. J., and Los Angeles.

The court said Tannenbaum's testimony had resulted in many convictions and that he was to be kept in custody as a material witness to testify in "many more cases."

Rationing Causes Less Moonshining

Sugar Regulation Retards Illegal Liquor Output

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Sugar rationing is slashing the moonshiner's output of illegal liquor.

The rationing program was advanced today by the alcoholic tax administration as a potent factor in the sizeable drop in still seizures and arrests for liquor law violations.

Sugar is basic for the moonshiner's product, and he could be smacked with a penalty for sugar bootlegging if he tried to build up his depleted sugar stock.

Still seizures and arrests for liquor law violations dropped nearly half during July, August and September, compared with the corresponding three months of 1941, the tax administration said.

During the three months this year agents seized 1,536 stills and arrested 2,833 persons, compared with 2,782 seizures and 5,581 arrests in the same quarter-year of 1941.

Daily producing capacity of the stills seized in the 1942 period was 33,921 gallons, against 104,091 last year. The tax unit confiscated 16,183 gallons of spirits and 423,700 gallons of mash in the July-September period just past, compared with 58,333 gallons of spirits and 1,454,339 gallons of mash a year ago.

September seizures and arrests by supervisory districts of the tax administration were:

Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont: 1942—No stills, 409 gallons of spirits, 25 arrests; 1941—Four stills seized, daily producing capacity 29 gallons, 161 gallons of spirits and 700 of mash, 26 arrests.

New York State: 1942—14 stills, daily producing capacity 11,516 gallons, 632 gallons of spirits, 9,168 gallons of mash, 52 arrests; 1941—30 stills, daily producing capacity 4,958 gallons, 2,199 gallons of spirits, 8,633 gallons of mash, 72 arrests.

Jugoslavs to Kill Pro-Axis Traitors

Doom Officials Who Assist Nazi Invaders.

LONDON.—Jugoslavs are striking back at the reign of terror Nazi agents are waging in occupied Europe with a newly formed "execution corps" pledged to kill all traitorous public officials who help the Axis.

Reports reached refugee governments in London that the Axis secret police forces had unearthed a number of plots to sabotage the German war effort and stir up unrest in the occupied nations.

An unimpeachable source asserted that in occupied Jugsolavia the Axis had reason to fear for the lives of its puppet officers, as the Jugoslav government here has given patriot General Draja Mikhailovitch full powers to brand as traitors all Slavs and Croats who work for the occupation powers and to order their death by members of his new corps.

The corps already has begun its work, this source said, by killing a Professor Bulic, assistant chief of Serbian Fascist forces, at Cacak, 70 miles southwest of Belgrade.

Lists have been tacked up at night in all regions of Jugoslavia, bearing names of men marked for death because of their collaboration with the invaders, and the Jugoslav government here warned in a broadcast beamed to the homeland that all who co-operate with occupying authorities have been condemned to death.

General Mikhailovitch has freedom to direct the corps in his own way, it was said, "making sure that all puppet officials sooner or later are assassinated and the country rid of traitors."

Accidents Increase as Auto Tires Wear Thin

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rapidly thinning treads on automobile tires as a result of the rubber shortage and a jump of 250 per cent in fatal accidents from tire failures for North Carolina, figures for June made public by the highway safety division reveal.

"This is an alarming condition and is destined to become worse," T. Boddie Ward, commissioner of motor vehicles, declared. "It is a serious menace and a challenge to each motor vehicle driver."

In June of this year, 60 persons met death in 53 traffic accidents on streets and highways of the state.

Ward, stressing the danger to motorists, declared that thousands of "border-line" tires are now being operated on the state highways.

"Very few of these drivers have any chance of relief from the death menace to themselves and their families through the channels of tire replacement," he continued. "Where tires are thin and treads are slick the only salvation for the driver is added caution, alertness and speeds well below the suggested minimum of 35 miles per hour."

Inmates Mourn Warden

Inmates of Peterhead Prison sent a wreath to be laid on the grave of Warden T. J. Neil who died while walking along a street in Aberdeen, Scotland. This is the first time in the prison's history that prisoners have paid such a tribute to a warden.

SWEAT KEEPS MAN ALIVE

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—For 12 years a Knoxville man has been working early and late that he might perspire.

Suffering a peculiar ailment arising from adhesions, C. A. Stair must labor long hours daily so that perspiration may relieve his suffering and enable him to live. During the summer, he works in his flower garden. When winter comes he goes to his basement and shovels coal from the full bin to an empty one, repeating the process until spring.

Tale of Traveling Salesman

Washington, D. C. (AP) — Two traveling salesmen landed in the midst of a whirlwind scrap drive at Caribou, a town in Maine's potato-growing area. Finding no place of business open except the bank, they pitched in to help the townspeople cart in scrap metals. Officials reported that 624 tons of scrap, or 149 pounds per capita, were collected.

Alabama Medico Attacks Lack of Care for Mothers

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

St. Louis, Oct. 30—Medical supervision has not been set up to space child birth among the married of America's 4,500,000 women war workers.

That was the charge made today by Eva Dodge, M. D., of the state health department at Montgomery, Ala. Speaking to the American Public Health Association, she declared that only in a few areas is child spacing service under medical supervision available. She further insisted that as a rule the medical staff in industry lacks the training to give child spacing service.

"We must keep in mind," she said, "that even though women are being called upon to carry out industrial tasks, they still have the function of bearing children, children they want and the country needs.

"One of the dangers to babies and to mothers is pregnancies occuring at too short intervals, coupled with fatigue due to employment in industry while trying to carry on home duties at the same time."

She maintained that abortions will increase unless there is reliable spacing information made available to women in war work. In normal years, she pointed out, 90 per cent of the illegal abortions are among married women.

She said that the total number of abortions annually is estimated at 750,000.

"The results of this possible increase in abortions," she went on, "will have distinct bearing on birth rates of the future. It has been conservatively estimated that there are about eight women made sterile for every one killed outright by an illegal operation."

Bert I. Berverly, of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, Chicago, predicted serious illness, physically and mentally, for children of war working mothers unless better care is speedily provided for the youngsters.

He said that in a Chicago plant employing 1,400 women, half of them are mothers having from one to seven children. These women come from all sections of the city, and not many of them have adequate facilities for caring for the children during their absence.

VOTING PROPERLY

Throughout the ninety-one election districts in Ulster county voting machines will be used for the general election on Tuesday, November 3. All voters should know how to manipulate these machines properly so that their votes will count.

Because voters fail to follow instructions, hundreds of votes are registered blank and hundreds of votes are cast for candidates not intended for. If a voter is not absolutely sure that he can vote properly, he should ask for instructions before entering the booth and pulling the handle which closes the curtain.

It is important to remember that after entering the booth and pulling the red handle to the right as far as it will go until it clicks, to pull the voting levers down over the names of the candidates and leave them down. After you have voted pull the red handle to the left as far as it will go and leave the booth. As long as the voter is inside the curtain, he may change his vote, if he discovers he has made a mistake, by pushing back a lever and pulling down another. When finished pulling down levers they must be left down, if they are to be recorded.

THE GYPSIES

Word comes from Meridian, Miss., of the death of the king of the gypsies, 85-year-old Emil Mitchell. Every so often a story like this appears, reminding the world that there is no shortage of gypsy kings. Every town harboring a settlement of these wanderers possesses a king, usually self-appointed, and accepted only by those families of his race whom he can help. Ability to get them on relief is one quality that the gypsies value in their king. They also turn to him for help when in minor difficulties with the police. Thus the gypsy king is a good deal like the ward captain of a political machine.

In these respects the gypsies have fallen in with the customs of the country. In most others they are willing to remain a race apart. It is this failure to assimilate that makes them interesting to Americans.

To most people their origin and racial relationship are utterly obscure. To students of the tribe, however, they are no mystery. It is now generally agreed that the gypsies came originally from North India, expelled about the 14th century. Their language is related to Sanskrit, the oldest language of the Aryan world. They have become wanderers over the face of the earth, carrying with them their skill with tools, their lightfingeredness and their haunting music. Probably they also gave Europe playing cards. Both cards and gypsies appeared in the West about the same time, and everyone knows the gypsy practice of telling fortunes by cards.

UNDAUNTED MALTA

One place that Hitler wishes did not exist is Malta. That undaunted British island in the middle of the Mediterranean has just brought down its 1,000th Nazi plane in three years. So great an obstacle has it been to German reinforcement in North Africa that very likely, but for Malta, Rommel might have conquered Egypt.

Naturally the Germans have done their best to wipe out this obstacle. Constant bombing day and night since the war started has been Malta's fate. If islands could speak, Malta might say with the poet Henley's hero,

"Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody but unbowed.
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid."

IRON AND SUBSTITUTES

Iron ore production continues to be one of the most impressive features of this war. It is pouring from the Lake Superior district at the incredible rate of 100,000,000 tons a year. And it might be said truly that that small area is doing more to win the war than any other region on earth. Without it the Axis might win.

Fortunately the Superior deposits of accessible, high-grade ore are ample for this war. But they are not inexhaustible. At the present rate of production the best ores are expected to run out in six or seven years. There will be plenty of low-grade ore left, there and elsewhere in the country, but probably never again will there be so vast a deposit to use for so crucial a purpose.

So it is obviously necessary to find metal substitutes for iron as rapidly as possible. They will be found in the lighter metals, aluminum, magnesium and various others, whose ores are found liberally in North and South America, but are not available yet in adequate quantities. They are the metals most needed for aerial use in war and peace, and are probably the important metals of the future.

The folly of the Nazis is well summed up by Storm Jameson, the novelist. She says, "If you take away every other weapon and leave a country to its memories, it will use them to defeat you."

Rubber Czar Jeffers was asked by a woman, "When will the war be over?" He gave the only possible answer: "When we win it."

Fire prevention is one way to serve your country.

PERITONEOSCOPE

It is only natural that many patients fear an abdominal operation; there is something about making an opening into the abdomen that gives them a queer chilly feeling. So much is such an operation dreaded that almost any other form of treatment, however painful or prolonged, is preferred to the usual abdominal operation.

It is for the patient fearing abdominal operation and for the physician who would like to know more about the condition of certain organs in the abdomen that peritoneoscopy is now coming into more general use.

Some months ago I spoke of peritoneoscopy, which is looking into the abdomen by means of a small instrument which is plunged through the outer wall of the abdomen. The cases mentioned were in the United States.

Recently, the British Lancet recorded the use of the peritoneoscope in 125 cases by Drs. R. M. Walker and P. L. Playfair. Peritoneoscopy was performed in 95 cases under a local anaesthetic, under a general anaesthetic in 29 cases, and by an anaesthetic into the spinal canal in one case.

Peritoneoscopy will save many patients the risk and discomfort of opening up the abdomen to find out what is wrong when the physician and surgeon are not sure just what is wrong despite symptoms present and tests made. This is called an "exploratory" operation, because the surgeon is exploring the abdomen in an effort to find the cause of the symptoms.

What are the advantages of using this instrument which requires but the making of a tiny hole into the abdomen instead of the opening made by abdominal operation?

"Of 32 patients with cancer of the stomach, 9 showed that the cancer had extended to other organs and it was too late to operate."

Of 18 patients whose liver was greatly enlarged and there was excess fluid in the abdomen (ascitis or dropsy) 10 showed cancer present, 4 hardening of the liver, 2 an inflamed liver, and 2 showed liver cells to be crowded out by fat.

I am mentioning but two of the organs of the abdomen in which much helpful information was gained so that the physician was able to come to a decision to operate or not to operate.

The condition of the organs of abdomen—kidneys, uterus, ovaries—is likewise reported in this series of cases.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

FUTURE OF COLLEGES

Babson Discusses Use of Endowments

New York City, Oct. 30—Inquiries are coming from schools and colleges as to what their financial policy should be during the war. As to curriculum, this may be out of my line, although Mrs. Babson and I are largely responsible for Babson Institute and Webber College. Both will continue operating and should be crowded with students when the War is over. Like other patriotic schools, we expect much smaller than normal attendance during the war. As to financial policies, however, I am qualified to speak.

Patriotic Demands

These comments, therefore, are directed to parents, to Boards of Incorporators, Boards of Trustees and the faculties of educational institutions, especially those exempt from taxation. These have an extra obligation to our country to which they pay no taxes, and particularly to their local communities which do not even tax their real estate. This puts educational institutions in an entirely different class from commercial, industrial and other business corporations. Colleges, therefore, should forget themselves entirely. After carrying out contacts with present students they should put the good of the country first — certainly before their faculties and other employes.

During the recent business depression it was up to all such institutions, especially those tax-exempt, to do what they could to prevent unemployment and to keep faculties and others employed. Today the situation is very different. Most men and women now working for educational institutions are needed in war work and we should endeavor to get on without them wherever possible. The United Nations must win this war or all of our educational institutions, as we now know them, will go out of existence. Certainly, Endowment Funds would be wiped out. To try to maintain the present curriculum and staffs is, in my humble opinion, unpatriotic, unbusinesslike and unfair to the students. This is especially true now that the 18-year-olds are to be drafted.

What About Women's Colleges?

Temporarily, women's colleges have an advantage. The draft law does not yet effect women. On the other hand, all those concerned should see what is happening to women's colleges in Germany, Italy, Japan, and the occupied nations. Even in England their curriculum has been entirely changed with great stress upon vocational work. Colleges are justified in training women to become expert stenographers and typists, accurate accountants and machine workers. To ask girls, however, to continue college during the remainder of this war under the cultural college program is, to my mind, absolutely wicked.

Naturally, the officers and department heads of many institutions are loathe to make such changes. Such men and women are naturally conservative and are often the last to recognize the seriousness conditions that this country faces. Hence, it is especially important that the trustees should take a hand at this critical moment. Trustees as a rule are good-natured, intelligent gentlemen who usually, and rightly so, let the president run the institution, being content to back him up and collect their fees. Such a policy is alright in ordinary times, but these are extraordinary times. Today trustees should assert their power in case the president and faculty do not cooperate 100 per cent in the necessary readjustment.

What About Endowment Funds?

College Finance Committees should seek diversification under normal conditions. Furthermore, as bonds become due, colleges may be justified now in reinvesting a certain proportion of the money in corporation bonds of a similar character in order to enjoy proper diversification. Certainly, any surplus income from endowment or other funds should be invested only in government bonds, preferably the so-called "Series G." Furthermore, an effort should be made to reduce expenses so as to buy more government bonds. Certainly, income from endowment funds should not now be used to pay faculty members and other employes who are needed in war work. This applies especially to the unnecessary overhead with which so many educational institutions are saddled and to those instructors whose courses are not directly contributory to the war work.

Some college presidents and deans will argue regarding being ready for carrying on after the war. I am not advocating the closing of any institution however small or weak. Let every institution continue to keep open; but let it confine itself for the duration to subjects which will directly and today help win the war. This means running more or less on a skeleton basis and especially soliciting for students, older persons who are not capable of doing war work but, owing to the war, are temporarily out of business.

Instructional Possibilities

There are hundreds of thousands of men, from automobile salesmen to housewives, who for the duration are out of business. It is a wonderful opportunity for them to use the next year or two in securing the education of which they have always felt the need. For the benefit of such men and women all colleges should be kept open, although run more or less on a skeleton basis. Let me further add that such mature students should get much more out of their work when a member of small student groups, say 20 per cent of normal enrollment. Hence, the next year or more presents a golden opportunity for businessmen too old to enter the war and to women otherwise too busy.

INDEMNITY CANCELLED

After 75 years in which its war indemnity has grown to astronomical figures, Paraguay has been freed of the obligation so far as Argentina is concerned. The indemnity was a sequel to the war between Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay on the one hand and Paraguay on the other. When it was imposed in 1867 it amounted to ten thousand million pesos. It is said in Buenos Aires that Argentina never intended the indemnity should be paid. President Castillio signed the cancellation law on the 450th anniversary of the founding of Paraguay's capital, Asuncion.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

In Kingston on Saturday, September 10, 1927, the sesquicentennial of the events leading to the founding of the state of New York was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies with Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Senator John Knight, Assemblyman Joseph A. McGinnies and State Historian Alexander C. Flick among the guests of honor.

Governor Smith laid the cornerstone of the new state historical museum on the ground of the old Senate House, when he spoke on the establishment of the state. Others who spoke were Judge A. T. Clearwater and Mrs. Alton B. Parker.

The day was marked by a historical pilgrimage to the old houses in Kingston and Old Hurley, and with addresses by Senators Wadsworth and Knight, Assemblyman McGinnies and the state historian.

The celebration was brought to a close with the presentation of a historical pageant re-enacting the adoption of the first state constitution, the inauguration of George Clinton the state's first governor, the first meeting of the supreme court, and other important events leading up to the birth of New York state.

The pageant was presented with several hundred local people in the cast at the Kingston Driving Park on North Manor avenue, and was viewed by thousands.

With the observance of the 150th anniversary of the state in September, 1927, here it was also interesting to recall that half a century earlier, on July 10, 1877, the centennial of New York state was celebrated in Kingston.

The 100th anniversary was observed with artillery firing, a military parade, oratory, feasting and a big display of fireworks at night.

The centennial drew some 30,000 visitors to Kingston that July day, and among the speakers was the late Senator Chauncey M. Depew, who was still living when the 150th anniversary was celebrated here in 1927.

In the summer of 1927 the Religious and Social Committee of the Emanuel Baptist Church bought the old concrete barn of the Newark Lime & Cement Co. on East Union street, overlooking the former railroad yards of the old Ulster & Delaware railroad, and were planning to remodel it into a church.

Plans for the alterations had been prepared by Architect Augustus R. Schrowang, while the building committee to raise the necessary fund was headed by the Rev. Charles B. Smith, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, with Frank W. Matthews as treasurer, Harry A. Tremper as secretary, and Floyd W. Powell as attorney.

Deflation of Management's Personal Finances Comes as Regrettable Occurrence at This Moment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 30—It is most regrettable that, in the midst of war, the management group—America's most successful and enterprising managers—should suddenly be saddled with a problem of deflating their personal finances. It would be a sacrifice eagerly made if the purpose was to raise money to finance the war, but that isn't the object of the President's executive order which reduces the salaries of the management group.

It would be understandable, too, if the reduction affected war-made compensation, but it goes back to pre-war salaries and provides an unnecessary, if not wholly unfair, attack on the management group who are expected to work long hours and stretch their energies many fold to supervise the biggest production job handled by any nation in all history.

The scars of war wear off, as do the hardships, but unfairness is never forgotten. There is manifest unfairness in what the President has ordered done. It hardly seems possible that he could have realized the damage he was doing to the morale of the very men the nation depends on for management of the entire war program.

For Congress didn't order the reduction in pre-war salaries, nor did Congress fix any limits on what a man might be paid. Congress very properly passed a tax bill to raise revenue and, if the limitation of incomes had been accomplished in the lawful manner that a revenue measure operates there would not be such a feeling of discouragement.

But when Congress refused to legislate any such limitation on salaries and the executive order undertakes to use war powers to accomplish what Congress declined to enact, the whole episode becomes more than a mere segment of a so-called anti-inflation program. It becomes a matter of vital principal and makes a mockery of the cry that America is fighting to preserve her constitution. In this instance a blunder has been made in usurping power that Congress did not delegate, and it now becomes necessary for Congress to assert its rights and in the next tax bill, if not sooner, prohibit the Bureau of Internal Revenue from using any of its so-called powers for the purpose of reducing salaries or incomes except as provided in the revenue laws on the statute books.

If the President wishes a limitation on salaries, he should ask Congress to provide the same not only for salaries but for investment income. If Congress declines, he should certainly in sportsmanlike fashion abide by the result.

There is one lesson that American politics has taught, namely that people who lose a fight must be magnanimous and not punitive. The administration lost its fight for limitation of top salaries through the income tax laws, and now endeavors to do under the guise of anti-inflation what it could not obtain by actual legislation.

There is no persuasive way to prevent inflation by reducing pre-war salaries. This is really deflation and nothing in the statute says anything about deflation.

Many inequities are produced by the very executive order which seeks to remove so-called inequities. Thus out of the 48 states and the District of Columbia, there are fourteen states where no state income tax laws prevail. In the fourteen states, the citizen can retain $25,000 while in the other thirty-four and the District of Columbia, a citizen cannot retain $25,000 no matter what his salary above that figure happens to be. Why should a so-called federal order be applied without uniformity? What possible objection was there to allowing the citizens of the thrity-five areas to deduct their state taxes, so they could be on a parity with the citizens of the fourteen states?

This is but one of many inequalities, the worst of which is that the president of a company making war supplies can receive only a net income of $25,000 while the stockholders who clip coupons or get dividends from that same company can receive unlimited amounts. Also, though the revenue laws provide for a review of income tax rulings and decisions by the courts, the new executive order seeks to deprive the citizen of any court review. This means that labor unions, as well as employers, must accept the findings of fact and the interpretations of a bureau employe as final. Never before have American citizens been treated in such high-handed manner. It's a regrettable blunder in the midst of war.

If the government needs 100 per cent of all incomes over $25,000 or everything over $5,000, the average citizen will gladly accept such a ruling as necessary to finance the war, but he will prefer that legislation specifically say so, instead of being ordered to obey a law Congress never passed.

"What About Germany?" by Louis P. Lochner

As a study of the German mind and body functioning under the pressure of Nazi ideology, Louis P. Lochner's "What About Germany?" is close to unique among the books of returning correspondents. Mr. Lochner has been 21 years in Germany for The Associated Press. His German experience has been far greater than that of any other important American newsman. And temperamentally he is of the watchful, careful type, disinclined toward snap judgments. His book is therefore a book of information and careful, balanced statement.

It is concentrated on the years of the Nazi locust — someday he almost surely will do another book, perhaps after he has retrieved his large stock of papers, now safely hidden in Berlin. This will probably bridge the gap between the old regime and the regime that must follow this war. "What About Germany?" is an examination of Hitler's successes so far, his headaches, and the things that can be done to make the headache worse.

Mr. Lochner's description of the technique used by Hitler in taking over power is heartbreaking, because it would have been so simple to stop him. His system of throwing over, one after another, the restrictions placed on Germany is just as bitter in retrospect, because Mr. Lochner is convinced that even Hitler, did not expect to manage many of the things he tried. But the rest of the world accepted them supinely. Then the exposition of Hitler's means of softening up and undermining his prospective conquests, and the extraordinary military astuteness by which one man was assigned one task, and given every facility (not being forced to compete with a rival in another branch of the service).

Mr. Lochner is by no means a defeatist. Hitler's headaches are, he shows, based on organic defects that can be reached, and reached now. Transportation is one of the most painful, just for an example. The great motor roads are failures, and further blasting of rail centers and track and equipment is one of the great needs. "What About Germany?" is a book to be read immediately.

RATIONS END AT GRAVE

Undertakers in Sydney, Australia, voice the sentiments of their personnel throughout Australia when they protest that they should not be required to carry out duties rightly belonging to officials. When undertakers complete the last rites they must collect from next-of-kin the decedent's ration book and identity card. It is painful and embarassing to both undertakers and relatives, declare the morticians.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Come time to pay it, the new federal tax bill is going to knock the noggin off so many people that that old word "complacency" will be lost to the language.

This country is as much of a hodge-podge economically as it is geographically so nobody is going to be able to set up any tables and say: "Here, brother, is just what you are up against."

There is, however, one little group here in Washington that is a pretty fair example of what some of us are going to be up against. That's the $1,440-a-year or minimum pay, government clerks. Many of them are girls.

Not many months ago, the Department of Labor went into the "minimum cost of a decent living standard" for government girls pretty thoroughly. If the Department of Labor statisticians had any ax to grind, try and find it. They weren't after getting wages up or down. They were only trying to set up a minimum budget by which government girls, at starting salaries could exist. The total, according to this estimate, was $1,313.08.

To itemize it here would take more space than I have, but just to give you an idea of how ungenerous the D.L. was being with its estimates, it allowed only $13 for "miscellaneous" and only $29 for the year for savings.

Since then, times have changed considerably. There's that 5 per cent for the federal retirement fund, $72 a year, on which Miss G. Girl will realize when she arrives at the ripe age of 60.

Then there's 10 per cent for War Savings bonds. This isn't compulsory, of course, but the pressure can be pretty terrific when every one around you is doing his or her bit in that direction. That means $144 more.

Now comes the tax—the spanking new federal tax. That will be in the neighborhood of $170.

Add it up. The G-Girl who used to hit that minimum budget on the nose and come out with $100 or so to the good for a trip home or some other luxury, now is going to come out $100 to $250 minus, depending on how patriotic she is in buying those war bonds.

All this is, of course, hypothetical, even in Washington. How can you set down any minimum figure for decent rentals in a city where it is discovered that 133 soldiers (studying radio engineering) are paying $20 a month apiece for cot space in a converted warehouse?

On the other hand, some compassionate landlords and ladies are providing very decent rooms at less than that.

Some G-Girls, according to bureau counselors, earn minimum wages and send money home every month, but just how they manage it is a mystery to the counselors. Perhaps some of the story is told in the rapidly rising curve of personal loans to government employes in the lower brackets.

Australia has three times as many munitions plants as before the war.

Fort Devens Has Excellent Place To Overhaul Cars

By FRANK CAREY

Fort Devens, Mass., Oct. 30 (AP)—Uncle Sam has a swell place here for repairing and overhauling jeeps, staff cars, trucks and other motor vehicles for the army—but he ought to have scouting squads ready in case visitors get lost.

You see, it's one of those intimate buildings—occupying a tidy little area of five and three-quarters acres!

It's a six-room affair, but there's enough concrete in the floor to build a single-lane highway several miles long. The building boasts 985,000 New England bricks and a million feet of Oregon timber.

Almost 1,000 men are employed, most of them civilian mechanics. Two hundred vehicles are being manicured all the time, and an average of 40 are ready for the road again each day.

The War Department has invested almost $2,000,000 in this super-duper garage which bears the fancy name of "Fort Devens Ordnance Motor Base."

It is one of the largest places in the world for getting a fender fixed or a motor changed, and the War Department is planning to use it as a pattern for other "motor vehicle hospitals."

The big base has been in operation only a couple of months under direction of Colonel Harry C. Snyder, who was once affiliated with the Pierce-Arrow Company. In charge of maintenance in the base shop is Major M. C. Bourke.

"There's only one type of outfit that can compete with us," says Major Bourke, "and that's an automobile manufacturing plant. With our working staff of hundreds of men and tremendous equipment, including much salvage, there's nothing we can't rebuild."

Huge Parking Area

Outside the well-lighted building, there's a parking area larger than a Major League ball park. Hundreds of cars are there all the time—ranging from an ambulance requiring a new wheel to a ten-ton transport truck that needs a general overhaul.

The army doesn't waste any time fussing with cars that have been basked to a fare-thee-well. Salvage crews snap up any useable parts, and the derelict is then consigned to the junk heap for war scrap.

"We don't have to start out with the idea of doing a job that will make the car good for a couple of weeks or so," one of the officers said, "we give it the gun so that when the machine leaves here it's ready to be sent anywhere in the world."

Much repair work is done on the cars right in the "Chassis-Bay"—where the 200 machines under treatment are kept—such jobs as changing wheels, replacing fenders and the like. But if an engine and a heavy unit replacement is required, a mechanic gets out a small portable derrick, takes the engine right out, shoves in either a brand new one or a rebuilt one, and totes the sick one off to the motor repair line.

The motor section of the base already is on an assembly-like basis. The engines are completely dismantled in all instances, and then they are rebuilt, as they pass along a moving line flanked by experts specializing in various lines of engine repair.

So far as possible, they use parts salvaged from broken down cars but there are two big warehouses handy for new parts. Salvaged parts are also used in the repair of other sections of an automobile.

"When a car leaves here," smiled one of our guides, "it might have a fender from Camp Edwards on Cap Cod, a careburetor from Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont, and a radiator from Mitchel Field—but brother, it will be ready for the toughest roads."

The big base has a special department where scores of men work on nothing but electrical equipment; a section where repaired engines are given tough tests under "road" conditions; a woodwork shop; a blacksmith shop; a paint and trim department; and a "lubricatorium" where oil is shot into the engines under air pressure.

Even in the grease shop, the floors are so clean that you could almost spread a picnic lunch on them.

About the last thing you see is the first called into action when a car gets bunged up on the road—a huge wrecker, equipped with derrick, acetylene torches, all kinds of tools.

"This babe can pick a trolley car right off the ground," said one officer, laconically.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Japs Don't Sparkle

Spokane, Wash.—Joe V. Godfrey, radioman second class, came home from the Solomon Islands with a story of a Marine who forgot the password.

He was challenged when he approached the sentry.

"Don't shoot," he cried. "I'm a Marine, too."

And then remembering that Japanese have trouble pronouncing the letter "L," he quickly proved his point by saying,

"Sparkle, sparkle, sparkle!"

Sound Sleeper

Kimberley, Idaho—Blacksmith Bill Kilborn slept soundly while his shop, only 40 feet away, burned to the ground as firemen tried to save it.

His house caught fire, and the firemen scampered over the roof. Kilborn snoozed on.

Eventually one of the firemen broke a window, crawled in, awakened Kilborn—and broke the bad news.

Answer Man

Cheyenne, Wyo.—"Halt, who's there?" challenged Charles Lee, a new guard at Fort Warren.

The officer stopped, waited awhile, and then asked Lee, "What do you say now?"

"Just stick around, sir," Lee replied, "I'm trying to remember."

The officer stuck around — and Lee's memory was refreshed.

He was the officer of the day.

Permanent Fixture

Portland, Ore.—Max Isenstein has been selling papers at the same stand for 22 years. But he's going into the Army now, and he hates to lose his pet spot.

Mayor Earl Riley has come to his aid. He has asked the city council to reserve the place for Max until after the war.

Example Setter

Seattle, Wash.—Mayor William Devin, his wife and possibly their 12-year-old son will spend Saturday as harvest hands in an apple orchard.

The mayor explained he had encouraged city employes to help with the harvest.

So the No. 1 city employe will set the example.

Pace Setter

Elin, Ill.—Leo R. O'Flaherty, 43, believes in setting a good example.

O'Flaherty, chairman of Selective Service Board No. 1, waived a 3-A classification as a married man, set his own number aside, and plans to enlist in the Army as a private next week.

BIRTHDAYS ARE ONE REASON FOR CELEBRATING

We're celebrating a birthday this month, and we're making quite an occasion of it.

Birthdays are one reason for celebrating. But in times like these, we're likely to forget the many other reasons we Americans have for gratitude and celebration.

In spite of wartime pressures, we still have free choice in every important thing that goes to make up our daily lives.

For example, nobody tells you what to buy, and where to buy it. If you like Penney's, the goods we sell and our prices, you may shop with us. If not, you are free to buy elsewhere. Let us, then, stop to think how much life in America means to us all—and realize how much we have to fight for!

Tannenbaum Is Held For Further Testimony

Monticello, N. Y. Oct. 30 (AP)—Albert Tannenbaum, given a 7 to 10-year suspended sentence on a second degree manslaughter charge because he turned informer on Murder, Inc., Brooklyn-based killing syndicate, remains in custoday to testify in "many more cases."

Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell allowed Tannenbaum to plead guilty yesterday on this charge, in connection with the slaying of Irving Ashkenas, taxi driver, at Loch Sheldrake in 1936. Justice Russell imposed sentence and then suspended it. Tannenbaum originally had been indicted on a first degree murder charge.

At the same arraignment, the court dismissed an indictment accusing Tannenbaum of participating in the 1938 slaying of Hyman Yuran, New York city dress manufacturer described by police as a front man for Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, leader of Murder, Inc.

Justice Russell said the suspended sentence and indictment dismissal were recommended by District Attorney William Deckelman, Sullivan county, in exchange for testimony regarding syndicate murders in Brooklyn, the Bronx, Newark, N. J., and Los Angeles.

The court said Tannenbaum's testimony had resulted in many convictions and that he was to be kept in custody as a material witness to testify in "many more cases."

Rationing Causes Less Moonshining

Sugar Regulation Retards Illegal Liquor Output

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Sugar rationing is slashing the moonshiner's output of illegal liquor.

The rationing program was advanced today by the alcoholic tax administration as a potent factor in the sizeable drop in still seizures and arrests for liquor law violations.

Sugar is basic for the moonshiner's product, and he could be smacked with a penalty for sugar bootlegging if he tried to build up his depleted sugar stock.

Still seizures and arrests for liquor law violations dropped nearly half during July, August and September, compared with the corresponding three months of 1941, the tax administration said.

During the three months this year agents seized 1,536 stills and arrested 2,833 persons, compared with 2,782 seizures and 5,581 arrests in the same quarter-year of 1941.

Daily producing capacity of the stills seized in the 1942 period was 33,921 gallons, against 104,091 last year. The tax unit confiscated 16,183 gallons of spirits and 423,700 gallons of mash in the July-September period just past, compared with 58,333 gallons of spirits and 1,454,339 gallons of mash a year ago.

September seizures and arrests by supervisory districts of the tax administration were:

Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont: 1942—No stills, 409 gallons of spirits, 25 arrests; 1941—Four stills seized, daily producing capacity 29 gallons, 161 gallons of spirits and 700 of mash, 26 arrests.

New York State: 1942—14 stills, daily producing capacity 11,516 gallons, 632 gallons of spirits, 9,168 gallons of mash, 52 arrests; 1941—30 stills, daily producing capacity 4,958 gallons, 2,199 gallons of spirits, 8,633 gallons of mash, 72 arrests.

Jugoslavs to Kill Pro-Axis Traitors

Doom Officials Who Assist Nazi Invaders.

LONDON.—Jugoslavs are striking back at the reign of terror Nazi agents are waging in occupied Europe with a newly formed "execution corps" pledged to kill all traitorous public officials who help the Axis.

Reports reached refugee governments in London that the Axis secret police forces had unearthed a number of plots to sabotage the German war effort and stir up unrest in the occupied nations.

An unimpeachable source asserted that in occupied Jugsolavia the Axis had reason to fear for the lives of its puppet officers, as the Jugoslav government here has given patriot General Draja Mikhailovitch full powers to brand as traitors all Slavs and Croats who work for the occupation powers and to order their death by members of his new corps.

The corps already has begun its work, this source said, by killing a Professor Bulic, assistant chief of Serbian Fascist forces, at Cacak, 70 miles southwest of Belgrade.

Lists have been tacked up at night in all regions of Jugoslavia, bearing names of men marked for death because of their collaboration with the invaders, and the Jugoslav government here warned in a broadcast beamed to the homeland that all who co-operate with occupying authorities have been condemned to death.

General Mikhailovitch has freedom to direct the corps in his own way, it was said, "making sure that all puppet officials sooner or later are assassinated and the country rid of traitors."

Accidents Increase as Auto Tires Wear Thin

RALEIGH, N. C.—Rapidly thinning treads on automobile tires as a result of the rubber shortage and a jump of 250 per cent in fatal accidents from tire failures for North Carolina, figures for June made public by the highway safety division reveal.

"This is an alarming condition and is destined to become worse," T. Boddie Ward, commissioner of motor vehicles, declared. "It is a serious menace and a challenge to each motor vehicle driver."

In June of this year, 60 persons met death in 53 traffic accidents on streets and highways of the state.

Ward, stressing the danger to motorists, declared that thousands of "border-line" tires are now being operated on the state highways.

"Very few of these drivers have any chance of relief from the death menace to themselves and their families through the channels of tire replacement," he continued. "Where tires are thin and treads are slick the only salvation for the driver is added caution, alertness and speeds well below the suggested minimum of 35 miles per hour."

Inmates Mourn Warden

Inmates of Peterhead Prison sent a wreath to be laid on the grave of Warden T. J. Neil who died while walking along a street in Aberdeen, Scotland. This is the first time in the prison's history that prisoners have paid such a tribute to a warden.

SWEAT KEEPS MAN ALIVE

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—For 12 years a Knoxville man has been working early and late that he might perspire.

Suffering a peculiar ailment arising from adhesions, C. A. Stair must labor long hours daily so that perspiration may relieve his suffering and enable him to live. During the summer, he works in his flower garden. When winter comes he goes to his basement and shovels coal from the full bin to an empty one, repeating the process until spring.

Tale of Traveling Salesman

Washington, D. C. (AP) — Two traveling salesmen landed in the midst of a whirlwind scrap drive at Caribou, a town in Maine's potato-growing area. Finding no place of business open except the bank, they pitched in to help the townspeople cart in scrap metals. Officials reported that 624 tons of scrap, or 149 pounds per capita, were collected.

Ending Special Rights in China

Wide World Features

This year marks 100 years of extraterritoriality in China. It also marks beginning of the end of this system, for American and British governments have promised to give up extraterritorial rights.

Under extraterritoriality, foreign citizens in China who violate Chinese laws can be tried only by their own consul, are immune from native taxes. They enjoy the same rights that only diplomats enjoy in other lands. Chinese call this humiliating: it assumes their laws and institutions are inferior.

Before 1842, foreigners went to China mainly to make money. Strange Chinese laws were cramping. None of their own officials were there to restrain them. So they considered themselves exempt from all law.

The Chinese finally insisted that foreigners obey their laws. This led to repeated friction, finally to war with Britain over control of opium imports from India. The war's result was formal treaty relations between China and the West—and extraterritoriality.

By World War I, every major world power enjoyed extraterritorial rights. Chinese say the system's breakdown will give them equality among the United Nations.

STRIPPED OF TIRES

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) — The cartoon that always accompanied Roger V. Devlin's column, "The Rambler," in the Tulsa Tribune showed him in a sleek automobile on a country lane.

Came the rubber shortage and Devlin's readers began writing to the editor, wanting to know when Devlin was going to start conserving tires.

So Devlin, who really doesn't use an automobile in collecting the humor for his column, solved the situation.

The cartoon now shows the car on blocks, jacked up in a field, while Devlin is riding down the road on a bicycle.

People doing heaviest work in Germany get 1¾ pounds of meat a week.

By Junius

This Is What Hurts

I said that I would much rather wait and get married in the best of style,
For there were just hopes of nice young men waiting round for me to beguile.
But one day when I wasn't looking, Uncle Sam called loud and long,
So I was left with a dizzy head, plus girls, girls, girls, girls!—what a throng!
Now I knit and purl and wrap dressings, and save sugar and coffee and lard;
But I can't land a man till it's over, for there's none on my ration card.

—Ursella Wadleigh

Man—What did your wife say when you got home last night?

Friend—Not a word, and I was going to have those two front teeth pulled anyway.

Perhaps you have noticed it too, but it always seems that the funniest folks are those who have no sense of humor.

When everyone seems to be against you, chances are it's you—not they—who are wrong.

The hypocrite is the fellow who will eat cloves to make his friends think he has had a drink.

These days, beauty isn't even skin deep.

Every dog has his day . . . and every cat, her knight.

A little Scotch boy was being quizzed by his teacher.

Teacher—How much are six plus six?

Scotch boy—Twelve.

Teacher—Correct—and here are twelve chocolates for having been correct.

Scotch boy—Teacher, next time give me something hard in multiplication.

Second-grade children were facing the problem of addition. One boy jumped up.

Boy—I know how much ten and ten are.

Boy—Twenty-one.

Whereupon another alert young citizen in the second grade gave a cackle and replied:

Second Boy—You don't have a federal tax on second-grade arithmetic.

The youth of America, and also a large portion of our adult population, understand what "pinch-hitting" means in a ball game. Those who do not need only to be told that it is substitution of a better batsman.

There is "pinch-hitting" in almost every activity of life—substitutions of men, and women too, who under the circumstances may do better jobs than those who hold them.

In our preparations for war we have been for some time and are still substituting "pinch-hitters."

"Pinch-hitting" is as important in local defense as it may be in national offense. Are you qualifying yourself for such a role?

Top Sergeant (singing out just before the company was dismissed)—All those fond of music step two paces forward.

With visions of a soft job in the regimental band, half a dozen men stepped out.

Sergeant (growled)—Now then, you six mugs get busy and carry that piano up to the top floor of the officers quarters.

Teacher (to boy sitting idly in school during writing time)—Henry, why are you not writing?

Henry—I ain't got no pen.

Teacher—Where's your grammar?

Henry—She's dead.

Japs Utilize Worms

Silkworm cocoons are being used as vitamin pills in Japan, reports from Tokyo reveal. Curtailment of silk exports due to the war has created a large surplus of the cocoons, and they are being diverted to new uses. The Silk Utilization Company now claims that a cocoon is the proper tidbit to relieve that tired feeling, listlessness and even depression from war news, because it contains vitamin B.

Milk Rationing Dodged

Farmers of Northern Ireland have been asked to increase winter milk production to avoid milk rationing. Prices for liquid milk are expected to rise from the prevailing rate of 43 cents a gallon to 50 cents in December and January. Sales have risen in Northern Ireland from 15,000,000 gallons a year, pre-war, to 22,000,000 gallons, and the demand is mounting, it is reported in Belfast.

WILLOW ANSWERS MR. NIP

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — If your next door farmer begins harvesting the mesquite -like plant out in his pasture don't call for the paddy wagon—he may be reaping a crop of insecticide.

Ever since the Japs overran the Dutch East Indies, the insecticide rotenone—good for dipping animals as well as spraying vegetables—has been hard to come by.

Oklahoma Agricultural experiment station insecticide sleuths believe they have the answer in the cat willow or so-called river locust. This plant has rotenone in its bean, and it is about as common on the plains as mesquite.

Paraguay has set aside funds for the construction and repair of churches.

VOTING PROPERLY

Throughout the ninety-one election districts in Ulster county voting machines will be used for the general election on Tuesday, November 3. All voters should know how to manipulate these machines properly so that their votes will count.

Because voters fail to follow instructions, hundreds of votes are registered blank and hundreds of votes are cast for candidates not intended for. If a voter is not absolutely sure that he can vote properly, he should ask for instructions before entering the booth and pulling the handle which closes the curtain.

It is important to remember that after entering the booth and pulling the red handle to the right as far as it will go until it clicks, to pull the voting levers down over the names of the candidates and leave them down. After you have voted pull the red handle to the left as far as it will go and leave the booth. As long as the voter is inside the curtain, he may change his vote, if he discovers he has made a mistake, by pushing back a lever and pulling down another. When finished pulling down levers they must be left down, if they are to be recorded.

THE GYPSIES

Word comes from Meridian, Miss., of the death of the king of the gypsies, 85-year-old Emil Mitchell. Every so often a story like this appears, reminding the world that there is no shortage of gypsy kings. Every town harboring a settlement of these wanderers possesses a king, usually self-appointed, and accepted only by those families of his race whom he can help. Ability to get them on relief is one quality that the gypsies value in their king. They also turn to him for help when in minor difficulties with the police. Thus the gypsy king is a good deal like the ward captain of a political machine.

In these respects the gypsies have fallen in with the customs of the country. In most others they are willing to remain a race apart. It is this failure to assimilate that makes them interesting to Americans.

To most people their origin and racial relationship are utterly obscure. To students of the tribe, however, they are no mystery. It is now generally agreed that the gypsies came originally from North India, expelled about the 14th century. Their language is related to Sanskrit, the oldest language of the Aryan world. They have become wanderers over the face of the earth, carrying with them their skill with tools, their lightfingeredness and their haunting music. Probably they also gave Europe playing cards. Both cards and gypsies appeared in the West about the same time, and everyone knows the gypsy practice of telling fortunes by cards.

UNDAUNTED MALTA

One place that Hitler wishes did not exist is Malta. That undaunted British island in the middle of the Mediterranean has just brought down its 1,000th Nazi plane in three years. So great an obstacle has it been to German reinforcement in North Africa that very likely, but for Malta, Rommel might have conquered Egypt.

Naturally the Germans have done their best to wipe out this obstacle. Constant bombing day and night since the war started has been Malta's fate. If islands could speak, Malta might say with the poet Henley's hero,

> "Under the bludgeonings of chance
> My head is bloody but unbowed.
> And yet the menace of the years

IRON AND SUBSTITUTES

Iron ore production continues to be one of the most impressive features of this war. It is pouring from the Lake Superior district at the incredible rate of 100,000,000 tons a year. And it might be said truly that that small area is doing more to win the war than any other region on earth. Without it the Axis might win.

Fortunately the Superior deposits of accessible, high-grade ore are ample for this war. But they are not inexhaustible. At the present rate of production the best ores are expected to run out in six or seven years. There will be plenty of low-grade ore left, there and elsewhere in the country, but probably never again will there be so vast a deposit to use for so crucial a purpose.

So it is obviously necessary to find metal substitutes for iron as rapidly as possible. They will be found in the lighter metals, aluminum, magnesium and various others, whose ores are found liberally in North and South America, but are not available yet in adequate quantities. They are the metals most needed for aerial use in war and peace, and are probably the important metals of the future.

The folly of the Nazis is well summed up by Storm Jameson, the novelist. She says, "If you take away every other weapon and leave a country to its memories, it will use them to defeat you."

Rubber Czar Jeffers was asked by a woman, "When will the war be over?" He gave the only possible answer: "When we win it."

Fire prevention is one way to serve your country.

PERITONEOSCOPE

It is only natural that many patients fear an abdominal operation; there is something about making an opening into the abdomen that gives them a queer chilly feeling. So much is such an operation dreaded that almost any other form of treatment, however painful or prolonged, is preferred to the usual abdominal operation.

It is for the patient fearing abdominal operation and for the physician who would like to know more about the condition of certain organs in the abdomen that peritoneoscopy is now coming into more general use.

Some months ago I spoke of peritoneoscopy, which is looking into the abdomen by means of a small instrument which is plunged through the outer wall of the abdomen. The cases mentioned were in the United States.

Recently, the British Lancet recorded the use of the peritoneoscope in 125 cases by Drs. R. M. Walker and P. L. Playfair. Peritoneoscopy was performed in 95 cases under a local anaesthetic, under a general anaesthetic in 29 cases, and by an anaesthetic into the spinal canal in one case.

Peritoneoscopy will save many patients the risk and discomfort of opening up the abdomen to find out what is wrong when the physician and surgeon are not sure just what is wrong despite symptoms present and tests made. This is called an "exploratory" operation, because the surgeon is exploring the abdomen in an effort to find the cause of the symptoms.

What are the advantages of using this instrument which requires but the making of a tiny hole into the abdomen instead of the opening made by abdominal operation?

"Of 32 patients with cancer of the stomach, 9 showed that the cancer had extended to other organs and it was too late to operate."

Of 18 patients whose liver was greatly enlarged and there was excess fluid in the abdomen (ascitis or dropsy) 10 showed cancer present, 4 hardening of the liver, 2 an inflamed liver, and 2 showed liver cells to be crowded out by fat.

I am mentioning but two of the organs of the abdomen in which much helpful information was gained so that the physician was able to come to a decision to operate or not to operate.

The condition of the organs of abdomen—kidneys, uterus, ovaries—is likewise reported in this series of cases.

BABSON ON BUSINESS

Babson Discusses Use of Endowments

New York City, Oct. 30—Inquiries are coming from schools and colleges as to what their financial policy should be during the war. As to curriculum, this may be out of my line, although Mrs. Babson and I are largely responsible for Babson Institute and Webber College. Both will continue operating, and should be crowded with students when the War is over. Like other patriotic schools, we expect much smaller than normal attendance during the war. As to financial policies, however, I am qualified to speak.

Patriotic Demands

These comments, therefore, are directed to parents, to Boards of Incorporators, Boards of Trustees and the faculties of educational institutions, especially those exempt from taxation. These have an extra obligation to our country to which they pay no taxes, and particularly to their local communities which do not even tax their real estate. This puts educational institutions in an entirely different class from commercial, industrial and other business corporations. Colleges, therefore, should forget themselves entirely. After carrying out contacts with present students they should put the good of the country first — certainly before their faculties and other employes.

During the recent business depression it was up to all such institutions, especially those tax-exempt, to do what they could to prevent unemployment and to keep faculties and others employed. Today the situation is very different. Most men and women now working for educational institutions are needed in war work and we should endeavor to get on without them wherever possible. The United Nations must win this war or all of our educational institutions, as we now know them, will go out of existence. Certainly, Endowment Funds would be wiped out. To try to maintain the present curriculum and staffs is, in my humble opinion, unpatriotic, unbusinesslike and unfair to the students. This is especially true now that the 18-year-olds are to be drafted.

What About Women's Colleges?

Temporarily, women's colleges have an advantage. The draft law does not yet effect women. On the other hand, all those concerned should see what is happening to women's colleges in Germany, Italy, Japan, and the occupied nations. Even in England their curriculum has been entirely changed with great stress upon vocational work. Colleges are justified in training women to become expert stenographers and typists, accurate accountants and machine workers. To ask girls, however, to continue college during the remainder of this war under the cultural college program is, to my mind, absolutely wicked.

Naturally, the officers and department heads of many institutions are loathe to make such changes. Such men and women are naturally conservative and are often the last to recognize the seriousness conditions that this country faces. Hence, it is especially important that the trustees should take a hand at this critical moment. Trustees as a rule are good-natured, intelligent gentlemen who usually, and rightly so, let the president run the institution, being content to back him up and collect their fees. Such a policy is alright in ordinary times, but these are extraordinary times. Today trustees should assert their power in case the president and faculty do not cooperate 100 per cent in the necessary readjustment.

What About Endowment Funds?

College Finance Committees should seek diversification under normal conditions. Furthermore, as bonds become due, colleges may be justified now in reinvesting a certain proportion of the money in corporation bonds of a similar character in order to enjoy proper diversification. Certainly, any surplus income from endowment or other funds should be invested only in government bonds, preferably the so-called "Series G." Furthermore, an effort should be made to reduce expenses so as to buy more government bonds. Certainly, income from endowment funds should not now be used to pay faculty members and other employes who are needed in war work. This applies especially to the unnecessary overhead with which so many educational institutions are saddled and to those instructors whose courses are not directly contributory to the war work.

Some college presidents and deans will argue regarding being ready for carrying on after the war. I am not advocating the closing of any institution however small or weak. Let every institution continue to keep open; but let it confine itself for the duration to subjects which will directly and today help win the war. This means running more or less on a skeleton basis and especially soliciting for students, older persons who are not capable of doing war work but, owing to the war, are temporarily out of business.

Instructional Possibilities

There are hundreds of thousands of men, from automobile salesmen to housewives, who for the duration are out of business. It is a wonderful opportunity for them to use the next year or two in securing the education of which they have always felt the need. For the benefit of such men and women all colleges should be kept open, although run more or less on a skeleton basis. Let me further add that such mature students should get much more out of their work when a member of small student groups, say 20 per cent of normal enrollment. Hence, the next year or more presents a golden opportunity for businessmen too old to enter the war and to women otherwise too busy.

INDEMNITY CANCELLED

After 75 years in which its war indemnity has grown to astronomical figures, Paraguay has been freed of the obligation so far as Argentina is concerned. The indemnity was a sequel to the war between Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay on the one hand and Paraguay on the other. When it was imposed in 1867 it amounted to ten thousand million pesos. It is said in Buenos Aires that Argentina never intended the indemnity should be paid. President Castillo signed the cancellation law on the 450th anniversary of the founding of Paraguay's capital, Asuncion.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

In Kingston on Saturday, September 10, 1927, the sesquicentennial of the events leading to the founding of the state of New York was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies with Governor Alfred E. Smith, Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Senator John Knight, Assemblyman Joseph A. McGinnies and State Historian Alexander C. Flick among the guests of honor.

Governor Smith laid the cornerstone of the new state historical museum on the ground of the old Senate House, when he spoke on the establishment of the state. Others who spoke were Judge A. T. Clearwater and Mrs. Alton B. Parker.

The day was marked by a historical pilgrimage to the old houses in Kingston and Old Hurley, and with addresses by Senators Wadsworth and Knight, Assemblyman McGinnies and the state historian.

The celebration was brought to a close with the presentation of a historical pageant re-enacting the adoption of the first state constitution, the inauguration of George Clinton the state's first governor, the first meeting of the supreme court, and other important events leading up to the birth of New York state.

The pageant was presented with several hundred local people in the cast at the Kingston Driving Park on North Manor avenue, and was viewed by thousands.

With the observance of the 150th anniversary of the state in September, 1927, here it was also interesting to recall that half a century earlier, on July 10, 1877, the centennial of New York state was celebrated in Kingston.

The 100th anniversary was observed with artillery firing, a military parade, oratory, feasting and a big display of fireworks at night.

The centennial drew some 30,000 visitors to Kingston that July day, and among the speakers was the late Senator Chauncey M. Depew, who was still living when the 150th anniversary was celebrated here in 1927.

In the summer of 1927 the Religious and Social Committee of the Emanuel Baptist Church bought the old concrete barn of the Newark Lime & Cement Co. on East Union street, overlooking the former railroad yards of the old Ulster & Delaware railroad, and were planning to remodel it into a church.

Plans for the alterations had been prepared by Architect Augustus R. Schrowang, while the building committee to raise the necessary fund was headed by the Rev. Charles B. Smith, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, with Frank W. Matthews as treasurer, Harry A. Tremper as secretary, and Floyd W. Powell as attorney.

Deflation of Management's Personal Finances Comes as Regrettable Occurrence at This Moment

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 30—It is most regrettable that, in the midst of war, the management group—America's most successful and enterprising managers—should suddenly be saddled with a problem of deflating their personal finances. It would be a sacrifice eagerly made if the purpose was to raise money to finance the war, but that isn't the object of the President's executive order which reduces the salaries of the management group.

It would be understandable, too, if the reduction affected war-made compensation, but it goes back to pre-war salaries and provides an unnecessary, if not wholly unfair, attack on the management group who are expected to work long hours and stretch their energies many fold to supervise the biggest production job handled by any nation in all history.

The scars of war wear off, as do the hardships, but unfairness is never forgotten. There is manifest unfairness in what the President has ordered done. It hardly seems possible that he could have realized the damage he was doing to the morale of the very men the nation depends on for management of the entire war program.

For Congress didn't order the reduction in pre-war salaries, nor did Congress fix any limits on what a man might be paid. Congress very properly passed a tax bill to raise revenue and, if the limitation of incomes had been accomplished in the lawful manner that a revenue measure operates there would not be such a feeling of discouragement.

But when Congress refused to legislate any such limitation on salaries and the executive order undertakes to use war powers to accomplish what Congress declined to enact, the whole episode becomes more than a mere segment of a so-called anti-inflation program. It becomes a matter of vital principal and makes a mockery of the cry that America is fighting to preserve her constitution. In this instance a blunder has been made in usurping power that Congress did not delegate, and it now becomes necessary for Congress to assert its rights and in the next tax bill, if not sooner, prohibit the Bureau of Internal Revenue from using any of its so-called powers for the purpose of reducing salaries or incomes except as provided in the revenue laws on the statute books.

If the President wishes a limitation on salaries, he should ask Congress to provide the same not only for salaries but for investment income. If Congress declines, he should certainly in sportsmanlike fashion abide by the result.

There is one lesson that American politics has taught, namely that people who lose a fight must be magnanimous and not punitive. The administration lost its fight for limitation of top salaries through the income tax laws, and now endeavors to do under the guise of anti-inflation what it could not obtain by actual legislation.

There is no persuasive way to prevent inflation by reducing pre-war salaries. This is really deflation and nothing in the statute says anything about deflation.

Many inequities are produced by the very executive order which seeks to remove so-called inequities. Thus out of the 48 states and the District of Columbia, there are fourteen states where no state income tax laws prevail. In the fourteen states, the citizen can retain $25,000 while in the other thirty-four and the District of Columbia, a citizen cannot retain $25,000 no matter what his salary above that figure happens to be. Why should a so-called federal order be applied without uniformity? What possible objection was there to allowing the citizens of the thrity-five areas to deduct their state taxes, so they could be on a parity with the citizens of the fourteen states?

This is but one of many inequalities; the worst of which is that the president of a company making war supplies can receive only a net income of $25,000 while the stockholders who clip coupons or get dividends from that same company can receive unlimited amounts. Also, though the revenue laws provide for a review of income tax rulings and decisions by the courts, the new executive order seeks to deprive the citizen of any court review. This means that labor unions, as well as employers, must accept the findings of fact and the interpretations of a bureau employe as final. Never before have American citizens been treated in such high-handed manner. It's a regrettable blunder in the midst of war.

If the government needs 100 per cent of all incomes over $25,000 or everything over $5,000, the average citizen will gladly accept such a ruling as necessary to finance the war, but he will prefer that legislation specifically say so, instead of being ordered to obey a law Congress never passed.

"What About Germany?" by Louis P. Lochner

As a study of the German mind and body functioning under the pressure of Nazi ideology, Louis P. Lochner's "What About Germany?" is close to unique among the books of returning correspondents. Mr. Lochner has been 21 years in Germany for The Associated Press. His German experience has been far greater than that of any other important American newsman. And temperamentally he is of the watchful, careful type, disinclined toward snap judgments. His book is therefore a book of information and careful, balanced statement.

It is concentrated on the years of the Nazi locust — someday he almost surely will do another book, perhaps after he has retrieved his large stock of papers, now safely hidden in Berlin. This will probably bridge the gap between the old regime and the regime that must follow this war. "What About Germany?" is an examination of Hitler's successes so far, his headaches, and the things that can be done to make the headache worse.

Mr. Lochner's description of the technique used by Hitler in taking over power is heartbreaking, because it would have been so simple to stop him. His system of throwing over, one after another, the restrictions placed on Germany is just as bitter in retrospect, because Mr. Lochner is convinced that even Hitler did not expect to manage many of the things he tried. But the rest of the world accepted them supinely. Then the exposition of Hitler's means of softening up and undermining his prospective conquests, and the extraordinary military astuteness by which one man was assigned one task, and given every facility (not being forced to compete with a rival in another branch of the service).

Mr. Lochner is by no means a defeatist. Hitler's headaches are, he shows, based on organic defects that can be reached, and reached now. Transportation is one of the most painful, just for an example. The great motor roads are failures, and further blasting of rail centers and track and equipment is one of the great needs. "What About Germany?" is a book to be read immediately.

RATIONS END AT GRAVE

Undertakers in Sydney, Australia, voice the sentiments of their personnel throughout Australia when they protest that they should not be required to carry out duties rightly belonging to officials. When undertakers complete the last rites they must collect from next-of-kin the decedent's ration book and identity card. It is painful and embarassing to both undertakers and relatives, declare the morticians.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington — Come time to pay it, the new federal tax bill is going to knock the noggin off so many people that that old word "complacency" will be lost to the language.

This country is as much of a hodge-podge economically as it is geographically so nobody is going to be able to set up any tables and say: "Here, brother, is just what you are up against."

There is, however, one little group here in Washington that is a pretty fair example of what some of us are going to be up against. That's the $1,440-a-year or minimum pay, government clerks. Many of them are girls.

Not many months ago, the Department of Labor went into the "minimum cost of a decent living standard" for government girls pretty thoroughly. If the Department of Labor statisticians had any ax to grind, try and find it. They weren't after getting wages up or down. They were only trying to set up a minimum budget by which government girls, at starting salaries could exist. The total, according to this estimate, was $1,313.08.

To itemize it here would take more space than I have, but just to give you an idea of how ungenerous the D.L. was being with its estimates, it allowed only $13 for "miscellaneous" and only $29 for the year for savings.

Since then, times have changed considerably. There's that 5 per cent for the federal retirement fund, $72 a year, on which Miss G. Girl will realize when she arrives at the ripe age of 60.

Then there's 10 per cent for War Savings bonds. This isn't compulsory, of course, but the pressure can be pretty terrific when every one around you is doing his or her bit in that direction. That means $144 more.

Now comes the tax—the spanking new federal tax. That will be in the neighborhood of $170.

Add it up. The G-Girl who used to hit that minimum budget on the nose and come out with $100 or so to the good for a trip home or some other luxury, now is going to come out $100 to $250 minus, depending on how patriotic she is in buying those war bonds.

All this is, of course, hypothetical, even in Washington. How can you set down any minimum figure for decent rentals in a city where it is discovered that 133 soldiers (studying radio engineering) are paying $20 a month apiece for cot space in a converted warehouse?

On the other hand, some compassionate landlords and ladies are providing very decent rooms at less than that.

Some G-Girls, according to bureau counselors, earn minimum wages and send money home every month, but just how they manage it is a mystery to the counselors. Perhaps some of the story is told in the rapidly rising curve of personal loans to government employes in the lower brackets.

Juilliard Singers Form Troupe for "Figaro"

The Julliard Graduate School in New York City was the meeting place of the young singers whose new and exciting production of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" will be heard here Monday, November 2, at 7:30 p. m. in the Kingston High School Auditorium, under the auspices of Cooperative Concerts, Inc. Their talents had won them scholarships to study at this school which has produced such great Metropolitan singers as the tenor, Charles Kullman, and the mezzo-soprano, Rise Stevens. Although young, the oldest member of the troupe is now thirty—they were even at that time experienced troupers. A majority of them had been selected by the distinguished conductor, Albert Stoessel, for his Chautauqua Opera Company. All of them had won concert laurels.

The Nine O'clock Opera Troupe has based its production of "Figaro" on the belief that good opera, like good theatre, must be alive and not a mummified tradition. The Italians have always heard their Wagner in Italian and the Germans their Verdi in German. These singers believed America should have a chance to hear opera in their own language.

The big problem which faced the company was that of bringing opera to the American public when burdened with elaborate scenery. The answer came through Thornton' Wilder's "Our Town." The enormous Broadway success of this play proved that substitution of a good script and an artful narrator for the usual scenery, the audience will use its imagination to help build the set itself. It is on this principle that "The Marriage of Figaro" is produced.

The role of narrator in Mozart's opera is analagous to the one Frank Craven did in "Our Town."

Gean Greenwell, bass baritone, a tall young man from the rugged mountains of Utah, takes this part and also acts the role of Antonio, the gardener. A newcomer this season to the company, he succeeds David Otto who is now in the army. As the narrator, he supplies the explanations and comment introduced to make up for the lack of scenery and the cuts made in the action.

Mr. Greenwell interrupted a career in Broadway operettas to accept a fellowship at the Julliard School where he prepared for concert and opera tour. He has sung six times at the Worcester Festival eight seasons with the Chautauqua Opera Company, four years with the Russian Opera and with the Detroit Civic Opera. He has also appeared with the New York Philharmonic Symphony as soloist as well as with the Cleveland Orchestra and the Indianapolis Symphony.

The little troupe consisting of seven singers and the piano accompanist is bringing somethng new to communities all over America and in Canada.

Business Girls Hear Talk on Health and Defense

Members of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. had an interesting program on "Health and National Defense" following their weekly supper Wednesday evening. Clarence Dumm, principal of the high school, was the speaker, and Mrs. Gertie Smith, health director, put the group through its paces with an active program of exercises for health, followed by folk drills.

Aside from the obvious reasons for keeping well that might have been stressed a year ago, Mr. Dumm stated that there were several added reasons to make the subject vital. One fact was the shortage of doctors. Secondly he mentioned the economic angle, and the necessity of keeping up the pace of production, for labor shortage often makes it impossible to replace the time lost through illness. Each person should make every effort to keep well, as an example to those whom we may unconsciously influence, and as a patriotic duty, he said.

During the club business meeting, over which the president, Miss Ethel Oesterling presided, the members decided to furnish four kits for service men in cooperation with the Red Cross. Tables at the supper were decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. The program for the next meeting will be Chinese with a talk on Chiang Kai Shek by Mrs. William Kingman and a Chinese menu. The evening will conclude with roller-skating in the gymnasium.

80TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Two married daughters and one married son who want to celebrate their mother's 80th birthday anniversary ask five questions:

1. Would an evening at home be suitable?
2. And if so how should the invitations be worded and should the names of son's wife and the daughters' husbands be included?
3. What should we serve?
4. Would it be necessary for the mother to stand when greeting guests or, would her age and the fact that she is rather frail, permit her to remain seated?
5. Since people will be arriving and leaving at various times, when should the birthday cake be cut?

In answer to these: 1. Yes, very. 2. If a third person invitation is sent out then the three "Mr. and Mrs." names should be put at the top. I think personal notes written by hand on note paper and signed by you all in order of your ages would be most appealing. For example:

Will you and Uncle Jim come to our celebration of
Mother's eightieth birthday
on Saturday evening
November 24
from 8 to 10 o'clock
Mary,
George

To any of the guests who might be in doubt as to who you are, names would have to be signed in full. 3. Sandwiches and little iced cakes, coffee and fruit punch. 4. Certainly she may be seated. You might choose as high a chair as possible with a stiff, thick cushion on it, so that the effect of being seated is not especially apparent. Put the chair in a pleasant part of the room rather than at the door of entrance. 5. At about 9 o'clock.

Invitations Never Bid for Presents

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is marrying a man in the armed services in another town and we are having the wedding in a church there and giving a reception at a club, but I am sure very few people will be able to be present because of the distance. However, she would like us to send invitations to everyone just the same. Might not the invitation, under such circumstances, seem to be a bid for presents rather than the friendly impulse intended in suggesting this procedure.

Answer: Not really, an invitation merely means "We will welcome you if you can come." No invitation means "You are not expected." No matter how good the reason for choosing announcements instead of invitations these are the impressions made.

Be sure that your stationery and phraseology is correct whenever you write a letter. Send for Mrs. Post's booklet, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing," enclosing ten cents. Address Mrs. Post, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

they had completed a survey of available man and woman power.

The Chief Executive told reporters he would not put it that way. They did talk, he said, about the general reservoir of available labor in this country, male and female. It was felt, he added, that with close to 6,000,000 people in the armed forces and so many men already at work in war factories, not many men are left to fill up needs for the coming year for some 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 additional workers.

The problem of ample labor, Mr. Roosevelt indicated, is not acute at the moment. Mighty few places, he said, are shut down now for lack of labor. This situation may not continue to prevail, however, and he said that efforts were being made to look ahead to needs for 1943.

Nurses' Luncheon-Meeting

the four great powers—America, Britain, Russia and China — who maintain peace. It is better to have a small committee than a big one. It is less cumbersome.

"When you get real peace you some day will have Germany, Italy and Japan back in the League. But they can't be entrusted with arms for a long time to come.

Are Averse to War

"The older Germans are averse to war but the younger are Hitlerites. We must maintain control in Germany until the new generation can be educated. So far as Italy is concerned, there seems to be a general rejection of Fascism.

"We should get the League functioning with peace. There are a lot of things we can't do without it. For instance, we must feed the hungry peoples and we say we are going to move back into their own countries all those who have been transported by Hitler.

"The peace conference could lay down principles—as regards boundaries for instance—and then the League would take over. You can't get just decisions out of the atmosphere of a Versailles conference. The League would provide the right atmosphere.

"It could give good opinions about such great problems as those involved in the boundaries of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

"Plebiscites are no good to settle such issues. Plebiscites always are faked. It is better to leave these questions to an impartial body like the League.

"And we must have the four great powers working in the closest cooperation."

When Cecil referred to the Versailles atmosphere he of course had in mind the animosities and in some cases the fierce hatreds which were in evidence. I was there and saw the treaty signed, and never shall I forget the bitterness registered in the livid faces of the German delegates as they left the palace after the ordeal. You didn't need anything more to tell you there would be another war.

"All the people of good will should consider these things now," said Cecil. "There is a general movement toward an international institution of some sort. In the new League we can't permit the guilty to arm. They must be controlled. We can't allow another war.

"However, we can't exclude them economically from the League. We mustn't break up Germany. That wouldn't last for an hour.

"The war guilty must be tried, but they must have guarantees of fair treatment. They should be tried before special tribunals. For Hitler and other leaders there must be an international tribunal. They must in some way be removed from society."

There was a pause, and then from low down in the old armchair came hopefully:

"Perhaps the Germans themselves will shoot Hitler and the French will guillotine Laval."

ties and Milton O'Brien of Cedar Grove. No date for the hearing has been set by Judge Schirmer because of the large number of cases pending now before him as a result of former difficulties at the plant.

Justice Schirmer said today that he was taking up the cases in chronological order and since jury trials are being sought, difficulty is being experienced in getting juries to try the numerous cases. The complainants in the cases Wednesday were Edward Camfort and Horton Pearson. Joseph M. Campbell appeared for the defendants and Louis G. Bruhn for the complainants.

The first of two cases growing out of the labor difficulties at the Kellburn plant are to be heard before Justice Schirmer on November 6 when jury trials are to be had. One trial is set down for 7:30 o'clock when the case of Rose M. Scarcelli against Sadie Lorezel is to be heard. That is a disorderly conduct charge and arose out of an incident some time ago. At 8:30 that same evening the second case will be heard when Sadie Lorezel, complainant, will be heard on a complaint against Rose M. Scarcelli. This is a charge of assault, third degree.

Judge Schirmer said that three additional cases have been set down for a hearing on November 13. Difficulty in securing jurors for jury trials he said had caused delay in bringing the several cases into court but he said they would all be heard as rapidly as possible and in the order in which the complaints were made. Because of the numerous cases now pending and the difficulty in knowing just when a jury can be on hand no definite adjournment date was taken in the three cases which came up during the trouble on Wednesday.

Dewey Tells East Siders Democrats Are Unconscious Regarding Present Needs

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Carrying his drive for the governorship into Manhattan's teeming lower East Side, Thomas E. Dewey declared last night the state Democratic party was "blissfully unconscious" of present needs and that New York could be assured a liberal administration only by electing the Republican ticket.

Democratic Candidate John J. Bennett, Jr., told a Bronx rally the Republicans were seeking votes on the claim that the New Deal had wanted war and had "hurried" the nation into it.

Dean Alfange, American Labor party candidate, in a radio talk proposed establishment of milk distribution as a public utility.

Dewey, repeating his contention that the Democrats represented "reaction" and the Republicans were the "party of progress," asserted in two speeches that the Democratic state organization backed laws in reply to "public clamor," but "proceeded to forget" them once passed.

He said the Democrats had failed to enforce efficiently the unemployment insurance and old-law tenement measures, for example.

Asserting that the main thing standing out as the campaign neared the end was that the Democrats had not indicated that they were "looking ahead" in planning for the state administration, Dewey continued:

"The people have no time or place for men whose eyes are upon the past * * *. We are not running on the records of by-gone officials and what they did in the dear, dead days beyond recall.

"The Democratic candidates have had all these weeks to come to life. Now, on the Thursday before election, what is the total of their views for the future? They offer experience and not even their own experience * * *. They offer the experience of men who went before them.

"They have not given one single indication that they are looking ahead, except, prayerfully, to prospective jobs. Oh, yes, I almost forgot, and that little matter of the control of the Democratic National Convention in 1944.

"Of the new problems that already face us, the Democratic party has been blissfully unconscious. x x x. What ideas have the Democrats proposed for these vital years ahead? The silence is deafening!"

Addressing a statewide radio audience from the Bronx rally, Bennett displayed a copy of an advertisement he said appeared last Thursday in "The Cornwall Local," and declared:

"This ad names Dewey and all his associates and urges the readers to 'vote the Republican ticket, row A all the way' because of 'the war which the New Deal wanted and hurried us into.' The ad then reaches an all-time low in political debauchery by terming the Selective Service Act, introduced by Republican James Wadsworth, as a 'crackpot draft system'."

Bennett continued:

"When your boy goes before the draft board, they do not ask his religion. With American boys on ships, planes and tanks fighting against odds at Guadalcanal that Mr. Dewey and all of us may live in this glorious democracy, it seems almost treason to me that Mr. Dewey has not repudiated those fifth column slurs which have been circulating more than a week."

Bennett renewed his charge that Dewey supporters were appealing to bigotry and racial and religious prejudices to get votes, and declared:

"Gleaming bayonets across the shoulders of your boys marching into battle points upward to the God of all of us. Many a bigot's life has been saved by the sacrifice of one whose church the bigot hated.

"Mr. Dewey has been advised to coast. His strategy is the strategy of silence. But silence, while calumnies and subversive statements are undermining our war effort, is not shooting straight with our fighting forces."

Alfange said the distribution of milk "should be taken out of the hands of the monopolies that control it and covered with the safeguards of public utility."

"x x x only under some such public supervision will the hard-working dairy farmers of this state receive a fair price for their milk while the consumers enjoy a reduction in price," he asserted. "I promise you that as governor I will place milk high on the first order of business."

Capitol Hill Is Occupied With Force Consolidation Of Army, Navy and Marines

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Against a background of momentous reports from the Solomons, Capitol Hill attention focused today on propositions to revamp the fighting services, Washington wartime agencies and, moreover, congressional procedure—all aimed at greater military striking power.

Overshadowing all other proposals was that to combine the Army, Navy and Marine Corps into a single, coordinated fighting force, wearing one type of uniform and directed by one command.

Other propositions engaging the attention of senators and representatives included:

1. Creation of a congressional "high command" committee to coordinate and expedite wartime legislation.
2. Sweeping reorganization of federal agencies through establishment of an over-all Office of War Mobilization guided by an "economic general staff."

The three far-reaching propositions generally were aimed at erasing what some of their sponsors termed "jealousy" in the fighting forces, "red tape" in government and "duplication of effort" and slow action in Congress.

Rep. Maas (R.-Minn.), ranking minority member of the House naval committee and himself a Marine colonel, proposed the amalgamation of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps into one fighting force, and said he would offer legislation to put it into effect unless the administration beat him to it.

His proposal gathered support quickly, and in the Senate Senator Lee (D.-Okla.) declared the United States should have a "unified supreme command" with "one minister of warfare."

Declaring that the greatest weapon of warfare now is airpower, Lee said the supreme command "should be invested in an air general."

"While I do not believe all the reports I hear," he told the Senate, "yet when these reports continue as they are today concerning the jealousy which is going on between different branches of our armed forces; for example, in the battle of the Solomon Islands and Wake Island as to who is entitled to the glory, then I say it is time for responsible officials of the government to give consideration to the question of a united command."

Some Capitol Hill observers speculated privately that the transfer of the Army-Navy football game to Annapolis, and restrictions on attendance, indicated an effort to remove the spirit of rivalry between the land and sea forces in wartime, and that this year's Army-Navy tilt may be the last for the duration.

The proposition for revamping of federal governmental agencies, aimed at complete wartime mobilization of the nation's resources in both materials and manpower, was presented in a bill offered by Rep. Tolan (D.-Calif.), chairman of a special committee which recently reported that "despite numerous realignments, 10 months after Pearl Harbor business-as-usual consideration still permeate the Washington wartime agencies."

Fort Devens Has Excellent Place To Overhaul Cars

By FRANK CAREY

Fort Devens, Mass., Oct. 30 (AP)—Uncle Sam has a swell place here for repairing and overhauling jeeps, staff cars, trucks and other motor vehicles for the army—but he ought to have scouting squads ready in case visitors get lost.

You see, it's one of those intimate buildings—occupying a tidy little area of five and three-quarters acres!

It's a six-room affair, but there's enough concrete in the floor to build a single-lane highway several miles long. The building boasts 985,000 New England bricks and a million feet of Oregon timber.

Almost 1,000 men are employed, most of them civilian mechanics. Two hundred vehicles are being manicured all the time, and an average of 40 are ready for the road again each day.

The War Department has invested almost $2,000,000 in this super-duper garage which bears the fancy name of "Fort Devens Ordnance Motor Base."

It is one of the largest places in the world for getting a fender fixed or a motor changed, and the War Department is planning to use it as a pattern for other "motor vehicle hospitals."

The big base has been in operation only a couple of months under direction of Colonel Harry C. Snyder, who was once affiliated with the Pierce-Arrow Company. In charge of maintenance in the base shop is Major M. C. Bourke.

"There's only one type of outfit that can compete with us," says Major Bourke, "and that's an automobile manufacturing plant. With our working staff of hundreds of men and tremendous equipment, including much salvage, there's nothing we can't rebuild."

Huge Parking Area

Outside the well-lighted building, there's a parking area larger than a Major League ball park. Hundreds of cars are there all the time—ranging from an ambulance requiring a new wheel to a ten-ton transport truck that needs a general overhaul.

The army doesn't waste any time fussing with cars that have been basked to a fare-thee-well. Salvage crews snap up any useable parts, and the derelict is then consigned to the junk heap for war scrap.

"We don't have to start out with the idea of doing a job that will make the car good for a couple of weeks or so," one of the officers said, "we give it the gun so that when the machine leaves here it's ready to be sent anywhere in the world."

Much repair work is done on the cars right in the "Chassis-Bay"—where the 200 machines under treatment are kept—such jobs as changing wheels, replacing fenders and the like. But if an engine and a heavy unit replacement is required, a mechanic gets out a small portable derrick, takes the engine right out, shoves in either a brand new one or a rebuilt one, and totes the sick one off to the motor repair line.

The motor section of the base already is on an assembly-like basis. The engines are completely dismantled in all instances, and then they are rebuilt, as they pass along a moving line flanked by experts specializing in various lines of engine repair.

So far as possible, they use parts salvaged from broken down cars but there are two big warehouses handy for new parts. Salvaged parts are also used in the repair of other sections of an automobile.

"When a car leaves here," smiled one of our guides, "it might have a fender from Camp Edwards on Cap Cod, a careburetor from Fort Ethan Allen in Vermont, and a radiator from Mitchel Field—but brother, it will be ready for the toughest roads."

The big base has a special department where scores of men work on nothing but electrical equipment; a section where repaired engines are given tough tests under "road" conditions; a woodwork shop; a blacksmith shop; a paint and trim department; and a "lubricatorium" where oil is shot into the engines under air pressure.

Even in the grease shop, the floors are so clean that you could almost spread a picnic lunch on them.

About the last thing you see is the first called into action when a car gets bunged up on the road—a huge wrecker, equipped with derrick, acetylene torches, all kinds of tools.

"This babe can pick a trolley car right off the ground," said one officer, laconically.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Japs Don't Sparkle

Spokane, Wash.—Joe V. Godfrey, radioman second class, came home from the Solomon Islands with a story of a Marine who forgot the password.

He was challenged when he approached the sentry.

"Don't shoot," he cried. "I'm a Marine, too."

And then remembering that Japanese have trouble pronouncing the letter "L," he quickly proved his point by saying,

"Sparkle, sparkle, sparkle!"

Sound Sleeper

Kimberley, Idaho—Blacksmith Bill Kilborn slept soundly while his shop, only 40 feet away, burned to the ground as firemen tried to save it.

His house caught fire, and the firemen scampered over the roof. Kilborn snoozed on.

Eventually one of the firemen broke a window, crawled in, awakened Kilborn—and broke the bad news.

Answer Man

Cheyenne, Wyo.—"Halt, who's there?" challenged Charles Lee, a new guard at Fort Warren.

The officer stopped, waited awhile, and then asked Lee, "What do you say now?"

"Just stick around, sir," Lee replied, "I'm trying to remember."

The officer stuck around — and Lee's memory was refreshed.

He was the officer of the day.

Permanent Fixture

Portland, Ore.—Max Isenstein has been selling papers at the same stand for 22 years. But he's going into the Army now and he hates to lose his pet spot.

Mayor Earl Riley has come to his aid. He has asked the city council to reserve the place for Max until after the war.

Example Setter

Seattle, Wash.—Mayor William Devin, his wife and possibly their 12-year-old son will spend Saturday as harvest hands in an apple orchard.

The mayor explained he had encouraged city employes to help with the harvest.

So the No. 1 city employe will set the example.

Pace Setter

Elin, Ill.—Leo R. O'Flaherty, 43, believes in setting a good example.

O'Flaherty, chairman of Selective Service Board No. 1, waived a 3-A classification as a married man, set his own number aside, and plans to enlist in the Army as a private next week.

TILLSON

Tillson, Oct. 29 — At the Reformed Church, Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the Rev. John B. Steketee will preach.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Keator spent Monday and Tuesday in Kingston.

Paul Leubner has returned to his home from the Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Clark celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary at a dinner party, given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Deusen.

Walter Gilsinger who recently underwent an appendictomy, is better.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Lyons of Kripplebush were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Myers.

D. L. Christiana and family visited friends in Stuyvesant, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolf served a game dinner for Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher Sunday.

The Tillson fire company has installed a new siren on the fire house.

Mrs. James Gallagher entertained the Stitch and Chatter Club Wednesday afternoon. A Halloween luncheon was served.

Harry Bunnell served a fish supper to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Rowe and Miss Ada Craig.

Mrs. Brown, mother of Edward Coons, celebrated her 92nd birthday with her family last Friday.

Dean Schoup visited his parents in Albany over the week-end.

Edward Freer, brother of Mrs. Weston Clark, died recently at New Paltz.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Telephone communication still plays a vital role in the Army's communication system and the field telephone operating from hastily laid wires is essential for transportation of messages and orders.

Costs of telephone equipment runs into many thousands of dollars . . . and the communication may be by a single phone or up to more than a twelve-line switchboard. Your purchase of War Bonds can help pay for our lines of communication so vital to the safety and the success of our soldiers in battle. INVEST AT LEAST TEN PERCENT of your income in War Bonds every payday.

Chilean Project Mapped

A two-year construction project to provide 9,000 low-cost workers' dwellings in 77 Chilean cities is under consideration. Santiago would get a $4,725,000 allotment for a major share in the project, with a $1,050,000 allotment for Valparaiso and $630,000 construction projection in Concepcion. Other allotments would range from $210,000 to $315,000.

COFFEE JAMS HARBORS

Transportation of coffee in Colombia has been held up by shipping difficulties on the Magdalena River and congestion at Atlantic ports, it is revealed in Bogota. Coffee is now being sent to Buenaventura for shipment to San Francisco or other Pacific ports. Transportation, internal and external, has become the main problem in Colombia, especially in the movement of farm products.

WRENS WIN AT ETON

Great is the victory that the Wrens have won on the playing fields of Eton, it is reported in London. For 500 years the famous fields have refused to allow women to take part in sports there. Now the W.R.N.S. are playing cricket on Agars Plough, and they have met women's teams. The navy girls have also broken another ancient tradition of the school. They are playing matches on Sundays.

BIRTHDAYS ARE ONE REASON FOR CELEBRATING

We're celebrating a birthday this month, and we're making quite an occasion of it.

Birthdays are one reason for celebrating. But in times like these, we're likely to forget the many other reasons we Americans have for gratitude and celebration.

In spite of wartime pressures, we still have free choice in every important thing that goes to make up our daily lives.

For example, nobody tells you what to buy, and where to buy it. If you like Penney's, the goods we sell and our prices, you may shop with us. If not, you are free to buy elsewhere. Let us, then, stop to think how much life in America means to us all—and realize how much we have to fight for!

Isbell and Hutson Combination Off To Records Again

Former Has Thrown Nine T.D. Passes; Hutson Has Scored Total of 58 Points

Chicago, Oct. 30 (Special)—It may be the war, or again it may be that the boys are just beginning to get the hang of this football business. But whatever the reason, Green Bay's celebrated forward passing combination of Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson is well on the way to breaking even more records than it did last year when it set ten National league standards.

Isbell, with nine touchdown passes in five games, can, if he maintains his present pace through the next six contests, raise his mark of 15 touchdown passes a season to 19. He also can increase his recent record of 1,479 yards to 1,782 yards for the season. Despite this amazing pace, Isbell today trails Sammy Baugh of Washington, in the standings, having lost first place to the Redskin veteran over the week-end. Baugh has played in six games; Isbell in five.

Hutson at the present is well in advance of the pace with which he set records in 1941 for most points in a season (95), most touchdowns (12), most touchdowns on passes (10), most passes received (58) and most yards gained on passes (846). In five games he has caught 33 passes for seven touchdowns and 612 yards, scored 58 points, and already set a new mark of 209 yards for most gains in one game. In addition, he adds to five all-time records every time he catches a pass or scores.

His leads in scoring and pass receiving went unchallenged over the week-end, as leaders for the most part held their places. Bill Dudley, the Pittsburgh phenom, and Baugh wrought the major changes. Dudley moved ahead of Merlyn Condit of Brooklyn, in ground gaining, piling up a net of 65 yards against Washington.

Y.M.C.A. Preps Fireside Meeting

Hi-Y to Attend Orange Assembly November 1

Starting Saturday morning the Preps, which are the youngest of the members at the "Y," will gather around the fireside in the Boys' Division for the first in the series of stories to be told by Secretary Burt Tandy. Mr. Tandy has specialized in stories for young boys.

The Preps have a varied program every Saturday morning of gymnasium work, swimming and game room features. Their activities will be a big feature of the Saturday morning program and all boys aged 9-10-11 are urged to get started this fall with this group.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club of Kingston made plans at its last meeting to attend the Orange County Hi-Y Assembly being conducted November 11 by former Boys' Work Secretary, Neland H. Fuller.

They are preparing a bill to present to that assembly and are making plans to carry it to the State Hi-Y Congress which is to be held in Albany the first week in December.

The Hi-Y meets every Monday in the Boys' Club room and welcomes new members.

State Director Here

Archie Stearns, state physical director of New York, spent the greater part of the day at the local "Y," going over some of the programs and personnel features with members of the board of secretaries.

William H. Bruger, state boys' work secretary, spent the entire evening going over the boys' work program and consulted with members of the Hi-Y Club on the coming state congress, to be held in Albany.

Buckeyes, Cadets, Irish Selected for Saturday; Syracuse Seen as Loser

by HERB BARKER

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Taking the weekly whack at the football program and expecting nothing but the worst:

Ohio State-Wisconsin: National and sectional title hopes at stake here. Fekete and Sarringhaus vs. Harder and Hirsch. This should be tough, gruelling action all the way. The nod goes to Ohio State.

Alabama-Georgia: Ditto for this one which may settle the southeastern title, subject to later argument from Georgia Tech and L. S. U. The better line seems to belong to Alabama; the better offense to Georgia. Stringing along with the offense, Georgia.

Army Over Penn

Penn-Army: Top battle of the east in which Army's unbeaten record will be subjected to its sternest test. On the theory the cadets have been playing well within themselves. Army.

Princeton-Harvard: Jumping on the tiger band-wagon probably at the exact moment that Harvard will decide it's time to win one. Princeton, hesitantly.

Stanford-U.C.L.A.: U.C.L.A.

Baylor-Texas Christian: Baylor's defense is tough to crack but the nod belongs to unbeaten T.C.U.

Navy-Notre Dame: Nothing in Navy's record to show the sailors can cope with Angelo Bertelli et al. Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech-Duke: A timid vote for Tech.

Georgetown-Boston College: May be close but Boston College must rate the edge.

Gophers Picked Again

Northwestern-Minnesota: The Gophers seem to be back in winning stride and should be exceedingly tough from here on in. Northwestern scores consistently, thanks to Otto Graham, but not enough. Minnesota.

Illinois-Michigan: Michigan.

Iowa Naval-Indiana: Bierman's naval cadets have been well rested since the Notre Dame debacle and should be able to handle Billy Hillenbrand and Bob Cowan. Iowa Naval.

Great Lakes-Missouri: No telling what Great Lakes is going to do next with Bob Steuber, is the more consistent and rates the nod.

Southern Methodist-Texas: The Mustangs showed signs of revival last week but hardly enough to stop the Longhorns. Texas.

Brown-Yale: Yale.

Colgate-Holy Cross: Holy Cross.

Michigan State-Temple: Not much luck for the Owls this season. Michigan State.

North Carolina Naval-Syracuse: This may be where Syracuse's perfect record gets smeared. N. C. Naval.

Rams Are Favored

St. Mary's-Fordham: Very difficult to figure. Out of that hat, Fordham.

William & Mary-Dartmouth: The southerners are really good and deserve the nod here.

Auburn-Mississippi State: Well, anybody can guess. State.

Louisiana State-Tennessee: Tennessee.

Florida-Maryland: Looks like Florida.

Arkansas-Texas Aggies: Maybe A. and M. can find the scoring combination. Texas A. and M.

Nebraska-Kansas: Should be safe for Nebraska.

Oklahoma-Iowa State: Ditto Oklahoma.

Clemson-Wake Forest: Probably close. Wake Forest.

North Carolina-North Carolina State: North Carolina.

Oregon State-Washington: Doubtfully, Oregon State.

Purdue-Iowa: Taking Tommy Farmer and Iowa.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Duquesne over St. Vincent; Kentucky over George Washington; South Carolina over Citadel; Georgia Naval over Jacksonville Naval; Tulsa over Drake; Pitt over Carnegie; Virginia Military over Davidson; Miami over Furman; Idaho over Montana; Kansas State over Wichita (watch out for that one); Lafayette over Bucknell; Mississippi over Memphis; Virginia Tech over Virginia; Richmond over Washington & Lee; Villanova over Manhattan; Detroit over Marquette; Santa Clara over San Francisco; Utah over Colorado State; Colorado over Wyoming; Brigham Young over Utah State; Rutgers over Springfield.

Plans Under Way For Fifth Annual Irish, Army Rally

Waldorf-Astoria Will Be Scene of Benefit on November 6; Many Celebrities

One of the most brilliant fall functions will be the fifth annual Army-Notre Dame Rally, a benefit for the Army Emergency Relief Fund and Notre Dame Scholarship Fund, which will be held November 6 in the Grand Ballroom at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city.

The Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president, University of Notre Dame, and Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum are co-chairmen of the honorary committee which lists among its members Manuel L. Quezon, president, Philippine Commonwealth; Postmaster General Frank C. Walker; Major General Irving J. Phillipson; James A. Farley; Major Edward Bowes; Lt. Gen. R. L. Bullard; Major Gen. Sanderford Jarman; Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., vice president, Pan-American Airways System; Major General T. A. Terry; John S. Burke, president, B. Altman & Co.; Gratton Stanford, vice president, Consolidated Oil Co. and Walter Dorwin Teague, industrial designer, among others.

Walter O'Keefe will be master of ceremonies and will present Quentin Reynolds; Hildegarde; Morton Downey; Benay Venuta; Constance Moore and Ray Bolger—to name a few of the many celebrities who will appear that evening.

Tickets, which are selling at a brisk pace, are on sale at the Army-Notre Dame Rally headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria. All seats are reserved.

N.Y.M.A. Gridders Engage Peekskill Saturday at 2 P. M.

Two old rivals meet again after a parting of ten years. New York Military Academy in Cornwall, frequently known as the "Little West Point" because of its closeness to West Point, plays Peekskill Military Academy, from Peekskill, N. Y. at Cornwall Saturday. The cadets from Cornwall have won all their games so far.

N. Y. M. A. 18, R. P. I. (Freshman) 12.

N. Y. M. A. 12, Blair Academy 0.

N. Y. M. A. 15, St Agnes 0.

N. Y. M. A.-Peekskill, October 31

N. Y. M. A.-Cheshire Academy, November 7.

N. Y. M. A.-West Point (Plebes) November 11.

This series of games started in 1895 when N. Y. M. A. won the Hudson River Valley Championship by defeating Peekskill M. A. by 12-8.

The meeting between the heads of the two schools, Colonel Frank A. Pattillo of N. Y. M. A. and David Elliott of Peekskill, was a part of the general public interest in military affairs, especially as applied to education. This will be the last game of football that many of these boys will play. It is planned to cement the relationship in basketball, swimming, lacrosse and baseball, and a rifle match, shoulder to shoulder.

N. Y. M. A. is coached by William Yeager, Albright College, and Peekskill by J. Rothrock of University of Delaware.

State Hunters Set For Deer Season; Starts on Nov. 15

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP).—Sportsmen are expected to take approximately 2,000,000 pounds of deer meat during the season which opens in northern New York Sunday and in several Hudson river and Catskill counties, November 15.

Conservation Department authorities say as much as 15,000,000 pounds could be harvested without serious damage to the state's deer head of 300,000.

Approximately 175,000 hunters are expected to take to the woods to help relieve present meat shortages. Deer meat cannot be sold in New York, but its use would release other meat for non-hunting consumers.

The northern season, embracing 12 counties and parts of two others, will run through November 30. In Catskill and several Hudson river counties the season will be from November 15 through 30. Seasons have been designated in a few other sections for shorter periods.

Occupation Meets Count Fleet Colt In Pimlico Event

Winner May Be Winter Favorite for Next Kentucky Derby Run in 1943

Baltimore, Oct. 30 (AP).—The season's top-ranking two-year old colts, Occupation and Count Fleet are scheduled to clash tomorrow in the Rich Pimlico futurity, a race which probably will determine the winter book favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby.

Count Fleet, however, gained strong support when he ran the fastest mile ever chalked up by a two-year old in winning Belmont's champagne stake.

Occupation twice defeated Mrs. John D. Hertz's son of Reigh Count—in the Washington and Belmont Park futurities—but the bull dog colt was not raced at any distance longer than six and a half furlongs, whereas Count Fleet has won races at a mile and a mile and 70 yards.

The Pimlico futurity, at a mile and one sixteenth, carries $15,000 in added money. With the nominating fees it now has a value of $36,400, with starting fees of $500 for each horse to be added.

If Occupation wins, he will pass Top Flight's money record even if only two go to the post.

With the exception of Occupation and Count Fleet, the line-up is uncertain, although six or eight colts are expected to face the barrier. Other starters probably will come from a group including W. L. Brann's Vincentive, Calumet Farm's Ocean Wave, Falaise Stables' Good Morning, King Ranch's Two Timely and Walter M. Jefford's Halbred.

Both principal contenders have been extremely impressive in this week's workouts, with Occupation appearing a likely post-time favorite after he completed his intensive drills yesterday by going a mile in 1:40 1/5 with ease.

Occupation last Saturday won the breeder's futurity at Keeneland, while Count Fleet's most recent effort was his victory in an allowance race at Jamaica on October 20.

Ferraro Registers High 720 Series in Majors; Hits 243, 231 and 246

Trailway Anchor Sparks Team to 3077 Triple at Central Recs Thursday Night

The Central Recreation alley rafters were still shaking this morning after last night's continued heavy barrage by the ace city bowlers of the Central Major League. Johnny Ferraro, anchor and the entire Trailway squad caused the most damage with some of the finest scores ever turned in at the mid-city alleys.

Ferraro, who has been the main cog for the Bull Dogs in the Sunday night Mixed Canine Bowling League, strutted his stuff for the Trailways last night and came off the alleys with a sensational 720 series. Johnny rolled games of 243, 231 and 246 which must be admitted was a pretty fair night of bowling. Ferraro sparked the blasting Trailways to a new seasonal team record of 3077. The Trailways also posted a 1038 team single.

Johnny's power-laden triple of 720 might have soared a few pins higher had he been able to shift his breaks. The co-proprietor of the Central alleys had a split in the opening game and a miss in the second. Johnny saw a possible 740 triple when he came up for the final frame in the last game. However, he left two pins up.

Jankowski Rolls 633

Following close in Ferraro's footsteps was Fred Jankowski, last year's ace high school bowler who has quickly stepped out in front with some of the top-night 10-pin stars of the city. Jankowski slammed out a brilliant triple of 633 with marks of 206, 224 and 233. Fred was tops with his pocket bowling.

Another Trailway kegler who helped the team to its crushing record was "Poke" Myers who contributed a 594 series. Myers rolled game 196, 194 and 204. Steve Fassbender's 205 was high for a 559 triple. His other scores were 175 and 180. Tony Van Gonsic hit 560 on 178, 188 and 175, the only kegler on the Trailway roster who didn't clip a 200 game.

In totaling the sensational 3077 team triple, the Trailways poured out single games of 1078, 1011 and 1038. They were easy winners over the Grunenwalds. Frank McDonough's 631 was tops for the losers. He registered a sizzling 238 single. Orv Van Alstyne clipped in with 584 and a 223 single while Charlie Grunenwald's 581 took third high triple on the team. Grunenwald's high single was 226.

In the other league matches last night Johnny "Red" Sangi sparked his U. P. A. keglers to two triumphs over Doblers as he poured out a 602 triple on marks of 187, 201 and 214. Lou Guadgnola had a 547, Tom Costello 546 and "Coke" Costello 520. Guadgnola had a 201 single game. George Robinson's 222 single was high in the match. He had a 591 series. Quick and Breitfeller posted 533 series. Quick's 203 was second high for the team.

Scholar Clips 237

Joe Scholar helped himself to glory as he crushed a terrific 237 single and 627 series. His other scores were 199 and 191. Scholar's great kegling helped Mickeys to win two from Joneses. Dwight McEntee had a 580, Earl Mellow 562, Herb Whitaker 560 on 208, 213 and 139 and Herb Van Deusen 527. Alward's 596 was high for the team. Hod Spaulding rolled 592, Al Kieffer 553, Smith 527 and Ken Williams 502. Spaulding had a 208 and 204 single.

The final match found Hymes taking two from Steins and Lew Hymes poked out a high single and a 411 double. Joe Hoffman's 588 series was high in the match. His top single was 201. Naigles had 549 for Steins while Larry Petersen, Jr., registered 537.

"Y" International League

Tommy Tomshaw of the Freeman No. 2 bowling team highlighted that team's surge Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. alleys when he whipped out a high 192 single and high 492 series. Tommy's other scores were 163 and 137. The Freeman squad won two from Elstons who were paced in a losing cause by Walt Elston. He had a 449 triple.

In another International League match Treadwells won two from Sears as Bill Bush cracked out a hefty 203 single game and a 556 series. Bush also polished the maples for a 167 and 186. Perlman had a 473 series.

Matthews copped two from the Terrors with F. Short pouring out a 188 single and 489 triple. Howard of the losers had a 451 three-game cluster.

Silver Palace League

At Emerick's Recreation alleys Wednesday night Harold Broskie and Ad Jones, two veteran bowlers, established some pretty fair scores as they sparked the Joneses to three straight wins over Vining and Smith. Broskie emerged from the match with a high single score of 239 while Jones blasted away for a 577 series. His marks were 166, 186 and 225. Broskie's other marks were 201 and 135 for a 575 series. Scott Vining's 563 was tops for the losers. Harry Smith had 510 and a 212.

The Shultis bowlers captured two from Vogels with Ray DuBois hanging on for high marks. Ray featured with a 219 single and 550 series. He also hit 160 and 171. Art Melchoir of the winners had a 212 single. Charlie Grunenwald featured the losers with a 533 triple.

The Centrals took two from Teetsels despite Al Goldman's high-powered bowling for the losers. Goldie slapped out a 215 single and 569 triple but it wasn't enough to turn the tide. Schick had a 530 triple for the winners and Webber a 505. Kuhenen and Teetsel blasted out 525 and 502. Schick had 211 and Kuhenen a 201.

Nocando League Results

Lacey Burger's 219 single and 561 triple took the spotlight in the Locando League at Emericks Wednesday night. Burger's good bowling helped Fredericks to win two from Scholls. O. Schaller had a 501 series for the two-game winners. Percy Slover's 468 was high for the Scholl team.

Homer Emerick got the feel of his own alleys in this competition when he paced his club to three straight wins over the Wildcats. Homer, bowling anchor, rolled a 191 single and 554 series. R. Kubicek's 458 was high for the losers.

The final match found the Eichlers winning all three from Standards. Shultis rolled a 510 triple while Boswell's 211 single took honors in that department. He also rolled a 505 series. Jack Martin's 494 topped Standards.

Wiltwyck League Opens

The first matches of the 1942-43 Wiltwyck Bowling League got under way at the Central Recreation alleys last night. In the opening matches Ken Van Etten of the Replacers crashed out a sizzling high single of 241 which netted him a final total of 538.

Frank Hornbeck of the Go-Getters established a new high triple with his gaudy 551. Frank also registered a 225 single in helping the club to salvage one game from the Rescuers.

Van Etten's 241 and 538 sparked the Replacers to two wins over the Electrol No. 2 team. One game ended in a tie and the Electrol club won the roll-off. Mitzie Arlensky had a 475 triple for the winners while Joe Abdallah's 512 ranked next to Van Ettens. He rolled a 201 single. Mark Weil's 435 was high for the losers.

Hornbeck's 225 and 551 were high in the Go-Getters-Rescuers match as the latter team won two. "Bun" Rourke with a 202 single and 522 triple helped the winners to two decisions.

The Bucks won three from the Roller Rink squad as Bob Townsend dished out a nifty 538 series on scores of 179, 190 and 169. Muller had 509 and Woods an even 500. S. Miller had 444 for the losers.

The Electrol No. 1 squad won all three from the Helpers. Phil Carrado, Jr., of the losers punched out a 191 single and 533 series in a losing cause. George Castor had 529 for the winners.

Maroons to Meet Middies Saturday In League Battle

Middletown Team Picked to Win by Three or Four Scores; Port Plays Newburgh

Kingston High School's football team makes its first out-of-town DUSO League trip tomorrow morning when it travels to Middletown to tangle with Johnny Bateman's strong Middies at Wilson Field. Game time is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

Although experts have tabbed the Middies as easy winners it's one of those games where a lot could happen to change the whole complexion of the ball game. However, Middletown, with a stronger line and a more experienced team despite the loss of Tony Gobeo, should trim the Maroons by three touchdowns.

Coach Ted Conwicke waxed satisfaction last week despite Kingston 35 to 0 rout at the hands of Poughkeepsie. Conwicke's happy moments were enjoyed in the first half and even though the Bridge City team went on to a crushing triumph, he believed that his team was finally showing some strength.

At this writing Middletown is eagerly looking forward to another league victory and another DUSO League championship. Kingston could damage these hopes with a victory tomorrow afternoon. The best of Maroon fans fail to see a Kingston victory but forecast that the Middies will be in for a much tougher afternoon than some people expect.

With the return of Leland Boice to the roster again, Conwicke will use him in the line in hopes of bolstering that department. When the season began Boice was a backfield starter. However, his 180 pounds will now be used in the forward wall. Last week's backfield of Potter, Dugan, Harrell and Maxson is expected to start again Saturday.

While Kingston and Middletown are battling at Wilson Field, Port Jervis and Newburgh will meet in another league tussle.

Ending Special Rights in China

Wide World Features

This year marks 100 years of extraterritoriality in China. It also marks beginning of the end of this system, for American and British governments have promised to give up extraterritorial rights.

Under extraterritoriality, foreign citizens in China who violate Chinese laws can be tried only by their own consul, are immune from native taxes. They enjoy the same rights that only diplomats enjoy in other lands. Chinese call this humiliating: it assumes their laws and institutions are inferior.

Before 1842, foreigners went to China mainly to make money. Strange Chinese laws were cramping. None of their own officials were there to restrain them. So they considered themselves exempt from all law.

The Chinese finally insisted that foreigners obey their laws. This led to reputed friction, finally to war with Britain over control of opium imports from India. The war's result was formal treaty relations between China and the West—and extraterritoriality.

By World War I, every major world power enjoyed extraterritorial rights. Chinese say the system's breakdown will give them equality among the United Nations.

STRIPPED OF TIRES

Tulsa, Okla. (AP) — The cartoon that always accompanied Roger V. Devlin's column, "The Rambler," in the Tulsa Tribune showed him in a sleek automobile on a country lane.

Came the rubber shortage and Devlin's readers began writing to the editor, wanting to know when Devlin was going to start conserving tires.

So Devlin, who really doesn't use an automobile in collecting the humor for his column, solved the situation.

The cartoon now shows the car on blocks, jacked up in a field, while Devlin is riding down the road on a bicycle.

OFFICE CAT

(TRADE MARK REG.)

By Junius

This Is What Hurts

I said that I would much rather wait and get married in the best of style,
For there were just hopes of nice young men waiting round for me to beguile.
But one day when I wasn't looking, Uncle Sam called loud and long.
So I was left with a dizzy head, plus girls, girls, girls, girls!—what a throng!
Now I knit and purl and wrap dressings, and save sugar and coffee and lard;
But I can't land a man till it's over, for there's none on my ration card.

—Ursella Wadleigh

Man—What did your wife say when you got home last night?

Friend—Not a word, and I was going to have those two front teeth pulled anyway.

Perhaps you have noticed it too, but it always seems that the funniest folks are those who have no sense of humor.

When everyone seems to be against you, chances are it's you —not they—who are wrong.

The hypocrite is the fellow who will eat cloves to make his friends think he has had a drink.

These days, beauty isn't even skin deep.

Every dog has his day . . . and every cat, her knight.

A little Scotch boy was being quizzed by his teacher.

Teacher—How much are six plus six?

Scotch boy—Twelve.

Teacher—Correct—and here are twelve chocolates for having been correct.

Scotch boy—Teacher, next time give me something hard in multiplication.

Second-grade children were facing the problem of addition. One boy jumped up.

Boy—I know how much ten and ten are.

Teacher—How much?

Boy—Twenty-one.

Whereupon another alert young citizen in the second grade gave a cackle and replied:

Second Boy—You don't have a federal tax on second-grade arithmetic.

The youth of America, and also a large portion of our adult population, understand what "pinch-hitting" means in a ball game. Those who do not need only to be told that it is substitution of a better batsman.

There is "pinch-hitting" in almost every activity of life—substitutions of men, and women too, who under the circumstances may do better jobs than those who hold them.

In our preparations for war we have been for some time and are still substituting "pinch-hitters."

"Pinch-hitting" is as important in local defense as it may be in national offense. Are you qualifying yourself for such a role?

Top Sergeant (singing out just before the company was dismissed)—All those fond of music step two paces forward.

With visions of a soft job in the regimental band, half a dozen men stepped out.

Sergeant (growled)—Now then, you six mugs get busy and carry that piano up to the top floor of the officers quarters.

Teacher (to boy sitting idly in school during writing time)—Henry, why are you not writing?

Henry—I ain't got no pen.

Teacher—Where's your grammar?

Henry—She's dead.

Board to Relieve Property Owners On Andrew Street

fuel oil prices for the past several years and said that there had been an increase of 127 per cent in cost of fuel oil over the past three-year period. In 1939-40 fuel oil cost 4¼ cents a gallon. For 1940-41 the price was six cents. During 1941-42 season the price was 5.95 to 6.35 cents per gallon and the price now is 8.8 cents.

A missing marker on the lawn of the high school placed there for James J. Strugnell and which apparently has become buried, has been replaced. Byrne Brothers have donated a similar marker to the board and the secretary was authorized to send a letter of thanks to the monument firm for the marker.

The Kingston schools will shortly have another rationing problem to face. It was stated that a communication had been received from the Federal Security Bureau that schools would be called upon to serve as fuel oil ration places.

Teacher Resigns

Miss Nellie Abernethy, teacher at school No. 8, submitted her resignation because of ill health. Her place will be taken by the present substitute who has been taking her classes. The board passed a resolution of regret at the loss of Miss Abernethy's services.

The clerk was authorized to write Miss Abernethy thanking her for her many years of loyal and faithful services as a teacher.

Trustee Rowland for the Teachers Committee moved that Blanche H. Heil, graduate of the Crane Department of Music of the Potsdam State Normal School be appointed a teacher of music in the public school system at a salary of $1,600. She has had 10 years experience teaching music at Brant Lake, N. Y.

Payment of bills amounting to $18,488.37 was authorized and the payroll for October amounting to $42,322.47 was audited. National Defense bills amounting to $1,408.53 and $1,956.59 were also audited.

Authorization for erection of an incinerator at school No. 2 was made. This is for burning of waste papers and refuse from lunches etc., which create havoc with furnace grates. A price of $175 was submitted for building a brick incinerator but the committee on buildings was authorized to inquire in the cost of ready-made appliances which could be installed in the boiler room. The committee was given power to proceed.

It was reported that the new water line at school No. 3 was installed. The cost was $192.

Trustee Feeney for the Building Committee also reported that tile had been erected at the back of the wash basins in the boys lavatory in the M.J.M. school where formerly there had been paint. The paint could not be kept in proper condition. The cost was $65.

Mr. Feeney also reported that Joseph Bradley of the high school janitor staff had saved the city about $100 by filling the soda and acid fire extinguishers instead of having a man employed for the work. Purchase of two additional soda and acid extinguishers for No. 5 school was ordered.

Plans and specifications will be prepared for the pointing up and caulking of the window frames and water table at school No. 8. This work it was reported was needed before the winter snows and rains set in. The Building Committee will solicit bids.

When the M.J.M. school was built the hood over the gas range in the kitchen was attached to a pipe which led the fumes off under an unused portion of the building instead of out in the open air. Odors and foul gases have created a nuisance and the method of carrying the fumes off were discovered. The committee will report back on the cost of leading these fumes outside.

Trustee Rowland for the Athletic Committee reported the cross country squad doing well. Three out of four meets have been won by the local boys. He also reported the football team was doing good and predicted a strong team for next year.

Purchase of additional instruments for the K. H. S. band at a cost of $413.50 was voted. They will be re-built instruments since no new instruments can be purchased. There will be a double bass horn, a baritone horn and a double bell alto horn.

The monthly attendance report was received. The average attendance in the elementary school was 95 per cent. In the M.J.M. ninth grade and high school 93 per cent. The average for the parochial schools was 97 per cent. The report showed that there are now 86 attending the kindergarten classes.

Because of the Thanksgiving season the Board adjourned to meet on November 24 at 8 o'clock.

PROCLAMATION

The People of the State of New York, by the Grace of God free and independent:

To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster, GREETINGS:

Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, on Monday the 9th day of Nov., 1942. We Command you, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and provided: First.—That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear thereat. Second.—That you bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said county, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff. Third.—That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognizances, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

Witness, Hon. Francis Bergan, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 26th day of October, 1942.

N. LEVAN HAVER
District Attorney

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make proclamation that a term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail Delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, on the second Monday of Nov. next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said court, by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners or other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said court, or who may have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination, to the said court, at the opening thereof, and on the first day of the sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances, to do those things which to their offices pertain.

Dated, City of Kingston, October 26, 1942.

TO JACK BARCIA:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of the Hon. Harry E. Schirick, a justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated October 6, 1942, and filed with the complaint in the Ulster County Clerk's office, at the City of Kingston, Ulster County, State of New York.

The object of this action is to foreclose a mortgage upon the premises described below, executed to the Land Bank Commissioner, etc. by Gaspare Barcia and Rachel Barcia, his wife, dated August 15, 1939, for $1,200.00, with interest from August 15th, 1939, which mortgage was recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office, State of New York, on August 15, 1939, in Liber 441 of Mortgages, at page 186.

The property in question is described as follows:

"ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the Town of Plattekill, County of Ulster and State of New York:

BEGINNING at the southwest corner of the wall being the corner of lands formerly of Daniel Gerow and the southwest corner of the 1000 acre tract so called, and running thence 89 degrees 38 minutes east 56 chains along the lands formerly of Daniel Gerow and lands formerly of James Birdsall to the center of the highway leading to Newburgh, thence north 8 degrees 40 minutes east 3 chains 80 links, thence north 1 degree 45 minutes east 99 links, thence north 29 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains 74 links (the last 3 course being along the center of said highway) thence north 74 degrees west 5 chains 70 links, thence north 23 degrees 10 minutes west 3 chains 16 links, thence south 71 degrees 15 minutes west 3 chains 70 links to a hickory, thence south 81 degrees 15 minutes west 1 chain 71 links, thence south 89 degrees 15 minutes west 3 chains 88 links, thence north 2 degrees 36 minutes west 19 chains 45 links to a point in the east line of said 1000 acre tract a little northerly of a swamp white oak tree and 7 feet 9 inches southerly of a double elm tree being the southeast corner of lands contracted to be sold to Hiram Minard, thence north 89 degrees west 28 chains 10 links along said Minards line to a point on the south side of the stone wall, thence south 89 degrees west 17 chains 50 links along last said line to a stake one link westerly of a white ash tree, being the southwest corner of said Minard farm and thence south 7 degrees 35 minutes east 33 chains 34 links on the west line of said 1000 acre tract to the place of beginning containing 164 acres 26 perches of land as surveyed by William Carpenter March 10, 1856 and be the same more or less.

Excepting therefrom 13 acres and 6 perches more or less as described and conveyed by deed from Griggs Waring and wife to Banack Birdsall dated April 1, 1857 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office March 11, 1858 book 102 of deeds at page 605.

Said premises are subject to a mortgage to The Federal Land Bank of Springfield dated and recorded December 27, 1938 in Book 437 page 592, of the Ulster County Clerk's Office."

Japs Utilize Worms

Silkworm cocoons are being used as vitamin pills in Japan, reports from Tokyo reveal. Curtailment of silk exports due to the war has created a large surplus of the cocoons, and they are being diverted to new uses. The Silk Utilization Company now claims that a cocoon is the proper tidbit to relieve that tired feeling, listlessness and even depression from war news, because it contains vitamin B.

Milk Rationing Dodged

Farmers of Northern Ireland have been asked to increase winter milk production to avoid milk rationing. Prices for liquid milk are expected to rise from the prevailing rate of 43 cents a gallon to 50 cents in December and January. Sales have risen in Northern Ireland from 15,000,000 gallons a year, pre-war, to 22,000,000 gallons, and the demand is mounting, it is reported in Belfast.

WILLOW ANSWERS MR. NIP

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — If your next door farmer begins harvesting the mesquite-like plant out in his pasture don't call for the paddy wagon—he may be reaping a crop of insecticide.

Ever since the Japs overran the Dutch East Indies, the insecticide rotenone—good for dipping animals as well as spraying vegetables—has been hard to come by.

Oklahoma Agricultural experiment station insecticide sleuths believe they have the answer in the cat willow or so-called river locust. This plant has rotenone in its bean, and it is about as common on the plains as mesquite.

The funeral will be held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Body Is Identified

Identification of the man found dead last Monday in a shack on the Milo Hepworth place at Marlborough has been established by State Police, Sergeant E. J. Hulse said today. Identification was established by means of the Selective Service card found. His name was John J. Doyle and his home was in New York. However no relatives of the man have been located. The man was found dead from a heart attack in the shack where he had apparently taken refuge the previous Saturday. He had been dead for some time when the body was found.

British Advance On Egypt Front

the once powerful French fleet.

On the Egyptian battlefront, Italian headquarters reported that Axis forces yesterday repulsed a fresh British attempt to land seaborne troops behind the lines and beat off repeated attacks by strong Allied armored units.

The Fascist war bulletin said the British twice attempted to set troops ashore in the vicinity of Matruh, 100 miles west of the actual fighting front, only to be driven off with heavy losses.

The Italian command admitted that British imperials attacking on the Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria, succeeded in making "initial penetrations," but asserted that they were promptly halted.

Dispatches from Cairo said Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army was slowly forging ahead through hidden Axis minefields, attacking by night and consolidating their new-won positions in daylight.

"During the night of October 28-29, our infantry extended gains in ground formerly held by the enemy," British G. H. Q. announced.

"There were minor engagements yesterday with enemy armored troops on whom casualties were inflicted.

"Fighting continues."

Reports from the front indicated that the British were getting into position to strike at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's main force, but said it might be several days before a show-down test of armored strength develops.

Ground Troops Inactive

An Associated Press correspondent in Cairo said that while U. S. Army fliers are playing a major role in shielding the British desert fighters and attacking the enemy, American ground troops have not yet gone into action in the Middle East.

On the Soviet front, Red Army headquarters announced that Russian tanks had won a critical battle of armored forces in Stalingrad's northside factory district and reported that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's relief offensive had smashed into German defenses in the Volga-Don corridor.

It was the 67th day in the siege of Stalingrad.

Led by tanks, the vanguard of a German infantry division drove up 50 to 100 yards to the edge of a factory in the northern industrial suburbs, but fell back as Soviet tanks rumbled out to meet the assault. The Russians said 1,500 Nazis were killed and 16 tanks destroyed in the battle.

"All attacks were repulsed and Soviet troops are firmly holding their positions," the Russian command said, summarizing the struggle inside the wrecked Volga metropolis.

"Northwest of Stalingrad, a Soviet unit broke through the enemy defenses. Engaging the enemy with hand grenades and in hand-to-hand fighting, they killed 130 of the enemy and captured an ammunition dump."

There was still no indication how near the city Marshal Timoshenko's relief forces had advanced in their drive against the 40-mile German "barricade" which guards the main Nazi siege armies on the north. Red Army troops have been hacking into the Nazi flank for several weeks.

In the Caucasus, the Russians conceded a new setback on the Nalchik plateau—the second in 24 hours—as the Germans threw large numbers of tanks into an assault apparently aimed at reaching the Georgian military highway to Tiflis.

"In one sector, the enemy succeeded in pressing our units back," Soviet headquarters said, but Red Star declared the Germans had also been forced to retreat in a nearby sector of the battle in the foothills of the blizzard-swept Caucasus mountains.

On the black sea coast, in the western Caucasus, Red Army troops were credited with dislodging the Germans from a fortified position and killing 1,200 Axis invaders northeast of Tuapse.

The German high command admitted that the Russians were counter-attacking in the mountains north and south of Tuapse, but declared they had been repulsed.

Halloween Parade Plans Completed

Two Parades Will Precede Party at Auditorium

Complete plans for the two big Halloween parades to be staged here Saturday night in conjunction with the community-wide Halloween celebration at the municipal auditorium, were released today by the Department of Recreation. This department is working with the local post of the American Legion in arranging for the community celebration, in which both adults and children have been invited to participate.

Children in all local schools have been notified by their principals to meet in the school yards at designated times on Saturday evening, and members of the local American Legion will be on hand to take charge of the group from the time they meet at the school yard until they reach the municipal auditorium.

Nelson W. Snyder, who is chairman in charge of arrangements of the celebration for the American Legion, announced the assignment of men to the various schools and asked that other Legionnaires who are willing to assist report to the school in their district at 7 p. m. Saturday evening.

Students of the Kingston High School and Myron J. Michael School are requested to join the groups at the school which they previously attended. The complete parade plans follow.

Parade Orders

Uptown section: Led by High School Band under the direction of Kenneth Appleton, 7:30 p. m.

The High School Band will meet at the Academy Green across from the Governor Clinton Hotel. They will be joined there at 7:30 by children from No. 7 and St. Joseph's Schools. The parade will begin at this point promptly at 7:30, marching down Broadway. At Franklin street, Schools No. 8 and No. 1 will join the line of march. School No. 6 will join the main line of parade at O'Neil street and Broadway. The entire group will march to the municipal auditorium under the direction of Commander William Mellert of the American Legion Post, who will be division marshal.

Downtown section: Led by American Legion Junior Drum Corps under the direction of Frank Sass, 7:30 p. m.

The American Legion Junior Drum Corps will meet at McEntee street and Broadway and will be joined there by children from schools No. 2, No. 3, St. Mary's and St. Peter's. The parade will begin at exactly 7:30 and proceed up Broadway. At Delaware avenue, School No. 4 and Immaculate Conception will join the parade, and at Foxhall avenue School No. 5 will join them. The entire group will proceed up to the municipal auditorium under the direction of Herman DuBois, Chef de Gare of the Forty and Eight, who will be division marshal.

School No. 1, Fred J. Zoller in charge. Meet at the school by 7:05, march up Wilbur avenue and join group at School No. 8. z

School No. 2, E. Geschwender and S. Pyer in charge. Meet at the school, leave school at exactly 7:15 and march down West Pierpont street to McEntee, over McEntee to Broadway, and join parade there.

School No. 3, Abe Singer and A. J. Murphy in charge. Meet at school, leave the school at exactly 7:25 and march up Newkirk avenue to Broadway. Join parade.

School No. 4, E. M. Heppner and Walt Tamany in charge. Meet at the school, leave school yard at exactly 7:15. March up Delaware avenue to Immaculate Conception School, and from there continue up Delaware avenue to Broadway to join parade.

School No. 5, Ed Hillis and Clarence Hyde in charge. Meet at the school, leave the school at exactly 7:35 and march down to Foxhall avenue, over Foxhall avenue to Broadway and join in the parade.

School No. 8, Rob Jacob and J. Sills in charge. Meet at the school, leave the school at exactly 7:30. March over O'Neil street to Broadway and join parade there.

School No. 7, Myer Kaplan and W. Mellert in charge. Form at the school, leave school at exactly 7:20. March down Green street to Main street, over Main to Wall street to St. Joseph's School. Join this group and march with them to the Governor Clinton Hotel by way of Pearl street.

School No. 8, Gus Paulson and T. J. Murray in charge. Form at the school. Group from No. 1 will meet there at 7:30. Both groups will march over Franklin street to Broadway, leaving the school at exactly 7:30.

St. Peter's School, Charles Sass in charge. Meet at McEntee street and Broadway, Parade will leave that point at exactly 7:30.

St. Mary's School, William Jordan and M. Spina in charge. Meet at the school. The parade will start from that point at exactly 7:30.

Williams Alters Plea in Court

New Paltz Man Charged With Drunken Driving

Fred Williams of New Paltz, charged with driving a car while intoxicated as a second offender, pleaded guilty to that charge last week and the case was held open until today for an investigation of the matter before sentence. Today when Williams appeared in County court before Judge J. Edward Conway for sentence the plea of guilty was withdrawn and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang told the court that Williams had previously been convicted of a felony, burglary, and therefore came before the court with a former conviction. The probation officer's report disclosed the former conviction.

Michael Nardone appeared for Williams and said that when Williams pleaded guilty to the intoxicated driving charge he had no knowledge of the former conviction and he asked the court to permit a not guilty plea now. That plea was accepted and bail was reinstated.

An indictment against Percy Short charging abandonment was dismissed on application of Mr. Stang who told the court that Short had been making payments for the support of his family. Bail was exonerated.

Americans Destroy Tanks, Hit Ship

lations aflame and destroyed four seaplanes boosting the Japanese plane toll to 413 since the campaign started.

Allied aircraft under General Douglas MacArthur's Australian command continued to blast at enemy shipping in the Solomons. Flying fortresses straddle-bombed five unidentified vessels at the Japanese naval base at Buin at the southern tip of Bougainville Island causing a heavy explosion on one ship.

Simultaneously, Australian troops were reported by MacArthur to be hurling the Japanese back in New Guinea. A bayonet charge yesterday (Australian time) resulted in capture of 20 prisoners and helped keep the allied advance unchecked.

An example of Japanese treachery in the south Pacific warfare also was made public by the navy yesterday in releasing a dispatch written by Sergt. Richard T. Wright, a marine corps combat correspondent.

Honoring a flag of truce borne by a Japanese officer, 28 of 30 marines were massacred when they sought to take custody of "a bunch of Japs" who, the officer said, were isolated on a nearby island and wanted to surrender.

As the 30 marines drew near the island they were met without worning by "a terrific burst from several machine guns hidden in the underbrush," Wright wrote.

"They were mowed down like so many stalks of corn," he added, "except for the two who escaped and swam to safety."

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Specialties, led by air transports, worked up a little recovery temperature in today's stock market while many leaders suffered from mild selling chills.

Lack of definite news from the battle of the Solomons again proved a handicap for bullish forces. Bids for individual issues apparently were based on profits and dividend prospects rather than immediate developments. As usual, accounts were lightened here and there for week-end protection.

Dealings slackened after a moderately active start and, near the fourth hour, prices were a trifle spotty.

Bonds improved selectively. Commodities did better, with cotton up on the boost in parity rates for this staple.

Parade Plans Ready For Departing Inductees

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that arrangements had been completed for the parade that will escort the 93 men who entrain for Camp Upton on Saturday at noon, and that the same lineup that formed Tuesday's parade would be followed Saturday.

All organizations who wish to take part in the parade may do so and those taking part will form on Broadway in front of the Kingston draft office in the Central Post Office building at 11:20 o'clock, prepared to march.

The parade will be headed as usual by the Sons of the Legion Drum Corps with platoons of police and firemen, members of the American Legion and boys now serving in the war who are home on furlough.

Each of the inductees who leave tomorrow for training camp will be presented with a parting gift in the form of cigarettes, candy and chewing gum.

Hurley Board to Meet

The town board of the town of Hurley meets tonight in the town hall at Hurley for the purpose of adopting a tentative budget for the coming year. Supervisor Arthur J. Wood was unable this morning to give the itemized figures which probably will be decided upon tonight, but said that indications were that the budget would be approximately the same as that for last year.

Big Boys to Suffer

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—A hand-picked crew of Treasury experts today dug into the job of drafting detailed salary stabilization regulations, the broad outline of which now indicates that the only unorganized white collar workers definitely doomed to go raiseless for the duration are those earning more than $25,000 a year net income. Except for deductions of federal income taxes, customary charitable contributions, life insurance premiums and fixed obligations, the annual take of the boys in the upper brackets was firmly pegged at the $25,000 figure.

Hutto Is Promoted

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Governor Lehman today promoted Jackson S. Hutto, deputy superintendent of banks, to the superintendency as successor to William R. White, resigned. White, appointed by Lehman to the $12,000-a-year position in 1936, resigned this week to become a vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York city. Hutto, a resident of Scarsdale, has been eight years in the banking department which he also served as counsel. His appointment as superintendent is effective until the end of Governor Lehman's term December 31.

Juilliard Singers Form Troupe for "Figaro"

The Julliard Graduate School in New York City was the meeting place of the young singers whose new and exciting production of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" will be heard here Monday, November 2, at 7:30 p. m. in the Kingston High School Auditorium, under the auspices of Cooperative Concerts, Inc. Their talents had won them scholarships to study at this school which has produced such great Metropolitan singers as the tenor, Charles Kullman, and the mezzo-soprano, Rise Stevens. Although young, the oldest member of the troupe is now thirty—they were even at that time experienced troupers. A majority of them had been selected by the distinguished conductor, Albert Stoessel, for his Chautauqua Opera Company. All of them had won concert laurels.

The Nine O'clock Opera Troupe has based its production of "Figaro" on the belief that good opera, like good theatre, must be alive and not a mummified tradition. The Italians have always heard their Wagner in Italian and the Germans their Verdi in German. These singers believed America should have a chance to hear opera in their own language.

The big problem which faced the company was that of bringing opera to the American public when burdened with elaborate scenery. The answer came through Thornton' Wilder's "Our Town." The enormous Broadway success of this play proved that substitution of a good script and an artful narrator for the usual scenery, the audience will use its imagination to help build the set itself. It is on this principle that "The Marriage of Figaro" is produced.

The role of narrator in Mozart's opera is analagous to the one Frank Craven did in "Our Town."

Gean Greenwell, bass baritone, a tall young man from the rugged mountains of Utah, takes this part and also acts the role of Antonio, the gardener. A newcomer this season to the company, he succeeds David Otto who is now in the army. As the narrator, he supplies the explanations and comment introduced to make up for the lack of scenery and the cuts made in the action.

Mr. Greenwell interrupted a career in Broadway operettas to accept a fellowship at the Julliard School where he prepared for concert and opera tour. He has sung six times at the Worcester Festival eight seasons with the Chautauqua Opera Company, four years with the Russian Opera and with the Detroit Civic Opera. He has also appeared with the New York Philharmonic Symphony as soloist as well as with the Cleveland Orchestra and the Indianapolis Symphony.

The little troupe consisting of seven singers and the piano accompanist is bringing something new to communities all over America and in Canada.

Business Girls Hear Talk on Health and Defense

Members of the Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. had an interesting program on "Health and National Defense" following their weekly supper Wednesday evening. Clarence Dumm, principal of the high school, was the speaker, and Mrs. Gertie Smith, health director, put the group through its paces with an active program of exercises for health, followed by folk drills.

Aside from the obvious reasons for keeping well that might have been stressed a year ago, Mr. Dumm stated that there were several added reasons to make the subject vital. One fact was the shortage of doctors. Secondly he mentioned the economic angle, and the necessity of keeping up the pace of production, for labor shortage often makes it impossible to replace the time lost through illness. Each person should make every effort to keep well, as an example to those whom we may unconsciously influence, and as a patriotic duty, he said.

During the club business meeting, over which the president, Miss Ethel Oesterling presided, the members decided to furnish four kits for service men in cooperation with the Red Cross. Tables at the supper were decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. The program for the next meeting will be Chinese with a talk on Chiang Kai Shek by Mrs. William Kingman and a Chinese menu. The evening will conclude with roller-skating in the gymnasium.

Ohio Politicans Say They Cannot Stir Up Any Interest in Campaign

pensions and asked President Roosevelt to order a federal investigation.

Democrats attacked the state treasury surplus on grounds the extra cash should have been distributed among local governments. Governor Bricker contended the money would be needed to offset declining revenues incident to rationing and priorities.

McSweeney called the state's war efforts under Governor Bricker's direction a "joke." Bricker retaliated by characterizing McSweeney's assertion as "malicious and positively unpatriotic."

Democrats sought the industrial workers' vote with a strong labor plank in their platform and by devoting much effort to arousing interest of labor in their cause. Republicans hoped to hold possible Democratic pluralities in the industrial centers to a minimum and retain the predominantly Republican rural vote.

Governor Bricker won a second term two years ago over former Gov. Martin L. Davey by 364,000 plurality, the largest ever given a gubernatorial candidate in Ohio, while President Roosevelt won the state by a plurality of 147,000. McSweeney then a candidate for U. S. senator lost by 145,000.

A Bricker victory this year, politicians believe, would make him a formidable "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination in 1944.

Republican leaders claim they are sure of retaining all their present 12 congressional seats and gaining at least three and possibly five or six.

Degree Team Is Honor Candidates Of Rondout Lodge

The famous degree team of Cyprus Temple of Albany will confer the Master Mason degree on a class of candidates at the big Masonic gathering under the auspices of Kingston Lodge No. 10, and Rondout Lodge No. 343, F. & A. M., on Wednesday evening, November 4.

Owing to the large number of Master Masons who are expected to attend the ceremonies it will be staged in the municipal auditorium on Broadway. Both of the local lodges have extended invitations to the other lodges in the Greene-Ulster Masonic District, to attend.

Saturday is the final day for Master Masons to make reservations for the buffet luncheon to be served at the Stuyvesant Hotel directly following the ceremonies in the auditorium.

Tickets for the luncheon can be obtained at the Masonic Temple on Albany avenue, or from Thomas Lebert, secretary of Kingston Lodge, or from Edward J. Hillis, secretary of Rondout Lodge.

All Masons planning to attend the luncheon are urged to obtain their tickets at once in order that the committee may make proper arrangements.

The gathering of the fraternity next Wednesday evening will be the outstanding Masonic event held in Kingston in years.

Board to Buy Flags

The Board of Education will purchase service flags for the schools of the city in honor of the men from the public school system who are now serving in the armed forces of their country. These flags will be displayed at the various schools. On the high school flag will be many stars with the M. J. M. flag second. As additional men leave for the service additional stars will be added.

Sergeant Narolewski was employed by the Forst Packing Co., prior to his entering service.

Four Persons Are Burned In Trailer-Truck Crash

Westport, Conn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Two trailer trucks collided late last night on the Boston Post road, and one burst into flames after it tipped over, severely burning the driver and a woman passenger.

Attendants at a Norwalk hospital said Mrs. Marion Tripp, 46, of Bridgeport was in a critical condition with first, second and third degree burns. She had missed a bus from Norwalk to Bridgeport and had been given a ride by Angelo Barrisi, 46, of (600 East 18th street) New York city, who was in a serious condition from second degree burns.

Edward Burns, 35, of Bridgeport and a Post road restaurant employe who pulled the pair from the flaming wreckage was treated for burns on the hands.

Policeman Louis Rosenau reported Burns was the driver of the other truck involved and had been booked on a reckless driving charge.

Reports Theft of Car

James A. Rapp of 121 Clinton avenue reported to the police department at 12:50 o'clock this morning that his Plymouth auto which had been parked in the rear of the Grand Union store had been stolen. Five minutes later Officers Fallon and McDonough in one of the radio cars found the car abandoned on the Boulevard near the Bower's service station. The key was found in the ignition switch. The car was removed by the police and parked in the rear of the city hall until it was turned over to Mr. Rapp.

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

80TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Two married daughters and one married son who want to celebrate their mother's 80th birthday anniversary ask five questions:

1. Would an evening at home be suitable?

2. And if so how should the invitations be worded and should the names of son's wife and the daughters' husbands be included?

3. What should we serve?

4. Would it be necessary for the mother to stand when greeting guests or, would her age and the fact that she is rather frail, permit her to remain seated?

5. Since people will be arriving and leaving at various times, when should the birthday cake be cut?

In answer to these: 1. Yes, very. 2. If a third person invitation is sent out then the three "Mr. and Mrs." names should be put at the top. I think personal notes written by hand on note paper and signed by you all in order of your ages would be most appealing. For example:

Will you and Uncle Jim
come to our celebration of
Mother's eightieth birthday
on Saturday evening
November 24
from 8 to 10 o'clock
Mary,
George

To any of the guests who might be in doubt as to who you are, names would have to be signed in full. 3. Sandwiches and little iced cakes, coffee and fruit punch. 4. Certainly she may be seated. You might choose as high a chair as possible with a stiff, thick cushion on it, so that the effect of being seated is not especially apparent. Put the chair in a pleasant part of the room rather than at the door of entrance. 5. At about 9 o'clock.

Invitations Never Bid for Presents

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is marrying a man in the armed services in another town and we are having the wedding in a church there and giving a reception at a club, but I am sure very few people will be able to be present because of the distance. However, she would like us to send invitations to everyone just the same. Might not the invitation, under such circumstances, seem to be a bid for presents rather than the friendly impulse intended in suggesting this procedure.

Answer: Not really, an invitation merely means "We will welcome you if you can come." No invitation means "You are not expected." No matter how good the reason for choosing announcements instead of invitations these are the impressions made.

Be sure that your stationery and phraseology is correct whenever you write a letter. Send for Mrs. Post's booklet, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing," enclosing ten cents. Address Mrs. Post, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y.

U.S. Women May Sign for War Work

they had completed a survey of available man and woman power.

The Chief Executive told reporters he would not put it that way. They did talk, he said, about the general reservoir of available labor in this country, male and female. It was felt, he added, that with close to 6,000,000 people in the armed forces and so many men already at work in war factories, not many men are left to fill up needs for the coming year for some 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 additional workers.

The problem of ample labor, Mr. Roosevelt indicated, is not acute at the moment. Mighty few places, he said, are shut down now for lack of labor. This situation may not continue to prevail, however, and he said that efforts were being made to look ahead to needs for 1943.

Nurses' Luncheon-Meeting

The Private Duty Nurse Section, District 11, New York State Nurses' Association, will hold a luncheon meeting Friday, November 6, at Judie's Restaurant, 395 Albany avenue. The business meeting will be at 11 a. m. with luncheon at 12:30. All professional registered nurses are invited to attend. Reservations which close Wednesday, November 4, may be made with Mrs. Orley Everett, 200 Lucas avenue, or the District Chairman Mrs. Emma Killeen, South Plank Road, Newburgh. At 2 p. m. the regular quarterly business meeting of the district will be held at the Kingston Hospital.

Union to Nominate

Meeting of members of Local 17, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union, will be held at the Municipal Auditorium, Kingston, Sunday for the purpose of nominating candidates for officers of the Local. The meeting is called for 2 p. m. and election must be held within 30 days, with polls at Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown and Kerhonkson.

Collision Reported

Cars operated by Fred Tubby of 148 East Chestnut street and William Dymond of Bloomington were in collision near the sand bank on Cutler Hill, Eddyville, shortly before 7 o'clock this morning. Deputy Sheriff Leonard Belmore investigated for the sheriff's office and reported no injuries.

Viscount Cecil Is Of Belief League Could Prevent War

the four great powers—America, Britain, Russia and China — who maintain peace. It is better to have a small committee than a big one. It is less cumbersome.

"When you get real peace you some day will have Germany, Italy and Japan back in the League. But they can't be entrusted with arms for a long time to come.

Are Averse to War

"The older Germans are averse to war but the younger are Hitlerites. We must maintain control in Germany until the new generation can be educated. So far as Italy is concerned, there seems to be a general rejection of Fascism.

"We should get the League functioning with peace. There are a lot of things we can't do without it. For instance, we must feed the hungry peoples and we say we are going to move back into their own countries all those who have been transported by Hitler.

"The peace conference could lay down principles—as regards boundaries for instance—and then the League would take over. You can't get just decisions out of the atmosphere of a Versailles conference. The League would provide the right atmosphere.

"It could give good opinions about such great problems as those involved in the boundaries of Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

"Plebiscites are no good to settle such issues. Plebiscites always are faked: It is better to leave these questions to an impartial body like the League.

"And we must have the four great powers working in the closest cooperation."

When Cecil referred to the Versailles atmosphere he of course had in mind the animosities and in some cases the fierce hatreds which were in evidence. I was there and saw the treaty signed, and never shall I forget the bitterness registered in the livid faces of the German delegates as they left the palace after the ordeal. You didn't need anything more to tell you there would be another war.

"All the people of good will should consider these things now," said Cecil. "There is a general movement toward an international institution of some sort. In the new League we can't permit the guilty to arm. They must be controlled. We can't allow another war.

"However, we can't exclude them economically from the League. We mustn't break up Germany. That wouldn't last for an hour.

"The war guilty must be tried, but they must have guarantees of fair treatment. They should be tried before special tribunals. For Hitler and other leaders there must be an international tribunal. They must in some way be removed from society."

There was a pause, and then from low down in the old armchair came hopefully:

"Perhaps the Germans themselves will shoot Hitler and the French will guillotine Laval."

ties and Milton O'Brien of Cedar Grove. No date for the hearing has been set by Judge Schirmer because of the large number of cases pending now before him as a result of former difficulties at the plant.

Justice Schirmer said today that he was taking up the cases in chronological order and since jury trials are being sought, difficulty is being experienced in getting juries to try the numerous cases. The complainants in the cases Wednesday were Edward Camfort and Horton Pearson. Joseph M. Campbell appeared for the defendants and Louis G. Bruhn for the complainants.

The first of two cases growing out of the labor difficulties at the Kellburn plant are to be heard before Justice Schirmer on November 6 when jury trials are to be had. One trial is set down for 7:30 o'clock when the case of Rose M. Scarcelli against Sadie Lorezel is to be heard. That is a disorderly conduct charge and arose out of an incident some time ago. At 8:30 that same evening the second case will be heard when Sadie Lorezel, complainant, will be heard on a complaint against Rose M. Scarcelli. This is a charge of assault, third degree.

Judge Schirmer said that three additional cases have been set down for a hearing on November 13. Difficulty in securing jurors for jury trials he said had caused delay in bringing the several cases into court but he said they would all be heard as rapidly as possible and in the order in which the complaints were made. Because of the numerous cases now pending and the difficulty in knowing just when a jury can be on hand no definite adjournment date was taken in the three cases which came up during the trouble on Wednesday.

Thomas Walker Appointed

Thomas Walker, a first class petty officer of the Coast Guard, has been appointed keeper of the lighthouse at the mouth of the Saugerties creek. He went there from Tarrytown Light. Harold Fischer, recently keeper of the Saugerties lighthouse has been transferred to the Tarrytown lighthouse, replacing Mr. Walker there. Mr. Walker and his wife are now located at the Saugerties light.

Dewey Tells East Siders Democrats Are Unconscious Regarding Present Needs

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Carrying his drive for the governorship into Manhattan's teeming lower East Side, Thomas E. Dewey declared last night the state Democratic party was "blissfully unconscious" of present needs and that New York could be assured a liberal administration only by electing the Republican ticket.

Democratic Candidate John J. Bennett, Jr., told a Bronx rally the Republicans were seeking votes on the claim that the New Deal had wanted war and had "hurried" the nation into it.

Dean Alfange, American Labor party candidate, in a radio talk proposed establishment of milk distribution as a public utility.

Dewey, repeating his contention that the Democrats represented "reaction" and the Republicans were the "party of progress," asserted in two speeches that the Democratic state organization backed laws in reply to "public clamor," but "proceeded to forget" them once passed.

He said the Democrats had failed to enforce efficiently the unemployment insurance and old-law tenement measures, for example.

Asserting that the main thing standing out as the campaign neared the end was that the Democrats had not indicated that they were "looking ahead" in planning for the state administration, Dewey continued:

"The people have no time or place for men whose eyes are upon the past * * *. We are not running on the records of by-gone officials and what they did in the dear, dead days beyond recall.

"The Democratic candidates have had all these weeks to come to life. Now, on the Thursday before election, what is the total of their views for the future? They offer experience and not even their own experience * * *. They offer the experience of men who went before them.

"They have not given one single indication that they are looking ahead, except, prayerfully, to prospective jobs. Oh, yes, I almost forgot, and that little matter of the control of the Democratic National Convention in 1944.

"Of the new problems that already face us, the Democratic party has been blissfully unconscious. x x x. What ideas have the Democrats proposed for these vital years ahead? The silence is deafening!"

Addressing a statewide radio audience from the Bronx rally, Bennett displayed a copy of an advertisement he said appeared last Thursday in "The Cornwall Local," and declared:

"This ad names Dewey and all his associates and urges the readers to 'vote the Republican ticket, row A all the way' because of 'the war which the New Deal wanted and hurried us into.' The ad then reaches an all-time low in political debauchery by terming the Selective Service Act, introduced by Republican James Wadsworth, as a 'crackpot draft system'."

Bennett continued:

"When your boy goes before the draft board, they do not ask his religion. With American boys on ships, planes and tanks fighting against odds at Guadalcanal that Mr. Dewey and all of us may live in this glorious democracy, it seems almost treason to me that Mr. Dewey has not repudiated those fifth column slurs which have been circulating more than a week."

Bennett renewed his charge that Dewey supporters were appealing to bigotry and racial and religious prejudices to get votes, and declared:

"Gleaming bayonets across the shoulders of your boys marching into battle points upward to the God of all of us. Many a bigot's life has been saved by the sacrifice of one whose church the bigot hated.

"Mr. Dewey has been advised to coast. His strategy is the strategy of silence. But silence, while calumnies and subversive statements are undermining our war effort, is not shooting straight with our fighting forces."

Alfange said the distribution of milk "should be taken out of the hands of the monopolies that control it and covered with the safeguards of public utility."

"x x x only under some such public supervision will the hard-working dairy farmers of this state receive a fair price for their milk while the consumers enjoy a reduction in price," he asserted. "I promise you that as governor I will place milk high on the first order of business."

Capitol Hill Is Occupied With Force Consolidation Of Army, Navy and Marines

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—Against a background of momentous reports from the Solomons, Capitol Hill attention focused today on propositions to revamp the fighting services, Washington wartime agencies and, moreover, congressional procedure—all aimed at greater military striking power.

Overshadowing all other proposals was that to combine the Army, Navy and Marine Corps into a single, coordinated fighting force, wearing one type of uniform and directed by one command.

Other propositions engaging the attention of senators and representatives included:

1. Creation of a congressional "high command" committee to coordinate and expedite wartime legislation.

2. Sweeping reorganization of federal agencies through establishment of an over-all Office of War Mobilization guided by an "economic general staff."

The three far-reaching propositions generally were aimed at erasing what some of their sponsors termed "jealousy" in the fighting forces, "red tape" in government and "duplication of effort" and slow action in Congress.

Rep. Maas (R.-Minn.), ranking minority member of the House naval committee and himself a Marine colonel, proposed the amalgamation of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps into one fighting force, and said he would offer legislation to put it into effect unless the administration beat him to it.

His proposal gathered support quickly, and in the Senate Senator Lee (D.-Okla.) declared the United States should have a "unified supreme command" with "one minister of warfare."

Declaring that the greatest weapon of warfare now is airpower, Lee said the supreme command "should be invested in an air general."

"While I do not believe all the reports I hear," he told the Senate, "yet when these reports continue as they are today concerning the jealousy which is going on between different branches of our armed forces; for example, in the battle of the Solomon Islands and Wake Island as to who is entitled to the glory, then I say it is time for responsible officials of the government to give consideration to the question of a united command."

Some Capitol Hill observers speculated privately that the transfer of the Army-Navy football game to Annapolis, and restrictions on attendance, indicated an effort to remove the spirit of rivalry between the land and sea forces in wartime, and that this year's Army-Navy tilt may be the last for the duration.

The proposition for revamping of federal governmental agencies, aimed at complete wartime mobilization of the nation's resources in both materials and manpower, was presented in a bill offered by Rep. Tolan (D.-Calif.), chairman of a special committee which recently reported that "despite numerous reallignments, 10 months after Pearl Harbor business-as-usual consideration still permeate the Washington wartime agencies."

Isbell and Hutson Combination Off To Records Again

Former Has Thrown Nine T.D. Passes; Hutson Has Scored Total of 58 Points

Chicago, Oct. 30 (Special)—It may be the war, or again it may be that the boys are just beginning to get the hang of this football business. But whatever the reason, Green Bay's celebrated forward passing combination of Cecil Isbell and Don Hutson is well on the way to breaking even more records than it did last year when it set ten National league standards.

Isbell, with nine touchdown passes in five games, can, if he maintains his present pace through the next six contests, raise his mark of 15 touchdown passes a season to 19. He also can increase his recent record of 1,479 yards to 1,782 yards for the season. Despite this amazing pace, Isbell today trails Sammy Baugh of Washington, in the standings, having lost first place to the Redskin veteran over the week-end. Baugh has played in six games; Isbell in five.

Hutson at the present is well in advance of the pace with which he set records in 1941 for most points in a season (95), most touchdowns (12), most touchdowns on passes (10), most passes received (58) and most yards gained on passes (846). In five games he has caught 33 passes for seven touchdowns and 612 yards, scored 58 points, and already set a new mark of 209 yards for most gains in one game. In addition, he adds to five all-time records every time he catches a pass or scores.

His leads in scoring and pass receiving went unchallenged over the week-end, as leaders for the most part held their places. Bill Dudley, the Pittsburgh phenom, and Baugh wrought the major changes. Dudley moved ahead of Merlyn Condit of Brooklyn, in ground gaining, piling up a net of 65 yards against Washington.

Y.M.C.A. Preps Fireside Meeting

Hi-Y to Attend Orange Assembly November 1

Starting Saturday morning the Preps, which are the youngest of the members at the "Y," will gather around the fireside in the Boys' Division for the first in the series of stories to be told by Secretary Burt Tandy. Mr. Tandy has specialized in stories for young boys.

The Preps have a varied program every Saturday morning of gymnasium work, swimming and game room features. Their activities will be a big feature of the Saturday morning program and all boys aged 9-10-11 are urged to get started this fall with this group.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club of Kingston made plans at its last meeting to attend the Orange County Hi-Y Assembly being conducted November 11 by former Boys' Work Secretary, Neland H. Fuller.

They are preparing a bill to present to that assembly and are making plans to carry it to the State Hi-Y Congress which is to be held in Albany the first week in December.

The Hi-Y meets every Monday in the Boys' Club room and welcomes new members.

State Director Here

Archie Stearns, state physical director of New York, spent the greater part of the day at the local "Y," going over some of the programs and personnel features with members of the board of secretaries.

William H. Bruger, state boys' work secretary, spent the entire evening going over the boys' work program and consulted with members of the Hi-Y Club on the coming state congress, to be held in Albany.

Buckeyes, Cadets, Irish Selected for Saturday; Syracuse Seen as Loser

by HERB BARKER

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Taking the weekly whack at the football program and expecting nothing but the worst:

Ohio State-Wisconsin: National and sectional title hopes at stake here. Fekete and Sarringhaus vs. Harder and Hirsch. This should be tough, gruelling action all the way. The nod goes to Ohio State.

Alabama-Georgia: Ditto for this one which may settle the southeastern title, subject to later argument from Georgia Tech and L. S. U. The better line seems to belong to Alabama; the better offense to Georgia. Stringing along with the offense, Georgia.

Army Over Penn

Penn-Army: Top battle of the east in which Army's unbeaten record will be subjected to its sternest test. On the theory the cadets have been playing well within themselves. Army.

Princeton-Harvard: Jumping on the tiger band-wagon probably at the exact moment that Harvard will decide it's time to win one. Princeton, hesitantly.

Stanford-U.C.L.A.: U.C.L.A.

Baylor-Texas Christian: Baylor's defense is tough to crack but the nod belongs to unbeaten T.C.U.

Navy-Notre Dame: Nothing in Navy's record to show the sailors can cope with Angelo Bertelli et al. Notre Dame.

Georgia Tech-Duke: A timid vote for Tech.

Georgetown-Boston College: May be close but Boston College must rate the edge.

Gophers Picked Again

Northwestern-Minnesota: The Gophers seem to be back in winning stride and should be exceedingly tough from here on in. Northwestern scores consistently, thanks to Otto Graham, but not enough. Minnesota.

Illinois-Michigan: Michigan.

Iowa Naval-Indiana: Bierman's naval cadets have been well rested since the Notre Dame debacle and should be able to handle Billy Hillenbrand and Bob Cowan. Iowa Naval.

Great Lakes-Missouri: No telling what Great Lakes is going to do next with Bob Steuber, is the more consistent and rates the nod.

Southern Methodist-Texas: The Mustangs showed signs of revival last week but hardly enough to stop the Longhorns. Texas.

Brown-Yale: Yale.

Cornell-Columbia: Both well beaten but doubt Cornell can match Governali on offense. Columbia.

Colgate-Holy Cross: Holy Cross.

Michigan State-Temple: Not much luck for the Owls this season. Michigan State.

North Carolina Naval-Syracuse: This may be where Syracuse's perfect record gets smeared. N. C. Naval.

Rams Are Favored

St. Mary's-Fordham: Very difficult to figure. Out of that hat, Fordham.

William & Mary-Dartmouth: The southerners are really good and deserve the nod here.

Auburn-Mississippi State: Well, anybody can guess. State.

Louisiana State-Tennessee: Tennessee.

Vanderbilt-Tulane: Remembering Tulane's every-other-week schedule. Vanderbilt.

Florida-Maryland: Looks like Florida.

Arkansas-Texas Aggies: Maybe A. and M. can find the scoring combination. Texas A. and M.

Nebraska-Kansas: Should be safe for Nebraska.

Oklahoma-Iowa State: Ditto Oklahoma.

Clemson-Wake Forest: Probably close. Wake Forest.

North Carolina-North Carolina State: North Carolina.

Oregon State-Washington: Doubtfully, Oregon State.

Purdue-Iowa: Taking Tommy Farmer and Iowa.

Skipping over the chalklines otherwise: Duquesne over St. Vincent; Kentucky over George Washington; South Carolina over Citadel; Georgia Naval over Jacksonville Naval; Tulsa over Drake; Pitt over Carnegie; Virginia Military over Davidson; Miami over Furman; Idaho over Montana; Kansas State over Wichita (watch out for that one); Lafayette over Bucknell; Mississippi over Memphis; Virginia Tech over Virginia; Richmond over Washington & Lee; Villanova over Manhattan; Detroit over Marquette; Santa Clara over San Francisco; Utah over Colorado State; Colorado over Wyoming; Brigham Young over Utah State; Rutgers over Springfield.

Waldorf-Astoria Will Be Scene of Benefit on November 6; Many Celebrities

One of the most brilliant fall functions will be the fifth annual Army-Notre Dame Rally, a benefit for the Army Emergency Relief Fund and Notre Dame Scholarship Fund, which will be held November 6 in the Grand Ballroom at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York city.

The Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president, University of Notre Dame, and Lt. Gen. Hugh A. Drum are co-chairmen of the honorary committee which lists among its members Manuel L. Quezon, president, Philippine Commonwealth; Postmaster General Frank C. Walker; Major General Irving J. Phillipson; James A. Farley; Major Edward Bowes; Lt. Gen. R. L. Bullard; Major Gen. Sanderford Jarman; Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., vice president, Pan-American Airways System; Major General T. A. Terry; John S. Burke, president, B. Altman & Co.; Gratton Stanford, vice president, Consolidated Oil Co. and Walter Dorwin Teague, industrial designer, among others.

Walter O'Keefe will be master of ceremonies and will present Quentin Reynolds; Hildegarde; Morton Downey; Benay Venuta; Constance Moore and Ray Bolger—to name a few of the many celebrities who will appear that evening.

Tickets, which are selling at a brisk pace, are on sale at the Army-Notre Dame Rally headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria. All seats are reserved.

N.Y.M.A. Gridders Engage Peekskill Saturday at 2 P. M.

Two old rivals meet again after a parting of ten years. New York Military Academy in Cornwall, frequently known as the "Little West Point" because of its closeness to West Point, plays Peekskill Military Academy, from Peekskill, N. Y. at Cornwall Saturday. The cadets from Cornwall have won all their games so far.

N. Y. M. A. 18, R. P. I. (Freshman) 12.

N. Y. M. A. 12, Blair Academy 0.

N. Y. M. A. 15, St Agnes 0.

N. Y. M. A.-Peekskill, October 31

N. Y. M. A.-Cheshire Academy, November 7.

N. Y. M. A.-West Point (Plebes) November 11.

This series of games started in 1895 when N. Y. M. A. won the Hudson River Valley Championship by defeating Peekskill M. A. by 12-8.

The meeting between the heads of the two schools, Colonel Frank A. Pattillo of N. Y. M. A. and David Elliott of Peekskill, was a part of the general public interest in military affairs, especially as applied to education. This will be the last game of football that many of these boys will play. It is planned to cement the relationship in basketball, swimming, lacrosse and baseball, and a rifle match, shoulder to shoulder.

N. Y. M. A. is coached by William Yeager, Albright College, and Peekskill by J. Rothrock of University of Delaware.

State Hunters Set For Deer Season; Starts on Nov. 15

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP).—Sportsmen are expected to take approximately 2,000,000 pounds of deer meat during the season which opens in northern New York Sunday and in several Hudson river and Catskill counties, November 15.

Conservation Department authorities say as much as 15,000,000 pounds could be harvested without serious damage to the state's deer head of 300,000.

Approximately 175,000 hunters are expected to take to the woods to help relieve present meat shortages. Deer meat cannot be sold in New York, but its use would release other meat for non-hunting consumers.

The northern season, embracing 12 counties and parts of two others, will run through November 30. In Catskill and several Hudson river counties the season will be from November 15 through 30. Seasons have been designated in a few other sections for shorter periods.

Occupation Meets Count Fleet Colt In Pimlico Event

Winner May Be Winter Favorite for Next Kentucky Derby Run in 1943

Baltimore, Oct. 30 (AP).—The season's top-ranking two-year old colts, Occupation and Count Fleet are scheduled to clash tomorrow in the Rich Pimlico futurity, a race which probably will determine the winter book favorite for next year's Kentucky Derby.

Count Fleet, however, gained strong support when he ran the fastest mile ever chalked up by a two-year old in winning Belmont's champagne stake.

Occupation twice defeated Mrs. John D. Hertz's son of Reigh Count—in the Washington and Belmont Park futurities—but the bull dog colt was not raced at any distance longer than six and a half furlongs, whereas Count Fleet has won races at a mile and a mile and 70 yards.

The Pimlico futurity, at a mile and one sixteenth, carries $15,000 in added money. With the nominating fees it now has a value of $36,400, with starting fees of $500 for each horse to be added.

If Occupation wins, he will pass Top Flight's money record even if only two go to the post.

With the exception of Occupation and Count Fleet, the line-up is uncertain, although six or eight colts are expected to face the barrier. Other starters probably will come from a group including W. L. Brann's Vincentive, Calumet Farm's Ocean Wave, Falaise Stables' Good Morning, King Ranch's Two Timely and Walter M. Jefford's Halbred.

Both principal contenders have been extremely impressive in this week's workouts, with Occupation appearing a likely post-time favorite after he completed his intensive drills yesterday by going a mile in 1:40 1/5 with ease.

Occupation last Saturday won the breeder's futurity at Keeneland, while Count Fleet's most recent effort was his victory in an allowance race at Jamaica on October 20.

Ferraro Registers High 720 Series in Majors; Hits 243, 231 and 246

Trailway Anchor Sparks Team to 3077 Triple at Central Recs Thursday Night

The Central Recreation alley rafters were still shaking this morning after last night's continued heavy barrage by the ace city bowlers of the Central Major League. Johnny Ferraro, anchor and the entire Trailway squad caused the most damage with some of the finest scores ever turned in at the mid-city alleys.

Ferraro, who has been the main cog for the Bull Dogs in the Sunday night Mixed Canine Bowling League, strutted his stuff for the Trailways last night and came off the alleys with a sensational 720 series. Johnny rolled games of 243, 231 and 246 which must be admitted was a pretty fair night of bowling. Ferraro sparked the blasting Trailways to a new seasonal team record of 3077. The Trailways also posted a 1038 team single.

Johnny's power-laden triple of 720 might have soared a few pins higher had he been able to shift his breaks. The co-proprietor of the Central alleys had a split in the opening game and a miss in the second. Johnny saw a possible 740 triple when he came up for the final frame in the last game. However, he left two pins up.

Jankowski Rolls 633

Following close in Ferraro's footsteps was Fred Jankowski, last year's ace high school bowler who has quickly stepped out in front with some of the top-night 10-pin stars of the city. Jankowski slammed out a brilliant triple of 633 with marks of 206, 224 and 233. Fred was tops with his pocket bowling.

Another Trailway kegler who helped the team to its crushing record was "Poke" Myers who contributed a 594 series. Myers rolled game 196, 194 and 204. Steve Fassbender's 205 was high for a 559 triple. His other scores were 175 and 180. Tony Van Gonsic hit 560 on 178, 188 and 175, the only kegler on the Trailway roster who didn't clip a 200 game.

In totaling the sensational 3077 team triple, the Trailways poured out single games of 1078, 1011 and 1038. They were easy winners over the Grunenwalds. Frank McDonough's 631 was tops for the losers. He registered a sizzling 238 single. Orv Van Alstyne clipped in with 584 and a 223 single while Charlie Grunenwald's 581 took third high triple on the team. Grunenwald's high single was 226.

In the other league matches last night Johnny "Red" Sangi sparked his U. P. A. keglers to two triumphs over Doblers as he poured out a 602 triple on marks of 187, 201 and 214. Lou Guadgnola had a 547, Tom Costello 546 and "Coke" Costello 520. Guadgnola had a 201 single game. George Robinson's 222 single was high in the match. He had a 591 series. Quick and Breitfeller posted 533 series. Quick's 203 was second high for the team.

Scholar Clips 237

Joe Scholar helped himself to glory as he crushed a terrific 237 single and 627 series. His other scores were 199 and 191. Scholar's great kegling helped Mickeys to win two from Joneses. Dwight McEntee had a 580, Earl Mellow 562, Herb Whitaker 560 on 208, 213 and 139 and Herb Van Deusen 527. Alward's 596 was high for the team. Hod Spaulding rolled 592, Al Kieffer 553, Smith 527 and Ken Williams 502. Spaulding had a 208 and 204 single.

The final match found Hymes taking two from Steins and Lew Hymes poked out a high single and a 411 double. Joe Hoffman's 588 series was high in the match. His top single was 201. Naigles had 549 for Steins while Larry Petersen, Jr., registered 537.

"Y" International League

Tommy Tomshaw of the Freeman No. 2 bowling team highlighted that team's surge Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. alleys when he whipped out a high 192 single and high 492 series. Tommy's other scores were 163 and 137. The Freeman squad won two from Elstons who were paced in a losing cause by Walt Elston. He had a 449 triple.

In another International League match Treadwells won two from Sears as Bill Bush cracked out a hefty 203 single game and a 556 series. Bush also polished the maples for a 167 and 186. Perlman had a 473 series.

Matthews copped two from the Terrors with F. Short pouring out a 188 single and 489 triple. Howard of the losers had a 451 three-game cluster.

Silver Palace League

At Emerick's Recreation alleys Wednesday night Harold Broskie and Ad Jones, two veteran bowlers, established some pretty fair scores as they sparked the Joneses to three straight wins over Vining and Smith. Broskie emerged from the match with a high single score of 239 while Jones blasted away for a 577 series. His marks were 166, 186 and 225. Broskie's other marks were 201 and 135 for a 575 series. Scott Vining's 563 was tops for the losers. Harry Smith had 510 and a 212.

The Shultis bowlers captured two from Vogels with Ray DuBois hanging on for high marks. Ray featured with a 219 single and 550 series. He also hit 160 and 171. Art Melchoir of the winners had a 212 single. Charlie Grunenwald featured the losers with a 533 triple.

The Centrals took two from Teetsels despite Al Goldman's high-powered bowling for the losers. Goldie slapped out a 215 single and 569 triple but it wasn't enough to turn the tide. Schick had a 530 triple for the winners and Webber a 505. Kuhenen and Teetsel blasted out 525 and 502. Schick had 211 and Kuhenen a 201.

Nocando League Results

Lacey Burger's 219 single and 561 triple took the spotlight in the Locando League at Emericks Wednesday night. Burger's good bowling helped Fredericks to win two from Scholls. O. Schaller had a 501 series for the two-game winners. Percy Slover's 468 was high for the Scholl team.

Homer Emerick got the feel of his own alleys in this competition when he paced his club to three straight wins over the Wildcats. Homer, bowling anchor, rolled a 191 single and 554 series. R. Kubicek's 458 was high for the losers.

The final match found the Eichlers winning all three from Standards. Shultis rolled a 510 triple while Boswell's 211 single took honors in that department. He also rolled a 505 series. Jack Martin's 494 topped Standards.

Wiltwyck League Opens

The first matches of the 1942-43 Wiltwyck Bowling League got under way at the Central Recreation alleys last night. In the opening matches Ken Van Etten of the Replacers crashed out a sizzling high single of 241 which netted him a final total of 538.

Frank Hornbeck of the Go-Getters established a new high triple with his gaudy 551. Frank also registered a 225 single in helping the club to salvage one game from the Rescuers.

Van Etten's 241 and 538 sparked the Replacers to two wins over the Electrol No. 2 team. One game ended in a tie and the Electrol club won the roll-off. Mitzie Arlensky had a 475 triple for the winners while Joe Abdallah's 512 ranked next to Van Ettens. He rolled a 201 single. Mark Weil's 435 was high for the losers.

Hornbeck's 225 and 551 were high in the Go-Getters-Rescuers match as the latter team won two. "Bun" Rourke with a 202 single and 522 triple helped the winners to two decisions.

The Bucks won three from the Roller Rink squad as Bob Townsend dished out a nifty 538 series on scores of 179, 190 and 169. Muller had 509 and Woods an even 500. S. Miller had 444 for the losers.

The Electrol No. 1 squad won all three from the Helpers. Phil Carrado, Jr., of the losers punched out a 191 single and 533 series in a losing cause. George Castor had 529 for the winners.

Grid Records May Fall Saturday in Nationwide Games

Chicago, Oct. 30 (AP).—Here are some of this season's individual football records the nation's major gridders will be out to beat this week-end:

Longest forward pass gain—89 yards, Frankie Sinkwich to Lamar Davis (Georgia) vs. Cincinnati.

Longest rushing gain—86 yards, Bob Ewing (Drake) vs. Iowa State.

Longest intercepted pass return—100 yards, Jack Wink (Wisconsin) vs. Great Lakes.

Longest punt return—92 yards, Gerald Hightower (Georgia Naval pre flight) vs. Duke; Jimmy Dewar (Indiana) vs. Butler.

Longest kickoff return—100 yards, Lyle Sturdy (Wichita) vs. Washington University, St. Louis.

Maroons to Meet Middies Saturday In League Battle

Middletown Team Picked to Win by Three or Four Scores; Port Plays Newburgh

Kingston High School's football team makes its first out-of-town DUSO League trip tomorrow morning when it travels to Middletown to tangle with Johnny Bateman's strong Middies at Wilson Field. Game time is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

Although experts have tabbed the Middies as easy winners it's one of those games where a lot could happen to change the whole complexion of the ball game. However, Middletown, with a stronger line and a more experienced team despite the loss of Tony Gobeo, should trim the Maroons by three touchdowns.

Coach Ted Conwicke waxed satisfaction last week despite Kingston 35 to 0 rout at the hands of Poughkeepsie. Conwicke's happy moments were enjoyed in the first half and even though the Bridge City team went on to a crushing triumph, he believed that his team was finally showing some strength.

At this writing Middletown is eagerly looking forward to another league victory and another DUSO League championship. Kingston could damage these hopes with a victory tomorrow afternoon. The best of Maroon fans fail to see a Kingston victory but forecast that the Middies will be in for a much tougher afternoon than some people expect.

With the return of Leland Boice to the roster again, Conwicke will use him in the line in hopes of bolstering that department. When the season began Boice was a backfield starter. However, his 180 pounds will now be used in the forward wall. Last week's backfield of Potter, Dugan, Harrell and Maxson is expected to start again Saturday.

While Kingston and Middletown are battling at Wilson Field, Port Jervis and Newburgh will meet in another league tussle.

fuel oil prices for the past several years and said that there had been an increase of 127 per cent in cost of fuel oil over the past three-year period. In 1939-40 fuel oil cost 4¼ cents a gallon. For 1940-41 the price was six cents. During 1941-42 season the price was 5.95 to 6.35 cents per gallon and the price now is 8.8 cents.

A missing marker on the lawn of the high school placed there for James J. Strugnell and which apparently has become buried, has been replaced. Byrne Brothers have donated a similar marker to the board and the secretary was authorized to send a letter of thanks to the monument firm for the marker.

The Kingston schools will shortly have another rationing problem to face. It was stated that a communication had been received from the Federal Security Bureau that schools would be called upon to serve as fuel oil ration places.

Teacher Resigns

Miss Nellie Abernethy, teacher at school No. 8, submitted her resignation because of ill health. Her place will be taken by the present substitute who has been taking her classes. The board passed a resolution of regret at the loss of Miss Abernethy's services.

The clerk was authorized to write Miss Abernethy thanking her for her many years of loyal and faithful services as a teacher.

Trustee Rowland for the Teachers Committee moved that Blanche H. Heil, graduate of the Crane Department of Music of the Potsdam State Normal School be appointed a teacher of music in the public school system at a salary of $1,600. She has had 10 years experience teaching music at Brant Lake, N. Y.

Payment of bills amounting to $18,488.37 was authorized and the payroll for October amounting to $42,322.47 was audited. National Defense bills amounting to $1,408.53 and $1,956.59 were also audited.

Authorization for erection of an incinerator at school No. 2 was made. This is for burning of waste papers and refuse from lunches etc., which create havoc with furnace grates. A price of $175 was submitted for building a brick incinerator but the committee on buildings was authorized to inquire in the cost of ready-made appliances which could be installed in the boiler room. The committee was given power to proceed.

It was reported that the new water line at school No. 3 was installed. The cost was $192.

Trustee Feeney for the Building Committee also reported that tile had been erected at the back of the wash basins in the boys lavatory in the M.J.M. school where formerly there had been paint. The paint could not be kept in proper condition. The cost was $65.

Mr. Feeney also reported that Joseph Bradley of the high school janitor staff had saved the city about $100 by filling the soda and acid fire extinguishers instead of having a man employed for the work. Purchase of two additional soda and acid extinguishers for No. 5 school was ordered.

Plans and specifications will be prepared for the pointing up and caulking of the window frames and water table at school No. 8. This work it was reported was needed before the winter snows and rains set in. The Building Committee will solicit bids.

When the M.J.M. school was built the hood over the gas range in the kitchen was attached to a pipe which led the fumes off under an unused portion of the building instead of out in the open air. Odors and foul gases have created a nuisance and the method of carrying the fumes off were discovered. The committee will report back on the cost of leading these fumes outside.

Trustee Rowland for the Athletic Committee reported the cross country squad doing well. Three out of four meets have been won by the local boys. He also reported the football team was doing good and predicted a strong team for next year.

Purchase of additional instruments for the K. H. S. band at a cost of $413.50 was voted. They will be re-built instruments since no new instruments can be purchased. There will be a double bass horn, a baritone horn and a double bell alto horn.

The monthly attendance report was received. The average attendance in the elementary school was 95 per cent. In the M.J.M. ninth grade and high school 93 per cent. The average for the parochial schools was 97 per cent. The report showed that there are now 86 attending the kindergarten classes.

Because of the Thanksgiving season the Board adjourned to meet on November 24 at 8 o'clock.

PROCLAMATION

The People of the State of New York, by the Grace of God free and independent:

To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster, GREETINGS:

Whereas, a Trial Term of Supreme Court and Jail Delivery is to be held in and for the County of Ulster, at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, on Monday the 9th day of Nov., 1942. We Command you, in pursuance of the provisions of Section 222-a of the Code of Criminal Procedure, in that case made and provided: First.—That you summon the several persons who shall have been drawn in said County of Ulster, pursuant to law, to serve as Grand Jurors and Trial Jurors at the said Court to appear thereat. Second.—That you bring before the said Court all prisoners then being in the Jail of said county, together with all process and proceedings in any way concerning them in your hands as such Sheriff. Third.—That you make Proclamation, in the manner prescribed by Section 222-c of the Code of Criminal Procedure, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said Court by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners, and other officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at such Court, or who shall have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognizances, inquisitions and examinations to the said Court at the opening thereof, on the first day of its sitting.

Witness, Hon. Francis Bergan, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, at the Court House in the City of Kingston, this 26th day of October, 1942.

N. LEVAN HAVER
District Attorney

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make proclamation that a term of Supreme Court of Ulster County and Jail Delivery will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, on the second Monday of Nov. next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said court, by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners or other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said court, or who may have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination, to the said court, at the opening thereof, and on the first day of the sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances, to do those things which to their offices pertain.

Dated, City of Kingston, October 26, 1942.

TO JACK BARCIA:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of the Hon. Harry E. Schirick, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated October 6, 1942, and filed with the complaint in the Ulster County Clerk's office, at the City of Kingston, Ulster County, State of New York.

The object of this action is to foreclose a mortgage upon the premises described below, executed to the Land Bank Commissioner, etc. by Gaspare Barcia and Rachel Barcia, his wife, dated August 15, 1939, for $1,200.00, with interest from August 15th, 1939, which mortgage was recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office, State of New York, on August 15, 1939, in Liber 441 of Mortgages, at page 166.

The property in question is described as follows:

"ALL THAT CERTAIN LOT, PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate, lying and being in the Town of Plattekill, County of Ulster and State of New York:

BEGINNING at the southwest corner of the wall being the corner of lands formerly of Daniel Gerow and the southwest corner of the 1000 acre tract so called, and running thence 89 degrees 38 minutes east 56 chains along the lands formerly of Daniel Gerow and lands formerly of James Birdsall to the center of the highway leading to Newburgh, thence north 3 degrees 40 minutes east 3 chains 80 links, thence north 1 degree 45 minutes east 99 links, thence north 29 degrees 30 minutes east 2 chains 74 links (the last 3 course being along the center of said highway) thence north 75 degrees west 5 chains 70 links, thence north 23 degrees 10 minutes west 3 chains 16 links, thence south 71 degrees 15 minutes west 3 chains 79 links to a hickory, thence south 81 degrees 15 minutes west 1 chain 71 links, thence south 89 degrees 25 minutes west 3 chains 88 links, thence north 2 degrees 36 minutes west 19 chains 45 links to a point in the east line of said 1000 acre tract a little northerly of a swamp white oak tree and 7 feet 9 inches southerly of a double elm tree being the southeast corner of lands contracted to be sold to Hiram Minard, thence north 85 degrees west 28 chains 10 links along said Minards line to a point on the south side of the stone wall, thence south 89 degrees west 17 chains 50 links along last said line to a stake one link westerly of a white ash tree being the southwest corner of said Minard farm and thence south 7 degrees 25 minutes east 32 chains 34 links on the west line of said 1000 acre tract to the place of beginning containing 164 acres 26 perches of land as surveyed by William Carpenter March 10, 1856 and be the same more or less.

Excepting therefrom 13 acres and 8 perches more or less as described and conveyed by deed from Griggs Waring and wife to Barnack Birdsall dated April 1, 1857 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's office March 31, 1858 Book 102 of deeds at page 605.

Said premises are subject to a mortgage to The Federal Land Bank of Springfield dated and recorded December 27, 1938 in Book 437 page 582 of the Ulster County Clerk's Office."

British Advance On Egypt Front

the once powerful French fleet.

On the Egyptian battlefront, Italian headquarters reported that Axis forces yesterday repulsed a fresh British attempt to land seaborne troops behind the lines and beat off repeated attacks by strong Allied armored units.

The Fascist war bulletin said the British twice attempted to set troops ashore in the vicinity of Matruh, 100 miles west of the actual fighting front, only to be driven off with heavy losses.

The Italian command admitted that British imperials attacking on the Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria, succeeded in making "initial penetrations," but asserted that they were promptly halted.

Dispatches from Cairo said Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery's British 8th Army was slowly forging ahead through hidden Axis minefields, attacking by night and consolidating their new-won positions in daylight.

"During the night of October 28-29, our infantry extended gains in ground formerly held by the enemy," British G. H. Q. announced.

"There were minor engagements yesterday with enemy armored troops on whom casualties were inflicted.

"Fighting continues."

Reports from the front indicated that the British were getting into position to strike at Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's main force, but said it might be several days before a show-down test of armored strength develops.

Ground Troops Inactive

An Associated Press correspondent in Cairo said that while U. S. Army fliers are playing a major role in shielding the British desert fighters and attacking the enemy, American ground troops have not yet gone into action in the Middle East.

On the Soviet front, Red Army headquarters announced that Russian tanks had won a critical battle of armored forces in Stalingrad's northside factory district and reported that Marshal Seimeon Timoshenko's relief offensive had smashed into German defenses in the Volga-Don corridor.

It was the 67th day in the siege of Stalingrad.

Led by tanks, the vanguard of a German infantry division drove up 50 to 100 yards to the edge of a factory in the northern industrial suburbs, but fell back as Soviet tanks rumbled out to meet the assault. The Russians said 1,500 Nazis were killed and 16 tanks destroyed in the battle.

"All attacks were repulsed and Soviet troops are firmly holding their positions," the Russian command said, summarizing the struggle inside the wrecked Volga metropolis.

"Northwest of Stalingrad, a Soviet unit broke through the enemy defenses. Engaging the enemy with hand grenades and in hand-to-hand fighting, they killed 130 of the enemy and captured an ammunition dump."

There was still no indication how near the city Marshal Timoshenko's relief forces had advanced in their drive against the 40-mile German "barricade" which guards the main Nazi siege armies on the north. Red Army troops have been hacking into the Nazi flank for several weeks.

In the Caucasus, the Russians conceded a new setback on the Nalchik plateau—the second in 24 hours—as the Germans threw large numbers of tanks into an assault apparently aimed at reaching the Georgian military highway to Tiflis.

"In one sector, the enemy succeeded in pressing our units back," Soviet headquarters said, but Red Star declared the Germans had also been forced to retreat in a nearby sector of the battle in the foothills of the blizzard-swept Caucasus mountains.

On the black sea coast, in the western Caucasus, Red Army troops were credited with dislodging the Germans from a fortified position and killing 1,200 Axis invaders northeast of Tuapse.

The German high command admitted that the Russians were counter-attacking in the mountains north and south of Tuapse, but declared they had been repulsed.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Elks will be held at the club rooms, Fair street, Monday evening, November 2, at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. The hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. William Lunny, Mrs. Charles Ryan, and Mrs. Arthur Morrill.

Halloween Parade Plans Completed

Two Parades Will Precede Party at Auditorium

Complete plans for the two big Halloween parades to be staged here Saturday night in conjunction with the community-wide Halloween celebration at the municipal auditorium, were released today by the Department of Recreation. This department is working with the local post of the American Legion in arranging for the community celebration, in which both adults and children have been invited to participate.

Children in all local schools have been notified by their principals to meet in the school yards at designated times on Saturday evening, and members of the local American Legion will be on hand to take charge of the group from the time they meet at the school yard until they reach the municipal auditorium.

Nelson W. Snyder, who is chairman in charge of arrangements of the celebration for the American Legion, announced the assignment of men to the various schools and asked that other Legionnaires who are willing to assist report to the school in their district at 7 p. m. Saturday evening.

Students of the Kingston High School and Myron J. Michael School are requested to join the groups at the school which they previously attended. The complete parade plans follow.

Parade Orders

Uptown section: Led by High School Band under the direction of Kenneth Appleton, 7:30 p. m.

The High School Band will meet at the Academy Green across from the Governor Clinton Hotel. They will be joined there at 7:30 by children from No. 7 and St. Joseph's Schools. The parade will begin at this point promptly at 7:30, marching down Broadway. At Franklin street, Schools No. 8 and No. 1 will join the line of march. School No. 6 will join the main line of parade at O'Neil street and Broadway. The entire group will march to the municipal auditorium under the direction of Commander William Mellert of the American Legion. Post, who will be division marshal.

Downtown section: Led by American Legion Junior Drum Corps under the direction of Frank Sass, 7:30 p. m.

The American Legion Junior Drum Corps will meet at McEntee street and Broadway and will be joined there by children from schools No. 2, No. 3, St. Mary's and St. Peter's. The parade will begin at exactly 7:30 and proceed up Broadway. At Delaware avenue, School No. 4 and Immaculate Conception will join the parade, and at Foxhall avenue School No. 5 will join them. The entire group will proceed up to the municipal auditorium under the direction of Herman DuBois, Chef de Gare of the Forty and Eight, who will be division marshal.

School No. 1, Fred J. Zoller in charge. Meet at the school by 7:05, march up Wilbur avenue and join group at School No. 8.

School No. 2, E. Geschwender and S. Pyer in charge. Meet at the school, leave school at exactly 7:15 and march down West Pierpont street to McEntee, over McEntee to Broadway, and join parade there.

School No. 3, Abe Singer and A. J. Murphy in charge. Meet at school, leave the school at exactly 7:25 and march up Newkirk avenue to Broadway. Join parade.

School No. 4, E. M. Heppner and Walt Tamany in charge. Meet at the school, leave school yard at exactly 7:15. March up Delaware avenue to Immaculate Conception School, and from there continue up Delaware avenue to Broadway to join parade.

School No. 5, Ed Hillis and Clarence Hyde in charge. Meet at the school, leave the school at exactly 7:35 and march down to Foxhall avenue, over Foxhall avenue to Broadway and join in the parade.

School No. 6, Rob Jacob and J. Sills in charge. Meet at the school, leave the school at exactly 7:30. March over O'Neil street to Broadway and join parade there.

School No. 7, Myer Kaplan and W. Mellert in charge. Form at the school, leave school at exactly 7:20. March down Green street to Main street, over Main to Wall street to St. Joseph's School. Join this group and march with them to the Governor Clinton Hotel by way of Pearl street.

School No. 8, Gus Paulson and T. J. Murray in charge. Form at the school. Group from No. 1 will meet there at 7:30. Both groups will march over Franklin street to Broadway, leaving the school at exactly 7:30.

St. Peter's School, Charles Sass in charge. Meet at McEntee street and Broadway, Parade will leave that point at exactly 7:30.

St. Mary's School, William Jordan and M. Spina in charge. Meet at the school. The parade will start from that point at exactly 7:30.

Immaculate Conception School, George Smith in charge. Form at the school. No. 4 School will join you at exactly 7:20. March up Delaware avenue to Broadway and join parade there.

St. Joseph's School, Stanley Dempsey and Michael Bruno in charge. Meet at school. March over Pearl street to Governor Clinton Hotel leaving the school at exactly 7:25.

Raymond Ickes Resigns

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—The resignation of Raymond Ickes, 29-year-old son of Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, as assistant U. S. attorney general in New York to accept a confidential assignment with the alien enemy control unit of the Department of Justice, was announced today.

Williams Alters Plea in Court

New Paltz Man Charged With Drunken Driving

Fred Williams of New Paltz, charged with driving a car while intoxicated as a second offender, pleaded guilty to that charge last week and the case was held open until today for an investigation of the matter before sentence. Today when Williams appeared in County court before Judge J. Edward Conway for sentence the plea of guilty was withdrawn and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang told the court that Williams had previously been convicted of a felony, burglary, and therefore came before the court with a former conviction. The probation officer's report disclosed the former conviction.

Michael Nardone appeared for Williams and said that when Williams pleaded guilty to the intoxicated driving charge he had no knowledge of the former conviction and he asked the court to permit a not guilty plea now. That plea was accepted and bail was reinstated.

An indictment against Percy Short charging abandonment was dismissed on application of Mr. Stang who told the court that Short had been making payments for the support of his family. Bail was exonerated.

Americans Destroy Tanks, Hit Ship

lations aflame and destroyed four seaplanes boosting the Japanese plane toll to 413 since the campaign started.

Allied aircraft under General Douglas MacArthur's Australian command continued to blast at enemy shipping in the Solomons. Flying fortresses straddle-bombed five unidentified vessels at the Japanese naval base at Buin at the southern tip of Bougainville Island causing a heavy explosion on one ship.

Simultaneously, Australian troops were reported by MacArthur to be hurling the Japanese back in New Guinea. A bayonet charge yesterday (Australian time) resulted in capture of 20 prisoners and helped keep the allied advance unchecked.

An example of Japanese treachery in the south Pacific warfare also was made public by the navy yesterday in releasing a dispatch written by Sergt. Richard T. Wright, a marine corps combat correspondent.

Honoring a flag of truce borne by a Japanese officer, 28 of 30 marines were massacred when they sought to take custody of "a bunch of Japs" who, the officer said, were isolated on a nearby island and wanted to surrender.

As the 30 marines drew near the island they were met without warning by "a terrific burst from several machine guns hidden in the underbrush," Wright wrote.

"They were mowed down like so many stalks of corn," he added, "except for the two who escaped and swam to safety."

New York, Oct. 30 (AP)—Specialties, led by air transports, worked up a little recovery temperature in today's stock market while many leaders suffered from mild selling chills.

Lack of definite news from the battle of the Solomons again proved a handicap for bullish forces. Bids for individual issues apparently were based on profits and dividend prospects rather than immediate developments. As usual, accounts were lightened here and there for week-end protection.

Dealings slackened after a moderately active start and, near the fourth hour, prices were a trifle spotty.

Parade Plans Ready For Departing Inductees

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today that arrangements had been completed for the parade that will escort the 93 men who entrain for Camp Upton on Saturday at noon, and that the same lineup that formed Tuesday's parade would be followed Saturday.

All organizations who wish to take part in the parade may do so and those taking part will form on Broadway in front of the Kingston draft office in the Central Post Office building at 11:20 o'clock, prepared to march.

The parade will be headed as usual by the Sons of the Legion Drum Corps with platoons of police and firemen, members of the American Legion and boys now serving in the war who are home on furlough.

Each of the inductees who leave tomorrow for training camp will be presented with a parting gift in the form of cigarettes, candy and chewing gum.

Hurley Board to Meet

The town board of the town of Hurley meets tonight in the town hall at Hurley for the purpose of adopting a tentative budget for the coming year. Supervisor Arthur J. Wood was unable this morning to give the itemized figures which probably will be decided upon tonight, but said that indications were that the budget would be approximately the same as that for last year.

Big Boys to Suffer

Washington, Oct. 30 (AP)—A hand-picked crew of Treasury experts today dug into the job of drafting detailed salary stabilization regulations, the broad outline of which now indicates that the only unorganized white collar workers definitely doomed to go raiseless for the duration are those earning more than $25,000 a year net income. Except for deductions of federal income taxes, customary charitable contributions, life insurance premiums and fixed obligations, the annual take of the boys in the upper brackets was firmly pegged at the $25,000 figure.

Hutto Is Promoted

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 30 (AP)—Governor Lehman today promoted Jackson S. Hutto, deputy superintendent of banks, to the superintendency as successor to William R. White, resigned. White, appointed by Lehman to the $12,000-a-year position in 1936, resigned this week to become a vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company, New York city. Hutto, a resident of Scarsdale, has been eight years in the banking department which he also served as counsel. His appointment as superintendent is effective until the end of Governor Lehman's term December 31.

Ohio Politicans Say They Cannot Stir Up Any Interest in Campaign

pensions and asked President Roosevelt to order a federal investigation.

Democrats attacked the state treasury surplus on grounds the extra cash should have been distributed among local governments. Governor Bricker contended the money would be needed to offset declining revenues incident to rationing and priorities.

McSweeney called the state's war efforts under Governor Bricker's direction a "joke." Bricker retaliated by characterizing McSweeney's assertion as "malicious and positively unpatriotic."

Democrats sought the industrial workers' vote with a strong labor plank in their platform and by devoting much effort to arousing interest of labor in their cause. Republicans hoped to hold possible Democratic pluralities in the industrial centers to a minimum and retain the predominantly Republican rural vote.

Governor Bricker won a second term two years ago over former Gov. Martin L. Davey by 364,000 plurality, the largest ever given a gubernatorial candidate in Ohio, while President Roosevelt won the state by a plurality of 147,000. McSweeney then a candidate for U. S. senator lost by 145,000.

A Bricker victory this year, politicians believe, would make him a formidable "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination in 1944.

Republican leaders claim they are sure of retaining all their present 12 congressional seats and gaining at least three and possibly five or six.

Degree Team Is Honor Candidates Of Rondout Lodge

The famous degree team of Cyprus Temple of Albany will confer the Master Mason degree on a class of candidates at the big Masonic gathering under the auspices of Kingston Lodge No. 10, and Rondout Lodge No. 343, F. & A. M., on Wednesday evening, November 4.

Owing to the large number of Master Masons who are expected to attend the ceremonies it will be staged in the municipal auditorium on Broadway. Both of the local lodges have extended invitations to the other lodges in the Greene-Ulster Masonic District, to attend.

Saturday is the final day for Master Masons to make reservations for the buffet luncheon to be served at the Stuyvesant Hotel directly following the ceremonies in the auditorium.

Tickets for the luncheon can be obtained at the Masonic Temple on Albany avenue, or from Thomas Lebert, secretary of Kingston Lodge, or from Edward J. Hillis, secretary of Rondout Lodge.

All Masons planning to attend the luncheon are urged to obtain their tickets at once in order that the committee may make proper arrangements.

The gathering of the fraternity next Wednesday evening will be the outstanding Masonic event held in Kingston in years.

Board to Buy Flags

The Board of Education will purchase service flags for the schools of the city in honor of the men from the public school system who are now serving in the armed forces of their country. These flags will be displayed at the various schools. On the high school flag will be many stars with the M. J. M. flag second. As additional men leave for the service additional stars will be added.

Four Persons Are Burned In Trailer-Truck Crash

Westport, Conn., Oct. 30 (AP)—Two trailer trucks collided late last night on the Boston Post road, and one burst into flames after it tipped over, severely burning the driver and a woman passenger.

Attendants at a Norwalk hospital said Mrs. Marion Tripp, 46, of Bridgeport was in a critical condition with first, second and third degree burns. She had missed a bus from Norwalk to Bridgeport and had been given a ride by Angelo Barrisi, 46, of (600 East 18th street) New York city, who was in a serious condition from second degree burns.

Edward Burns, 35, of Bridgeport and a Post road restaurant employe who pulled the pair from the flaming wreckage was treated for burns on the hands.

Policeman Louis Rosenau reported Burns was the driver of the other truck involved and had been booked on a reckless driving charge.

Reports Theft of Car

James A. Rapp of 121 Clinton avenue reported to the police department at 12:50 o'clock this morning that his Plymouth auto which had been parked in the rear of the Grand Union store had been stolen. Five minutes later Officers Fallon and McDonough in one of the radio cars found the car abandoned on the Boulevard near the Bower's service station. The key was found in the ignition switch. The car was removed by the police and parked in the rear of the city hall until it was turned over to Mr. Rapp.

War Time ... Peace Time ... All the Time ...
Diamonds say—"I LOVE YOU"
NO bombs or tanks or planes ever built or ever to be built will stop love. For love goes on regardless of conditions and diamonds, the fitting symbol of our finest emotion, are everlasting just as is love. So ... as long as love remains "as usual" our diamond business shall continue "as usual." Come in and choose today with complete confidence.
